THE KING COMING COMING TO AMERICA

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—The Sun this morning says: Interest in the crown prince of Siam was somewhat overshadowed yesterday by the news that his father, the king of Siam, is soon to visit this country as the guest of the nation. A renewal of the rumor to that effect, printed several months ago, was current aboard the United States dispatch boat Dolphin, on which the crown prince and his suite went to West Point.

PRINCETON MAN LEADS

Percy Pyne Made New Amateur Record for the Links.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 23.—In the Intercollegiate Golf Association tournament at the Morris County Golf club today, the events decided were the qualifying round at eighteen holes medal play, and the first round at match play between the sixteen who gained their right to keep on by returning the lowest scores. The best showing in the qualifying round was made by Percy Pyne, second, intercollegiate champion of 1899, who made the net amateur record for the links of 77. Three tied for last place in the first sixteen, at 88—H. Forster, W. C. Chick and S. P. Nash. The latter, who is the president of the Intercollegiate Golf Association, won the play off on the second hole.

In the match play the champion of 1901, Charles Hitchcock, Jr., of Yale, was beaten by J. W. Baker of Princeton by one up.

GUARDS TURN BACK MINERS WHO TRY TO REPORT FOR WORK IN PANTHER CREEK VALLEY

RESUMPTION LESS GENERAL THAN MITCHELL EXPECTED

Majority of Coal Cutters Get Places Back, but Engineers, Sub-Bosses and Carpenters Are Told There Are No Vacancies.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Tamaqua, Pa., Oct. 23.—When the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company's miners reported for duty in the Panther Creek valley this morning they were met by the officials and told their services were not needed at present. At one of the collieries the men were stopped by the guards, who refused to allow them to report at the colliery office.

At noon the company posted the following notice:

"Any person working for this company guilty of ill-treatment or molesting any man who has worked during the late strike, or of abusing any member of his family, will be immediately discharged."

All the individual operations in this section resumed full handed this morning.

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 23.—The resumption of mining throughout the anthracite region was not as general today as was expected.

Difficulties Encountered.

Unlooked for difficulties were encountered in the shape of water and accumulated gas, and dangerous roofs, which threatened to fall and entomb the workers, were also discovered in many of the collieries.

The mine superintendents would take no chances, and the mining of coal was put off until all parts of the underground workings can be made safe. This will take a few days and in some cases it will take weeks before some of the mines can be put in full operation. In a few of the collieries the machinery and everything connected with the hoisting of coal acted badly, and it was found necessary to close down after steam had been raised and the miners were ready to go to work. From reports received from the entire anthracite region the number of mines in operation is given as a little less than two-thirds of the total number, but the output of coal was less than half the normal.

Mines Now Working.

The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Company took the lead in production. Its collieries are in better shape than the mines operated by the other large companies. An increase of at least 20 per cent in the output may be looked for tomorrow. About one-half of the mines of the Delaware & Hudson Company were working, and the output of those was light. The mines of the Susquehanna Coal Company at Nanticoke were in operation, but only the upper levels could be worked, as the lower levels contain considerable water. In three days, however, it is expected that the output of coal will reach the full quota. The Lehigh Valley Coal Company operated about one-half of its mines with a full force of men.

The Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Company mined coal in several big mines, but some of its collieries will not be in condition to resume before Monday. The Kingston Coal Company started up two of its four collieries. The other two will resume on Monday. The Parrish company will not resume until Monday.

Some Men Dissatisfied.

As was to be expected there is some dissatisfaction among the old employes. Where it was decided not to resume work for a few days yet the men took it that the companies did not want their services, and many complaints reached President Mitchell's headquarters. But as the day wore on the true situation became known and there was a better feeling all around.

President Mitchell expects that when all the mines get in operation there will be less complaint. Until all the collieries do resume there will be idle men airing their discontent.

It looks as though the union engineers were going to have some difficulty getting back their old places. At nearly every mine where the striking engineers made application for work today they were told that there were no vacancies. A large number of carpenters are also out in the cold. A delegation of carpenters waited on President Mitchell and told him their grievances. The chief of the miner's union advised his callers to wait a few days and see if employment would not be offered them.

Firemen Taken Back.

The firemen are being taken back in larger numbers than any of the other steam men. That is because they are experienced and they take the places of men not so capable.

The only friction reported between union and non-union men was in the Wyoming region, where the miners objected to be lowered into the mines by non-union engineers.

Great preparations are now under way for the celebration of Mitchell Day in this city on October 29. National Board Member John Fallon has charge of all the arrangements. He will be chief marshal of the parade, which promises to be the largest demonstration of miners ever held in the coal regions.

HAZLETON, PA., Oct. 23.—Only two of the 28 collieries in the Hazleton district resumed operations today. Those operating are the Hazle mines, breaker of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, and the Upper Lehigh mine of the Upper Lehigh Coal Company.

Markle Is Having Trouble.

The collieries of G. B. Markle & Co. at Jeddo, Highland, Oakdale and Ebervale are in shape for resumption, but only a small number of men made application for their places and gave their verbal assent to abide by the decision of the arbitration commission, as required by a notice posted yesterday. John Markle announced that as soon as a sufficient number of men complied with the notice work will be resumed.

None of the seven collieries of Coxe Bros. & Co. resumed, because the foremen asked the men to sign an agreement not to interfere with non-union men under penalty of discharge. The men had been instructed by the union leaders not to sign agreements, and all returned home.

Everything was in readiness for resumption at the Cranberry and Crystal Ridge collieries of A. Pardee & Co., but as the men reported for work they were asked to sign an agreement similar to that prepared by Coxe Bros. & Co. This they refused to do and the entire union force returned home.

Stand Out for Comrades.

At Silver Brook the mine workers refused to return to work because, it is alleged, the company will not take back 27 of the former employes, among them two sub-bosses.

Troops were stationed at or near most of the collieries this morning, but no trouble of any kind occurred.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 23.—Eighty per cent of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western company's miners returned and were given work.

About 40 carpenters could not be furnished work, but were told that other places would be found for them.

Operations were resumed at all of the Delaware & Hudson company's collieries in the upper Lackawanna region, except two which were not ready.

About two-thirds of the Ontario & Western collieries resumed operations. The others were not ready.

TRASHY NOVELS CAUSE SUICIDE

SLAVE OF CIGARETTE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 23.—Lloyd Hammell, the 13-year-old son of Charles P. Hammell, a wealthy oyster planter, committed suicide last night at Absecon by hanging. After vainly searching for hours for his boy Mr. Hammell was horrified to find the lad's corpse dangling from the limb of an oak tree in the Methodist graveyard, adjoining his home. The lad's feet just touched a newly-made grave.

Through a mistaken idea the body was not cut down until the father had telephoned for permission from the county physician here this morning.

Young Hammell was a member of a club of youngsters who assembled after nightfall in the cornfields and other out of the way places, where they read blood-and-thunder novels by the light of bonfires.

Several days ago one of these trashy novels was found in the desk of Lloyd's sister by their teacher and she was punished. Today a number of the novels were also found in Lloyd's desk at school, and it is presumed that, fearing a whipping, and being influenced by the literature he had been reading, he determined to hang himself rather than be punished. It has been discovered also that he was addicted to smoking cigarettes.

At school Monday young Hammell had told his teacher that he was to die on Wednesday. The remark was not recalled until today.

It was rumored that a tramp had murdered the boy, and that he had been accidentally hanged by a playmate, but these theories have been disproved, and there is but little doubt he took his own life. County Physician Souder does not deem an inquest necessary.

The lad's young companions have resolved to quit reading trashy novels and smoking cigarettes forever.

ARBITRATION TROUBLE

Admission of Mitchell as a Witness May Cause a Deadlock in the Proceedings.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—A special from Washington to the World says: The admission of John Mitchell as a witness before the arbitration commission will be bitterly opposed by those representing the operators' interests.

The point will be raised that the admission of Mitchell will in reality be a recognition of the miners' organization.

It has not been determined whether Mitchell will be invited to appear. He has prepared a complete statement of the miners' grievances, which will be filed with the commission.

The supposition is equally strong that if Mitchell is called as a witness some of the coal operators may decline to come before the commission because of their dislike for the president of the United Mine Workers.

A special from Wilkesbarre to the World says: Mr. Mitchell's attention was called to the statement from Washington that objection would be made to his appearing before the arbitration commission. He said:

"I am preparing to represent the mine workers before the commission and to present their claims. I should not prepare to do so unless I had very good reasons to believe that my presence was desired."

Carnegie Clerk Embezzler Guilty.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—In Old Bailey court today Lawrence Greig, clerk of the Carnegie Steel Company, was found guilty of defrauding the company out of $125,000 by forgery, and was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Names of the President's Daughter and Former Pittsburgher Linked by Rumor

[Copyright, 1902, by Clinedinst, Washington, D. C.]

The report from Little Rock, Ark., that former Lieut. John C. Greenway, of the famous Rough Rider regiment, was to be married to Miss Alice Roosevelt, was not altogether surprising to Mr. Greenway's friends in Pittsburgh. Many of them had heard such rumors and accepted the Little Rock report as confirmation. Others, however, doubted its truthfulness.

John C. Greenway is one of the most popular young men that ever entered the arena of Pittsburgh's business interests, and his friends yesterday said that even if he should wed the daughter of the president he would prove worthy of the honor. His life has been "strenuous," but it was not until he entered Yale that its force and character began to attract attention. He is a perfect athlete, being over six feet in height, broad shouldered and deep chested, every portion of his body indicating strength and activity. In Yale he played for three years as end rush on the football eleven, while his services to the baseball nine, as catcher, were equally as valuable during a similar period.

When he left Yale, in 1895, he came to Pittsburgh and obtained a position with the Carnegie Steel Company. His energy and perseverance soon attracted attention and he was advanced from time to time until he became assistant superintendent of one of the mills. He voluntarily retired from that work and enlisted in the Rough Rider regiment for the Spanish war. In January, 1899, he accepted a position with J. L. D. Speer & Co., bankers and brokers, as a bond buyer and seller. His duties sent him to the floor of the Pittsburgh stock exchange and he became the exchange representative of the firm.

As a broker Mr. Greenway was a great favorite as well as a successful trader. He was in many of the exciting movements on 'change and his coolness in such times made his patrons many a dollar. Socially, he was a leader. In those days the exchange had three "calls" a day, and during the intermissions, when there was practically little or no business transacted, there was a good deal of "prankling" among the "boys." Greenway was always modest and unassuming, and consequently some of the brokers began to make sport of him. They did not know he had been end rush on the Yale eleven, and catcher for the Yale nine, for three years. Consequently when he picked up bodily a fellow broker who weighed in the neighborhood of 200 pounds and made a rush through the crowd, holding his victim before him as if he were a lance, a panic reigned. Thenceforth, when there was any skylarking, the "boys" carefully gave Greenway plenty of room.

In December, 1900, he severed his connection with J. L. D. Speer & Co. and went west for his health, which had begun to suffer from the indoor confinement. Since then his visits to Pittsburgh have been few. He is now superintendent of the Minnesota ore mines of the United States Steel Corporation.

One of the most interesting incidents in John C. Greenway's history is connected with his enlistment in the Rough Riders' regiment, of which President Roosevelt was colonel. When the organization was under way Greenway left his father's home in Hot Springs and went to the field when Gen. Wood (the colonel) was looking over the applicants for positions. Col. Wood was sitting on his horse when Greenway walked up and saluted.

"What do you want?" said the colonel.

"To enlist," said Greenway.

"Don't you know that there are 11 men applying for every single place in this regiment?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, it's no use, we don't want you."

Greenway turned away and walked a few paces. Col. Wood looked at his towering form and called to him to "stop and come back here."

Greenway went back.

"What is your name?" said Wood.

"Greenway."

"Have I ever seen your name in print?"

"Possibly."

"Did you go to college?"

"Yes."

"Where?"

"At Yale."

"Did you take part in the sports there?"

"I did."

"To what extent?"

"I played end rush on the eleven for three years and caught for the nine for the same length of time."

"That will do," said Wood; "we will take you. But mind, you don't get any commission."

"All right, then. Go with that man."

That settled it. In three days Greenway was made sergeant and then golden opinions before the battle of San Juan, he was in the saddle for 24 hours without having it except to change horses. He became a Lieutenant before the war was over, and a great favorite with President Roosevelt.

In Pittsburgh Greenway was a star member of the D. C. & A. C. eleven when it was at its best. He is a son of Dr. Greenway of Hot Springs and a brother of James Greenway, who married Miss Harriet Lauder, a daughter of George Lauder of this city. He has been a frequent visitor at the Roosevelt house and was a guest for a short time last summer at Oyster Bay.

A telegram received yesterday from Washington read: "It is authoritatively stated that there is absolutely no foundation for the report from Little Rock, Ark., regarding the engagement of Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, to John Greenway of Hot Springs, Ark."

HUNTSMEN MEET DEATH WHILE OUT IN WOODS

One Killed by Friend, Two Others by Accidental Discharge of Shotguns.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 23.—George Haws, a farmer residing near Wills postoffice, was shot and killed by John Foster, a fellow huntsman, yesterday afternoon. The two men were on the track of wild turkeys, and when Haws raised himself above the bushes several hundred yards away, Foster mistook him for a turkey, and fired a bullet through his partner's brain.

Albert Wills, aged 15, of Shankville, was almost instantly killed yesterday by the accidental discharge of a shot gun. The boy was on a fence, and left his gun standing alongside. With his foot he discharged the gun, the heavy load entering his left side.

Roy Strickler, a Broadford boy, 17 years old, was fatally shot yesterday afternoon while attempting to extract a load from an old shot gun. The entire charge entered the boy's face.

TITUSVILLE, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Roy Olmstead, 18-year-old son of W. A. Olmstead, a Warren county justice of the peace, died today from the result of a gunning accident which occurred Monday. While passing through some brush two miles from home, the gun was discharged, tearing a great hole in the young man's hip. He pulled himself along, reaching home some three hours later, more dead than alive.

HENRY PHIPPS' GIFT TO POOR CONSUMPTIVES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Poor consumptives will shortly be provided with free treatment at clinics to be established in this city through the benevolence of Henry Phipps, who recently gave $100,000 to the homeless Boers. Mr. Phipps has already sent his checks for various amounts to Dr. Lawrence Flick of the Society of Free Hospitals for Poor Consumptives, and has pledged financial support for the building and maintenance of these clinics.

GEORGIA MILITIA ARRIVED TOO LATE

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—A special to the Times from Tallapoosa, Ga., says: Ben Brown, a negro, charged with an attack on Mrs. Henry, a white woman, at her home, three miles from this place, at 10 o'clock this morning, was taken from the county jail here tonight at 7 o'clock by a mob of 300 men and lynched. Troops had been ordered from Atlanta, but did not arrive until after the negro had been hanged.

Strauss Beats McConnell.

STRIKER KILLED ON RETURN TO WORK

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 23.—Thomas Doran, aged 30, and Henry Rupp, aged 25, two returned strikers, who were working with a gang of rockmen on the night shift at the William A colliery in Lackawanna, tonight were buried beneath a fall of roof and badly crushed. Doran died from his injuries, and Rupp is in a critical condition.

FOURTEENTH FINDS GUARD DUTY AT LAST

Two Companies Are Sent to Gilberton Because of Dynamiters' Activity.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MAHANOY CITY, PA., Oct. 23.—Because of the dynamite outrages at Gilberton Tuesday night Lieut. Col. Corbett, of the Fourteenth regiment, dispatched three companies to patrol that borough late last night. The battalion was commanded by Maj. Harry D. Fowler. They patrolled the streets until daybreak, when they were relieved by others under Maj. Ewing.

A company or two will be kept on duty there on account of the ugly feeling against the non-union men. The dynamiters are still at large. Tonight company B was sent to Gilberton to replace company I, and will make its quarters in houses owned by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company.

At 7 o'clock this evening, in response to a request for protection against imaginary enemies, Lieut. Col. Corbett detailed company I, Capt. Oursler, to guard the home of Frank Draper, a non-unionman who returned from work at Elmwood colliery for the first time today in many weeks.

Although this was the date fixed by the miners' convention to return to work, not a colliery in Mahanoy City or vicinity attempted to resume, although every man in the district showed up.

FIRE BOSSES LOSE THEIR OLD PLACES

SHAMOKIN, PA., Oct. 24.—The anthracite mine inspectors of this district canvassed the operators today, endeavoring to have the fire bosses replaced in their old positions. The inspectors were informed that the bosses, while serving in an official capacity, had quit the mines and that they could not be depended on any more by their employers to act as fire bosses, but can be employed to do other work.

NO CUTTERS OF COAL ARE ON BLACK LIST

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHAMOKIN, PA., Oct. 23.—A majority of collieries resumed operations in this region this morning, with each mine half manned. Nearly all the men were put at repair work and lowering mules. It is expected that by Monday 75 per cent of miners will have been re-employed, together with most of the engineers, firemen and pumpmen. Many fire bosses were refused work today. The companies show the most animosity against them. A considerable number of engineers, firemen and pumpmen were informed last night that there was no work just now. No coal cutters were blacklisted. Toward night several long trains of coal were shipped to market.

Angered over the refusal of Corporal John Bradshaw to allow him to cross the line at provost guard quarters, Market and Spruce streets, last night, Private Joseph Maus invited him into the street to fight. A fierce battle ensued, in which Bradshaw was seriously stabbed. Both soldiers are members of company H, of Washington. When the fight started, Maus drew a knife and plunged the steel into the corporal's neck, missing the jugular vein by the sixteenth of an inch. He slashed several times, inflicting serious wounds on the left cheek, right arm and on the right chest below the breast bone.

Bleeding from his wounds and growing groggy the worker from the slash in his neck Bradshaw wielded his fists so valiantly that Maus was thoroughly done up, after which he was locked up and his victim was taken to the hospital at camp.

Owing to the demonstration of the mob of strikers at Trevoron, last night, against Joseph Long's saloon, because a non-unionist had sought refuge there, a company of the Tenth regiment was sent there and restored order. Long, who it develops shot two strikers in the legs, surrendered and was placed under bail. He claims he shot in self defense.

THE STEEL COMBINE TO REMOVE A PLANT

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—It was reported in Plainfield, N. J., yesterday that the United States Steel Corporation proposes to establish a plant at Westfield. Reginald J. Hollister was in conference with Clark Perrine of Westfield, with a view, it is said, of purchasing 100 acres of land as well as an interest in 500 more. The combine, it is asserted, will remove a plant from the west which employs 2,000 hands.

KAISER AND PRINCE ELECTED MEMBERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—The World this morning says: The New York Yacht club, at a regular meeting last night, elected the German emperor and his brother, Prince Henry, honorary members of the club, of which King Edward VII. has long been an honorary member.

BRUCE HEAD DENIES HE EVER WROTE MRS. DUNCAN A LETTER OF ANY KIND

For First Time Since the Shooting the Victim Was Questioned as to Its Motive.

HE DID NOT ACCOMPANY MRS. DUNCAN TO WHEELING

Has Not Been Absent From His Duty in Camp at Greentree Since He Visited His Mother Last Christmas.

Bruce Head, for the first time since he was shot last Tuesday night by his supposed friend, Dr. Ellis A. Duncan, was last evening able to partially answer some questions concerning the mysterious affair. The answers he made do not shed any light on the strange occurrence. Duncan's motives remain unknown. Head is still at his quarters in the Wabash railroad construction camp, near Greentree, where he was visited last Tuesday night by Dr. Duncan, who went there with the evident intention, apparently, of killing Head because of some wrong, real or fancied. Dr. Duncan is still in the Allegheny county jail. It is likely that today his uncle, W. H. McClure, who came on from Louisville in response to a telegram sent by Dr. Duncan after the shooting, requesting him to come here with all speed, will begin a determined effort to get his nephew out on bail.

Head's condition, while it shows some improvement, is still critical, and until he is in shape to be at least removed to some city hospital, it is not likely that Duncan will be released.

Last evening, for several minutes, J. B. Carter, general manager of Kenefick & Co., the tunnel contractors, and a half-brother of Head's, talked to him of the shooting. Head was, of course, unable to speak, and his replies to questions were made by a nod or shake of the head. The trained nurse secured to take care of Head was sent out of the room during the interview Carter had with his brother-in-law. The only other person present was Dr. R. L. Walker, the physician who is attending Head. The first question Carter asked was, "Bruce, are you married?"

Bruce shook his head and attempted a slight smile, but the muscles of his face showed plainly his pain.

"Did you see Mrs. Duncan when in Pittsburgh?"

Head nodded assent.

"Bruce, did you accompany Mrs. Duncan as far as Wheeling on her trip back to Louisville?"

The victim shook his head several times.

"Have you been away from camp any day recently?"

To this question Bruce also shook his head and indicated that he had not missed a day away from camp since he went to his home in Louisville last Christmas. He indicated that he wished Carter to refer to the books for his time, which was done, and it was found that Head had not been absent from duty one day during the present year.

Never Wrote to Mrs. Duncan.

"Bruce, did you write Mrs. Duncan any letter, addressing it to her home in Louisville?"

Head shook his head in answer to this query and motioned emphatically for a pencil and pad and wrote the word "never."

After answering these questions Head evidently expected more to be asked, but Carter decided it was better not to excite his brother any more and withdrew from the room.

Carter received some satisfaction from Head's answers, but the affair is clouded in deeper mystery than ever. All the friends of Head and Dr. Duncan are now of the opinion that a serious mistake has been made on the part of the Louisville physician, and believe that he was brooding over an imaginary wrong when he made his murderous attack on his friend.

Head's fever was a little higher last night. Dr. Walker said he looked for this. All his food had to be injected and he gets just little nourishment as yet. Dr. Walker said he believed a change for the better or worse would occur in the next 48 hours, but at the present time he was unable to predict the result.

Wound Is a Serious One.

When questioned about Head's wound, Dr. Walker said it was very grave. He knows about the location of the bullet. It is in the right side of the neck, near the jugular vein, and cannot be extracted until the patient improves greatly.

Despite the fact that Head's tongue is so wounded and lacerated that he can not articulate, it is not thought that there is much danger of blood poisoning. His mouth is kept constantly packed with absorbent cotton to stop threatened hemorrhages and his head is swathed in bandages.

It is now believed by intimate friends of Dr. Duncan and Bruce Head that they had an animated conversation before the shooting occurred. It is said that Dr. Duncan told Head why he intended to shoot him, and then drew his gun and fired. Head has never intimated anything of the sort, however.

Head Popular in Camp.

At Greentree camp everything was quiet last night. Only the escaping steam could be heard in the darkness. Bruce Head was one of the favorite employes of Kenefick & Co., and every man who is at work on the job feels a personal sorrow on account of his injury.

The negroes up-toed post the little shanty in which Head lies, and all their music, which is customary in the evening, was stopped out of respect to the stricken bookkeeper. The foreigners employed at the tunnel called at the office after work to inquire as to the condition

By a revised arrangement of the army register, Maj. Gen. S. B. M. Young of Pittsburgh ceases to be the senior officer of that rank, and the next commander-in-chief of the army in the event of anything happening to Lieut. Gen. Miles in the near future, and that distinction is conferred upon Adjt. Gen. Corbin, who only became a major general under the army reorganization bill.

Heretofore the "army list" started with the names of "general officers." This list was headed by Lieut.-Gen. Miles who stood alone in his grade, followed by six major generals, with Gen. Young at the head, and 15 brigadier generals, with Gen. Wade at the head. Then followed the staff departments, the adjutant general's department being first, with Maj.-Gen. Corbin at the head, and the other departments in the order of the date of organization.

This arrangement has been abandoned and an entirely new one made. Instead of the class of "general officers" is a new class entitled "general and staff officers." Lieut.-Gen. Miles remains at the head, as heretofore, but the remainder of the list shows many changes.

For instance, there are eight major generals, with Gen. H. C. Corbin, adjutant general, according to the place of honor next to Gen. Miles and ahead of Gen. Young. Gen. Corbin is the only staff officer in the list. Gen. Lloyd Wheaton holds fifth place in the list, but that undoubtedly is an error, as he retired for age July 15. His name and that of Gen. Corbin increased the list of major generals to eight.

Under the head of brigadier generals, the new directory contains the names of 25 officers, as against 15 in the former directories. The increase represents all the staff officers on the active list and one staff officer who retired over a month ago, viz: Gen. W. H. Forwood, formerly surgeon general. Gen. Greely, chief signal officer, stands at the head of this list, and following him in order are Inspector Gen. Breckenridge, Gen. Wade, Quartermaster Gen. Ludington, Gen. Ainsworth, chief of the record and pension office, Paymaster Gen. Bates, Commissary Gen. Weaver and then seven general officers, headed by Gen. Sumner. Gen. Funston stands No. 14; Chief of Engineers Gillespie, No. 15; Judge Advocate General Davis, No. 16; Chief of Ordnance Crozier, No. 17, and Gen. Forwood (retired), No. 18. Surgeon General O'Reilly is No. 25, at the bottom of the list, and Gen. Sanger is the junior of the general officers in the list.

In the case of each list the order of precedence is established by the date of the commission in the rank given. For instance, Gen. Corbin was given the rank of major general June 6, 1900, under a special act of congress, by virtue of his office as adjutant general of the army, the rank of which previously had been brigadier general. Gen. Young, the next ranking major general, reached that grade in February, 1901.

The new arrangement is the subject of general gossip in military circles, and by many officers it is taken to indicate that Gen. Corbin is logically entitled to promotion to the rank of lieutenant general in command of the army on the retirement of Gen. Miles next year, by virtue of his being next in line of promotion.

ESTIMATE FROM TOUR OF STATE

Senator Stineman Says Pennypacker Will Get At Least 180,000 Margin.

ROCK BOTTOM FIGURES

Majority Outside Philadelphia from 60,000 to 80,000—In That City, from 125,000 to 150,000. How the Soldiers Will Vote.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.

Senator J. B. Stineman of South Fork, Cambria county, visited state headquarters this afternoon. His estimate is based upon personal investigation, he having within the past 10 days covered a large part of the state.

"Judge Pennypacker and his associate candidates on the Republican state ticket will come to Philadelphia November 4 with a majority of not less than 60,000. I think it will be nearer 80,000, but I am giving minimum figures. Here they will be given a majority of at least 125,000, and those who ought to know say it will more closely approximate 150,000. Taking the rock-bottom figures, we will carry the state by 185,000, and a more liberal interpretation of indications gives a margin of more than 200,000.

"Within the past week I have talked with a great many county leaders, and I have been informed as to the confidential reports received by Chairman Quay.

Will Get Democratic Votes.

"The Republican majority is jumping upwards every hour. Many prominent Democrats have informed me that they felt it their duty to vote the Republican ticket this fall; that Republicans, headed by President Roosevelt, had settled the most menacing labor struggle in the history of the republic; that not a move in the interest of peace had been made by the Democratic organization of Pennsylvania, and that they felt like helping those who help themselves."

Senator Stineman was asked for an opinion on the political complexion of the coming legislature.

"It will be absolutely and unalterably Republican," he said. "We will control both senate and house and elect on the first ballot our caucus nominee for United States senate."

"How about Cambria county?"

"Cambria will give the largest Republican majority in its history. Capt. Thomas Davis will be re-elected representative, and so will Edward E. Hohman, our other candidate. Blair, Somerset, Westmoreland and all of the western counties, some of which have wavered politically during the past six years, will be reliably Republican this year, contributing big majorities to the state ticket."

Andrews Too Plucky to Be Ill.

Secretary Andrews of the Republican state committee is still confined to his room by ord rs of his physician. He persists in wording, a fact which interferes with his convalescence. It is possible that he will be able to go to headquarters Monday. He says he will be there tomorrow, but Dr. Penrose talks differently.

Transportation for voters absent from their homes is now being supplied by the state committee, but all requisitions before going for rd, must be approved by the chairman of the county where the voter lives.

Within a few days Gov. Stone will appoint commissioners among the officers of the national guard to take the votes of the soldiers who are in the field on election day. Blank ballots will be furnished members of the guard and they will be compelled to write in the names of the candidates for whom they desire to vote.

There was a great Republican demonstration tonight at Textile hall, Kensington. It was preceded by a parade in which 10,000 men took part. Ex-Mayor Charles F. Warwick, who has not been in harmony with the regular organization for four years, spoke.

Ex-Gov. Pattison, the Democratic candidate, will spend the last week of the campaign addressing voters in the eastern part of the state. The final rallies, on Saturday, November 1, will be held in Wilkesbarre, where the ex-governor, James Nolan, candidate for secretary of internal affairs, and W. U. Hensel will speak; and in Pittsburgh, where the speakers will be Mr. Guthrie and ex-Judge Gordon.

NEWSBOY KILLED BY CAR.

Sacrificed His Life to Sell a Paper to Man Across the Street.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Aided by crowbars and jacks taken from a nearby hardware store, several hundred citizens in Park row this afternoon lifted a heavy Second avenue trolley car from its tracks as if it had been a feather and drew from under the rear trucks the crushed body of Pasquale del Pappe, an 11-year-old newsboy. The motorman was held until the police arrived. The boy died three hours later in the Hudson street hospital.

Little Pasquale was selling papers this afternoon, and spying a man on the post-office side of the street, started to dart across the network of tracks to make a sale. It is supposed in dodging a Third avenue car he slipped under the rear wheels of the other. A woman saw the boy lying there, and her screams made the motorman bring his car standing with a suddenness that jolted every passenger from the seats.

MAY RESULT IN MURDER.

Battle Between Negroes Ended by Blow from Iron Bar.

Kuntz Jones, colored, an ex-policeman, was struck on the head with a bar of iron by Joseph Kohn yesterday afternoon and will probably die. Kohn and Jones met in a saloon at No. 2029 Penn avenue and had a dispute.

Jones was taken to his home in Carbon alley and later to the West Penn hospital. Kohn met Capt. C. F. Ford and told him of the assault. He was locked up in No. 5 police station, to await the result of Jones injuries.

More Appropriation Wanted.

McKeesport select and common council last night considered the site for the new postoffice. Postmaster Harrison told of the result of his visit to Washington, which he made to see D. R. McKee in reference to the Diamond property, in Market street. Mr. McKee, representing the McKee heirs, stated that he would give a clear title to the property for $25,000, or for $30,000 would sell enough ground for the building. Councils decided to send a committee of five to Washington to see if the appropriation for the site could not be increased.

STRIKE ARBITRATORS WILL CONVENE TODAY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
601 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.

President Roosevelt's instructions to the commission of arbitration on the coal strike will be the first business of importance to come up at the preliminary meeting tomorrow. These instructions will cover completely the powers of the board.

The commission will convene at the temporary White House at 10 o'clock and will be called to order by Carroll D. Wright. Every member will be present. A message from the president will be read by Mr. Wright and organization will immediately follow, with the election of Judge George Gray as chairman. The board then will pay its respects to President Roosevelt, who will add verbal suggestions and go over the whole situation informally.

The commission will at once repair to the office of the labor commissioner, Mr. Wright, and begin the plans in detail for taking up the work of investigation in the coal fields and in New York city.

Robert B. Bacon, business partner of J. P. Morgan, who played such an important part in the final settlement of the strike, took luncheon today with the president. Before seeing the president Mr. Bacon called today with the president. Before seeing the president Mr. Bacon called on Secretary Root.

Thomas H. Watkins of Scranton, one of the six arbitrators, arrived today and had a long conference with Mr. Wright. The other members of the board will arrive tomorrow morning.

It has been decided that the commissioners and force of clerks necessary to conduct the work must pay their own expenses until compensation is granted by congress, which meets in December. The board will remain in this city only a few days, and then proceed to Wilkesbarre.

According to present indications, the contention of the miners will first be considered, as their case will first be prepared. Then the coal operators will be heard in New York.

LAWYER BECOMES A RAILROAD PRESIDENT.

N. B. BILLINGSLEY.

N. B. Billingsley, president of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western railway, has been made president of the new combination which includes that road and the Salem railroad, and is called the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western Railroad Company. Under Mr. Billingsley's direction plans are going forward, as told in yesterday's Gazette, for the extension of these roads east and west, north and south, giving to them an importance which was dreamed of when the name Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western was given to the 25 miles of road in Columbiana county, O., and Beaver county, Pa. Mr. Billingsley is a member of the law firm of Billingsley, Taylor & Clark of Lisbon, and was formerly judge of the circuit court in that district. He is well known in legal and financial circles. He was made president of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western last March, when Myron T. Herrick, one of the Gould generals, obtained control of the line.

WEDDED AT MIDNIGHT.

Greenville Father Gets Track of His Eloping Daughter at Muncie.

MUNCIE, IND., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The sequel to a sensational elopement from Greenville, Pa., developed today, when an inquiry from William Harpst of that town about his youthful daughter resulted in the airing of the wedding of the girl to her lover, C. W. Heplinger, also of Greenville, in this city a week ago at midnight. The story was unfolded by the officiating minister.

The pair arrived in Muncie a week ago and, after trying in vain in other cities, succeeded in getting a marriage license. They did not tarry, but went to the home of a minister at midnight and implored him to unite them. Their prayer was granted. They asked that the minister keep their wedding a secret as long as possible, and then away, happy.

The first heard from them was today, when the father of the bride made inquiry regarding the supposed wedding. Miss Grace Harpst was the belle of Greenville, her home, but the attentions of Heplinger were objected to strenuously by her parents.

Back From Last Scenes.

Vice President Urish Bellingham and Secretary William Dodds of the Pittsburgh district organization of miners returned yesterday from Wilkesbarre, where they attended the convention of anthracite miners, which voted the strike off. Mr. Bellingham said that the anthracite miners repose complete confidence in President John Mitchell. He denies the report that miners and others prominent in the strike are being discriminated against when they report for work. M. M. Garland, former president of the Amalgamated Association, and now surveyor of the port of Pittsburgh, also returned yesterday from Wilkesbarre.

Pennsy Buys Farm.

WILLIAMSBURG, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company today closed the deal for the Dr. John Fay 100-acre farm, one-fourth of a mile west of Williamsburg. It is said that the company contemplates the erection of large repair shops, and will use Juniata river water power to run the electric dynamoes.

Tried to Kill the Sultan.

of the injured man, and all seemed anxious for him to recover.

Col. McClure went to Greentree camp yesterday afternoon. Col. McClure does not know Head personally, but went out to see him and ask as to his condition.

When Coy. McClure started for Pittsburgh from Louisville, he was given letters of introduction to H. H. Negley, formerly in the real estate business, of No. 600 Negley avenue, and Dr. W. L. Barclay of No. 1620 Fifth avenue, by Attorney James Sloan of Louisville, Ky. Yesterday morning he went to the residence of Mr. Negley and introduced himself. Mr. Negley went with him to Dr. Barclay's home and both accompanied Col. McClure to the city.

Duncan's Uncle at the Jail.

They first went to the office of George H. Authony, the Wilkinsburg man, at whose house Mrs. Duncan was a visitor for three weeks recently, and after whose return home, about 10 days ago, Duncan seems to have conceived the idea that it was his duty to kill Head, and after a short call there, the men went to the Allegheny county jail.

Mr. McClure was taken to the interior of the jail office, while the others remained in the waiting room. Dr. Duncan was brought to the screen-barred door and the two entered into a conversation. The interview last for five minutes.

At the end of the interview Col. McClure said the conversation was in relation to securing an attorney. When Col. McClure left the jail he went to the office of Attorney George Elphinstone, in the Bakewell building, and employed him to look after the interests of his nephew. Attorney Elphinstone then went to the jail and talked to his client for almost an hour. It is said that Dr. Duncan told the attorney his motive for shooting Head. He also gave him the details of the shooting.

May Get a Louisville Attorney.

Attorney Elphinstone refused to divulge the conversation he had with his client. Col. McClure will also bring counsel from Louisville to assist Attorney Elphinstone, if the latter deems it necessary. At the Hotel Anderson last night, Col. McClure said that he would render Dr. Duncan all the assistance possible in his trouble.

Last night Col. McClure went to the Central police station and talked to Supt. John McAleese about the case. He remained at the police station for about half an hour with that official.

Sheriff Richard Schmidt of Jefferson county, Ky., sent a telegram to Sheriff William McKinley of Allegheny county, asking him to see that Dr. Duncan was properly cared for. Sheriff McKinley went to the county jail and talked to Dr. Duncan. The physician thanked Sheriff McKinley and asked him for a cot to lay down. He said that he was almost exhausted for sleep and was nervous.

Yesterday afternoon he took his exercise in the corridor of the jail and was somewhat refreshed after he went to his cell. He refuses absolutely to talk about the shooting of Head, saying that it would be imprudent for him to do so at this time.

Col. McClure Also Went to Camp.

Dr. Barclay accompanied Col. McClure to the camp where Head is being cared for. Col. McClure questioned Dr. Walker as to Head's wound and as to his condition. He asked him if he had heard authoritatively of any motive for the shooting, and also requested to be admitted to see Head. This request was necessarily refused, but Dr. Walker asked Dr. Barclay to examine his patient. Drs. Barclay and Walker spent a few minutes in Head's room and the Pittsburgh physician said afterward he was satisfied that everything possible was being done for Head.

Dr. Walker is anxious to have his patient removed to a hospital and hopes to be able to have this done the latter part of the present week. He says that two operations may be necessary. One to extract the bullet, and the other upon the tongue. If the victim gets strong enough to have them performed.

It is believed that Dr. Duncan's carefully laid plans did not work out to his entire satisfaction. A friend of Bruce Head's has made a thorough study of the case and gives it as his opinion that it was Dr. Duncan's intention to shoot his victim on sight. When Dr. Duncan went to the camp last Tuesday night he did not go to the office, as all strangers do, but went direct to the commisary department, where Head was usually found. He rapped on the door and, it is alleged, anticipated that Head would answer the knock, and he would then shoot him. Head, however, was busy when the rap sounded and asked Policeman Davis to answer it.

Bruce Head's mother and other relatives may come to Pittsburg on Sunday. Mrs. Head has been in constant touch with her son's bedside ever since he was shot, and telegrams telling of the condition of Bruce have been sent her every few hours since Wednesday morning.

Non-Committal Statement Issued.

After Attorney Elphinstone had had his talk with Dr. Duncan, at the jail yesterday morning, he said that it was likely that a statement would shortly be issued in which it was possible that the motive for the shooting would be shown. Later, however, the interested parties contented themselves with giving out the following:

"Mr. McClure says that after consulting his attorney, he thinks it best for all concerned to make no detailed statement at present. The story that a letter had been intercepted by Dr. Duncan, written by Head to his wife, is incorrect and that he (the doctor) has full confidence in his wife. The doctor is very solicitous about the condition of Mr. Head and hopes for his recovery."

Louisville Awaits News.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Up to a late hour tonight not a word had been obtained which would throw any light upon the motive of Dr. Ellis Duncan in going to Pittsburgh to demand of Bruce Head some sort of explanation or retraction. The statement of Duncan's attorney in which he denied having intercepted a letter and expressed utmost confidence in his wife, was a great relief to that young woman, who is almost broken down under the ordeal. She is permitted to see only her mother and brother. Dr Duncan and Head alone, it is believed, can tell the real cause of the trouble. The relatives of both are intimate friends, and hourly consult with each other in the hope of learning something new.

HELD FOR MURDER BY CORONER'S JURY

William Scudder and Lawson Stubblefield Must Face Grand Jury.

The inquest into two killings was held by Coroner Jesse Mcgeary yesterday morning. The first of these was over the death of Townsend H. Wells, aged 39 years, who lived at McKeesport. Wells met his death while fighting with William Scudder, at the corner of Third avenue and Mulberry alley, McKeesport, late on the night of October 18. Scudder was held by the coroner's jury to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of murder. An effort is being made to have him released on bail.

The first witness at the inquest, Edward Bowman of Mulberry alley, McKeesport, testified that he saw Scudder hit Wells three times and knock him against a brick wall. The witness was not absolutely certain in identifying Scudder, but said that he thought he was the man who had the fight with Wells. Dr. James P. Blackburn of Penn avenue, McKeesport, held the post-mortem examination and testified that Wells had come to his death through a fractured skull.

Policeman James T. Crosburn said that when he reached the scene Scudder had Wells' head in his arms and asked the officer to call an ambulance. Scudder gave himself up to the authorities. The case was given to the jury.

The inquest into the death of Oscar Banks, colored, which occurred at McKees Rocks on October 18, was next held. Banks was stabbed with a pen-knife during a fight. Lawson Stubblefield, his alleged assailant, was committed to jail on the charge of murder until the grand jury passes on the case. Charles Ellis and William Ward, both colored, arrested as witnesses, were released upon a promise to appear when wanted.

While working in his grocery store John Moss of No. 500, Larimer avenue, dropped dead, shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, of heart disease. He was 62 years old and married. Dr. J. C. Sturm was summoned but Moss was dead when he arrived. Coroner Jesse M. McGeary was notified.

Bankruptcy Fraud Charged.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Fraud and conspiracy are charged in a suit to have the National Salt Company declared a bankrupt, begun in the United States district court today by the Detroit Salt Company, Thomas Bros., St. Clair, Mich., and Samuel Underhill of New York. The National Salt Company is in a receiver's hands.

Pearsall—Herbertson Wedding.

Death of George F. Williams.

George F. Williams is dead at the family residence, No. 901 Heath street, East End, after a brief illness. Deceased was in his 42d year. For many years Mr. Williams has been a prominent business man, being the president of the Expanded Metal Fire Proofing Company. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

—Alderman Downey held David Festus and Betty Buchanan for court on a charge of larceny made by Dr. H. W. Kelly. They were employed by Dr. Kelly as servants.

—Henry Chambers, 52 years old, died yesterday at the municipal hospital of smallpox. He and his wife, Tillie, were taken to the hospital on October 6 from the rear of No. 30 Somers street.

—Gebhart Weisbacher, a laborer in the new Philadelphia Company building in Sixth avenue, was struck on the head by a plank dropped from the fifth floor and painfully injured.

—Albert Murray of Sewickley was struck by a freight train at the McClure avenue crossing of the Ft. Wayne road yesterday morning and is in a serious condition at St. John's hospital. His left arm is broken and he is internally injured.

—Lawrence Ragan and wife of Millvale had a hearing before Justice Needing on a charge of cruelty and neglect, preferred by Inspector Kidney of the Humane society. It was shown that the defendant had cruelly abused their five children and live in filth. Ragan was fined $10, which he paid. His wife was sent 20 days to jail.

—The 1-year-old baby of William Hines of Roberts street was struck in the eye with a stone thrown by a small boy while in her mother's arms at the corner of Center avenue and Arbour street yesterday afternoon. The little one was badly cut and may lose the sight of the eye.

FRICK FAVORS HUMP REMOVAL

Declares He Will Not Ask a Cent in Damages from the City.

PROJECT GAINS GROUND

Chairman Lamb of Councils Committee Is Sanguine—All Large Property Owners Support Movement.

The sub-committee appointed by councils to receive estimates on the cost of the removal of the "hump" is making favorable progress and soon will render a report showing that many obstacles that formerly interfered with this improvement have been overcome. Councilman Harry Lamb, chairman of the committee, yesterday morning received much encouragement from H. C. Frick, and declares that the movement for the grading of Grants hill soon will be under way.

"I shall not ask a cent's worth in damages from the city," was the assurance given by Mr. Frick. "I realize that the cutting down of the grade in Fifth avenue and Grant street will do immeasurable benefit to property in that district and cannot see why any one should ask for damages."

"Mr. Frick is the largest property owner in that part of the city," was Mr. Lamb's comment, "and with the cathedral site in his hands we shall find scarcely any one in Fifth avenue west of Grant street opposing the removal of the 'hump.' I understand that Michael Maloney, who owns part of the block at Grant and Diamond streets, and K. Solomon, who has large holdings in Fifth avenue opposite the court, hold the same views as Mr. Frick.

"The big structures in Fifth avenue, including the Frick building, the Carnegie building, the Hotel Henry and the Leader building, have been built with a view to conform with the proposed grade of the street, and little objection is expected on that score.

"A resident of Fifth avenue, near Dinwiddie street, who owns a frontage of 72 feet, said he would donate $10 a foot to the enterprise and doubtless many others would be equally generous. The surveys were made several years ago and the plans are on file in the bureau of highways and sewers, so that it has not been necessary for the committee to make any outlay in its work. A contractor has declared that the 'hump' could be removed in six months by judiciously dividing the task among several contractors."

The sub-committee will have its report ready within a few weeks.

MORE WAGES ASKED.

Employes of the Southern Pacific and 22 Other Western Railroads Are to Make the Demand.

OAKLAND, CAL., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A demand will be made upon the Southern Pacific for increased wages which will affect more than 30,000 employes. Union members admit that a concerted demand will be made upon the Southern Pacific and 22 other railroads west of Chicago.

The chief cause of the request is the increased cost of living. The men declare also that the railroads are doing more business than formerly and making greater profits. Owing to heavier equipment on the railroads the employes are compelled to work harder.

CREDITORS IN PITTSBURGH.

Big Whisky Concern in Rochester, N. Y., in a Receiver's Hands.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The F. Goetzmann & Sons' Co., whisky dealers of this city, went into the hands of a receiver appointed by Judge Hazel of the United States court in Buffalo today. The order appointing Bradley H. Phillips of Buffalo, receiver for the Goetzman concern, was served upon Charles Goetzman, secretary and treasurer of the corporation, by Sheriff Saiverds.

The principal creditor making the application for a receiver, is the Guckenheimer company of Pittsburgh, which is behind with the Rauchfilt Distilling Company of Louisville.

The F. Goetzman & Sons' Co. was incorporated last January with a capital stock of $250,000. While no accurate statement of liabilities has been given out, it is understood the Pittsburgh company is owed about $20,000. The assets will be sold and an equal distribution made to creditors. The principal assets are trade marks and the good will of the corporation.

PORTER WAYLAID.

Fourth Ward Friends Captured the Candidate for Congress.

When H. Kirke Porter, the Citizens and Democratic candidate for congress in the Thirty-first district, went into the Fourth ward last night, he expected to make a speech at the North school house in Duquesne way, and then hurry to another meeting. Friends of the cause waylaid him, however, and he was taken into the Home hotel. There an impromptu reception was held. Score of citizens of the ward called to see Mr. Porter and shake his hand, and more were coming when Mr. Porter had to leave.

At a machine meeting in Sharpsburg, in the Y. M. C. A. hall, there was an interruption of James F. Burke by Arthur Kirk, the venerable advocate of good roads. Mr. Burke was telling how well the county had been managed by the machine, and Mr. Kirk elucidated: "The Flinn roads are not well built, anyhow."

Knocked Out by Foul Blow.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—In the 20-round boxing contest before the West End club tonight between "Brooklyn" Tommy Sullivan and Joe Sherlock, of Chicago, Sullivan knocked Sherlock out in the second round by a blow below the belt. Referee Sharp awarded the decision to Sherlock because of the foul blow.

Col. Ochiltree Seriously Ill.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Col. Thomas E. Ochiltree is seriously ill. Although better today, his doctors would not allow friends to visit him. Bronchitis and an affection of the liver combined with a heart weakness, have placed him in a serious condition.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

—The bakery of Mrs. John Lislinger at No. 815 Lobinger avenue, North Braddock, was totally destroyed by flames, the loss amounting to about $500.

—The rod mills of the Rankin plant of the American Steel and Wire Company, shut down for nine days because of a broken shaft, will resume this morning. Three other departments were forced to suspend because there were not sufficient rods to supply them.

METHODISTS RAISE BIG MISSION FUND

Contributions of Evening Well on Way to $300,000 Mark Set by Bishop.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—At the Methodist missionary conference $250,000 had been raised up to 11 o'clock tonight for mission work. The contributions were made in the auditorium of the convention hall. The subscriptions were called for at one of the two fine addresses by S. Earl Taylor, field secretary of the Epworth League, and John R. Mott, leader of the student movement throughout the world. Dr. Goucher of the executive committee then sent subscription cards throughout the large audience.

Immediately afterward Bishop Thoburn arose, and, speaking from a chair, said that he was authorized to state that if the conference would subscribe $150,000, he had $100,000 pledged by a gentleman whose name he would not disclose.

Thereupon the collectors began to receive the returns from the cards and it was a fusillade of contributions that was heard from the recording secretary's desk. Sums ranging from $5,000 (the gift of an unnamed woman in Boston) down to small sums of money were heard for the best portion of two hours. Many of the contributions were in $100 and $500 groups.

When $140,000 (exclusive of the voluntary anonymous offering of $100,000) had been subscribed Bishop Thoburn announced that he was authorized to state that if the conference raised $800,000 there was an additional $25,000 to be placed in the fund. Immediately there was a renewal of the contributions, and at 11:30 o'clock the fund was well on its way toward the $300,000 mark.

BOTTLE PRICES PUT UP STILL HIGHER

Quotations Are Withdrawn. Advances Over Last Month Are 25 Per Cent.

The executive committee representing the Pittsburgh, northern and eastern districts of the American Flint Bottle Manufacturers' Association, at a session here yesterday, made further arrangements to strengthen new price arrangements entered into earlier in the month. Since then most of the manufacturers have withdrawn their quotations and new ones were furnished only on application. The prices made have been at an advance of about 20 per cent. The meeting yesterday arranged to make this advance 25 per cent.

Today some of the members of the executive committee from these districts will meet the members of the western district at Indianapolis. While the ironclad agreement of the manufacturers is being worked out in the complicated price lists, the movement is still being kept alive for the formation of a closer organization, either a selling agency or a general consolidation. About 90 per cent of the manufacturers of flint bottles and vials are participating in these arrangements.

The first purpose is to put a stop to the open market, which has resulted in profitless business to many for years. Aside from this, the factories dependent on coal have to meet the higher fuel cost, while those using gas in the Indiana gas belt are left with an inadequate supply. The manufacturers have also to meet advanced costs for soda ash, lumber and skilled and unskilled labor.

SCHWAB'S NEW INVESTMENT.

Heads a Syndicate That Is Buying Long Island Property.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A sale of 100 acres of land embracing the entire Skidmore estate at Great Neck, Long Island, at $5,000 an acre, is the high water mark in real estate transactions in that section. The property contains half a mile of water front, and the purchase was made by a Manhattan syndicate headed by Charles M. Schwab.

It is said to be the purpose of the syndicate to build up an aristocratic colony.

Pittsburgh Is a Chickering Town

Chickering Piano the Unquestioned Favorite.

For Nearly a Quarter of a Century the Leader of All Pianos.

Pittsburgh the world over is noted for its devotion to the two extremes—the eminently practical and the artistic.

It exceeds every other city in the world in the actual possession and production of material wealth—and no city in the world can show a greater interest in the arts.

Next to cultured Boston, Pittsburgh is most madly devoted to the Chickering Piano, beyond doubt the most artistic Piano in the world. The Chickering is the oldest Piano in America. It has been for nearly a century and today is the conceded leader of all pianos. Its distinguished feature is the perfect tone of a sweet, mellow, appealing quality that is not found in any other. Indeed, no piano even approaches the Chickering's remarkable merits for instrumental or as accompaniment to vocal music.

This—the Chickering—is the piano which is the unquestioned favorite in all music-loving Greater Pittsburgh, with its population of nearly a million. It is in the homes of the multi-millionaires, who can afford the best regardless of price, and in the homes of the middle classes, who cannot afford to put their money into any but the best.

W. F. Frederick, 633 Smithfield street, near Seventh avenue, is the sole agent for the (genuine) Chickering Pianos, also the famous Hardman, Krieger, McPhail, Behr Bros., Haines & Co., and other Pianos. Mason & Hamlin and Estey organs, and the best of all the Chase & Baker Piano Player.

GERMANY BARS OUT LOCAL PAPER

The Wielkopolanin Covicted in Contumaciam Because of a Fierce Poem.

THE KAISER AND HEROD

Patriotic Polish Poetess Gets Out Some Lines That Stirred Up Matters Against the Pittsburgh Publication.

One of Pittsburgh's newspapers has been placed on the Prussian government's "unfair" list, the first time in the history of the city that such an invidious distinction has been accorded any sheet published here. The news came last night in a cable dispatch from Berlin to The Gazette, as follows:

"The government has issued a decree forbidding the circulation in Germany of a Polish paper, the Wielkopolanin, published in Pittsburgh, because it has been convicted in contumaciam by a Posen court, twice within a year, for objectionable utterances."

The news was carried to the Wielkopolanin, which is published at No. 56 Twenty-second street every Thursday. It is the official paper of the Polish Roman Catholic Beneficial St. Joseph's union. The editor was not in, but another employe said that the paper had been condemned in contumacy not only twice, but thrice.

Published a Fierce Poem.

The paper has been attacking the Prussian government for some months past on account of the policy recently put in force, compelling Polish school children to learn German in the schools, and the people to say their prayers in German in the schools and churches. Recently the paper printed a poem by Mary Konopnicka, a Polish patriotic poetess. The poem was the last straw. It was recited in secret at gatherings of Polish patriots, but no Polish paper had the audacity to print it, so that when the issue of the Wielkopolanin containing the poem appeared in Posen, the government got busy and condemned the paper, and then condemned it twice again for objectionable utterances, and at last forbade its circulation in Prussia.

The caption of the poem is, "A Murder of Polish Children." To him who does not understand Polish the poem in printed form certainly has a ferocious look. It is supposed, however, that the government officials did not condemn the poem on its looks, but actually had it translated. One particular stanza, which might be taken under present conditions as referring to the king of Prussia, the Emperor William, seems to have aroused the resentment of the courts of Posen.

Sample Stanza of the Poem.

This is the stanza, as it appeared in the Wielkopolanin, minus numerous accents:

Hasha tobie, ty Herodzie,
W kazdym kraju i narodzie!
Hasha tobie skron stoteczna,
Ze morduje z pasikie dzieci!

One word in the stanza looks familiar to Pittsburghers, but it does not refer to Pittsburgh's lobbies, the word "tobie" being Polish for "you." This is the translation, with due regard for poetic license:

Herod he slew restless babes
Blew them all in quick concussion;
Millions of all nations cry,
Herod's trick was strictly Prussian.

At the office of the Wielkopolanin it was said last night that that there must be a Prussian spy somewhere in the country, for the paper has been intercepted at the postoffice in Hamburg, showing that somebody must keep the Prussian government informed of any seditious utterances the paper may contain. It is thought the spy gets a copy of the paper, reads it and notifies the government before the mails reach the other side.

Stolen Tickets Found.

Yesterday a number of torn tickets taken from the safe in the Pittsburgh & Western station in Allegheny three weeks ago by safe blowers, were found in the street at First avenue and Cherry alley. John E. Newton of No. 113 Liberty avenue, discovered them and immediately turned them over to Officer Edward Frawley, who took them to the Central police station. No one could be found who saw the tickets thrown there.

MRS. DURHAM GIVEN PURSE BY OFFICERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHENANDOAH, PA., Oct. 23.—The Wadsworth case is to be argued Monday at the Pottsville court, but no notice has yet been allowed to be made upon Col. Rutledge. Mrs. Alice Durham, mother of William Durham, the young man shot by the sentry, called at the camp today and the officers raised $190 and presented it to her when they learned who she was. They told her to call again tomorrow.

Field sports were enjoyed by the Eighteenth regiment and thousands of visitors at the Trotting park, near camp, this afternoon. Many of the Sheridan troopers of Tyrone were among the onlookers.

A hundred-yard dash was won by Private Woods of Company K, in 11 seconds. The quarter-mile dash was won by Brown, Company B, in 1 minute and 3 seconds; Corrigan of Company E captured the half mile race. Wilson and Smith, Company D, won the three-legged race, amid shouts of laughter. The first prize for the running broad jump went to Woods, Company K, whose record was 16 feet 8 inches. Hunter, Company M, put the shot 95 feet.

There were first, second and third prizes for each contest. The first prize was a pass, or leave of absence from camp, good from 9 to 6 o'clock; the second a pass from 9 to 3 and third a pass from 9 to 12. Under the strict discipline maintained here, passes are almost worth their weight in gold.

A half-mile horse race was won by Capt. Huff, Company F, and then he gave a fine exhibition of hurdle jumping. He rode his own horse, brought from Pittsburgh. Capt. Bissell joined him in this sport. Lieut. Col. Kay and Lieut. Raiston were the judges; Capt. Carson, Company M, chairman of the field sports; Capt. Guthrie and Lieut. Perrine, timers; Lieut. Cratty and Sterf, starters, and Lieut. Morgan entry clerk.

New Community of Interest Plan of Ohio Traction Companies Is Arranged in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 23.—The conference between W. Kesley Schoepf of the Widener-Elkins syndicate and M. J. Mandelbaum of the Mandelbaum-Pomeroy syndicate, with Cincinnati capitalists, were continued today in the law offices of Foraker, Outcalt, Granger & Prior, to carry out the arrangement on community of interest entered into yesterday for Ohio traction lines. Senator Foraker, H. C. Long and Frank Wilcox looked after the legal proceedings.

Articles of incorporation of the Traction Terminal Company, capital $100,000, were certified to the county clerk this afternoon. The incorporators are J. B. Forsaker, Randolph Mathews, son-in-law of Senator Foraker; George H. Warrington, who is connected with the Cincinnati Traction Company, Dana Stevens, treasurer of the Cincinnati Traction Company, and Frank H. Wilcox of Cleveland, general counsel for the Mandelbaum syndicate.

The purposes of the Traction Terminal Company are to build a central depot here for electric lines from different parts of the state, and to provide suitable terminals. While Mandelbaum remains as president of the Cincinnati, Dayton & Toledo and other electric lines, W. Kesley Schoepf, president of the Cincinnati Traction Company, is to be chairman of the executive board of "The Community of Insterest."

Failure of a Findlay Rolling Mill Results in Angry Charges of Fraudulent Dealing.

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 23.—(Special)—The Ohio rolling mill, the largest factory in the city, was put into the hands of receivers today. The liabilities are given at $165,000. The receivers are H. Silbernand of Cleveland, and Max Bernstein of Lima, both of whom have claims amounting to $12,000 each.

Sensational charges are made against William Brenner, president of the company, and other stockholders, who are said to have transferred their interests to Mr. Brenner without consideration and to defraud creditors, of whom there are more than 100. When the mill was closed today the employes gathered in angry groups threatening bodily injury to Mr. Brenner. Considerable property belonging to the mill is mysteriously missing.

PANTHER SHOWS TEETH.

Saucy Words Exchanged Between the German Gunboat and Venezuelan Government.

PORT OF SPAIN, TRINIDAD, Oct. 23.—(Copyright, Cable.)—The Venezuelan government has filed a protest with the German legation in Caracas against the visit to the Orinoco river of the German gunboat Panther, the vessel which sank the Haitian rebel gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot. The Panther has carried from this island to Ciudad, Bolivar, 125 mail bags and 10 German women who had been separated from their families for three months.

In reply to the protest, the German legation declared that the blockade is not only ineffective, but never existed, and that the Kaiser's government intends to protect German interests in Venezuela.

DIED WHEN ARRESTED.

Woman Accused With Her Husband of Murdering Her Father.

LAGRANGE, IND., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. Nettie Hall died suddenly today just after being told that she was under arrest charged with the murder of her father, George Nicholas. He was found dead at the bottom of the steps leading to the cellar, where it was supposed he had accidentally fallen. The manner of his falling aroused suspicions of foul play which pointed to the daughter, as his only heir, and her husband.

A brother of Nicholas swore out warrants for Hall and his wife and an officer had just placed them under arrest when Mrs. Hall expired.

Smoked up the Temple.

The Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, held the first of a series of winter smokers last night at the new Temple, corner of Washington street and Webster avenue. A banquet was served in the men's dining room on the first floor. The affair was informal, there being no toastmaster or speeches. Preceding the banquet an executive session was held at which 23 new members were initiated into the mysteries of the order. Harry Walker, potentate of Pittsburgh Oasis, presided.

To Build Its Own Furnaces.

Interests of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, operating at Monessen, are making application for a Pennsylvania charter for a separate organization, under which it is proposed to operate blast furnaces. The plan of the company is to make itself independent in the supply of pig iron, and it is understood that two large furnaces will be erected. The new company will be known as the Monessen Furnace Company.

Physicians Are Puzzled.

Anton Buchek, a tailor, aged 20 and married, is at the Allegheny General hospital with an ailment which the hospital physicians cannot diagnose. He was found in East Park with his limbs perfectly rigid. At a late hour last night his condition was about the same. The physicians say his case resembles paralysis, but he has perfect feeling in every member of his body.

THE TIN WORKERS OPPOSE WAGE CUT

They Sent Request to American Tin Plate Company to Alter Proposal.

WILL GET A REPLY TODAY

Many Delegates Disgruntled Because Effort Failed to Get a Final Vote, Which Would Have Defeated Proposition.

After four days of talking by those favoring the proposition for differential wage reduction for tin plate workers to allow the American Tin Plate Company to capture the drawback business now placed in Wales, the convention stands with a majority against it. There was an effort at the convention yesterday to bring the matter to a final vote, but instead of this a vote of 41 to 27 approved a communication to the officials of the American Tin Plate Company, which asks for alterations in the original proposition. This was sent to the officials of the American Tin Plate Company last night and will be replied to today.

After receipt of the communication from the workers last night Vice President W. M. Leeds, Manager John R. Phillips and other officials of the company spent some time at the Schenley hotel considering it. The officials stated that they were not at liberty to disclose the exact terms of the workers' proposition, but indicated that it was not exactly a counter-proposition, but more in the nature of a request that the tin plate company alter its proposal to make it easier for the workers to accept it.

There was considerable ill-feeling among the delegates at the close of the session yesterday. Some of them had urged that the vote be taken and the question disposed of, while others contended that if properly presented, the American Tin Plate Company could probably be brought to consider a compromise proposition, to avoid the sweeping reduction of a big end of the company's output. This resulted in the request going to the company.

While a final vote may be reached today, it is possible that there will be further delay till after Saturday, when all lodges meet, so that delegates instructed to vote against the proposition who have since been won over to it, may have opportunity to get their lodges to rescind the instructions.

SHOT PRISONER WHEN HE MADE TROUBLE

McDonald Constable Had to Put Bullet Into Refractory Captive Who Refused to Be Good.

The McDonald baseball park was the scene of an exciting encounter about 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning when Constable M. R. Conley was compelled to shoot one of his two prisoners before he could land them in the lockup.

The trouble was caused by Isaac Bevins and Teddy Driscoll, well-known characters of the Hunt camp of Kenefick & Co., on the Wabash, near Hickory. As a result Bevins was shot in the left leg, Driscoll was badly bruised and Officer Conley had his left hand put out of commission.

The shooting was the end of a fight between the two prisoners and the officer en route to the lockup. For some time past the South Penn Oil Company has been annoyed by having boiler houses in the McDonald field broken into. While no supplies were missed, the locks were broken.

When Robert Todd, a pumper, went to the work early yesterday morning in the baseball field, he found his boiler house door open and two men on the inside. One man was asleep while the other appeared to be very much under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Todd immediately telephoned Officer Conley and he went out and arrested the two men. "Where are you going to take us?" asked Bevins. "To the lockup, of course," said the constable. "Well, let's have a drink," suggested one of the men and from one of three pint flasks of whisky the two imbibed.

When the fence of the baseball grounds was reached the men refused to go any further and mixed it up with Officer Conley, who drew his revolver and shot Bevins in the left leg. Richard Ferguson, who lived near the ball park, heard the shot and came to the officer's rescue. He took charge of one prisoner and the two were taken to the McDonald lockup.

The men were given a hearing last night and bound over for court. Charges were preferred by the South Penn Oil Company, and Justice of the Peace Robert J. Cook held the pair.

Death of Joseph Ryan.

Joseph Ryan, 51 years old, of No. 5847 Ellsworth avenue, died at the Allegheny county jail last night of alcoholism. He was committed there on October 21 by Police Magistrate McGarey for 10 days. He was ill and without funds, and as he was unable to go to a hospital, was sent to the jail to be treated at the infirmary there.

Owing to the insufficient number of agents we could secure to handle the crowds at Lincoln Park, and, therefore, to our inability to give all the customers for Lincoln Park lots the information and attention required, we have induced the owners to agree to extend the 15 per cent credit on all Lincoln Park lots unsold to Monday morning, October 27.

It must be remembered that the list price is extremely low and that every one of these lots is worth today at least 50 per cent more than list price.

Come at once and secure a choice lot. Take East Liberty via Center avenue car to end of line.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1902.

SIXTEEN PAGES.

The landsthing, the conservative chamber of the Danish parliament, or rigsdag, consists of 66 members, 12 appointed for life by the king and 54 elected by the provinces, each for a term of eight years. But though a conservatively constituted body no one can accuse it of not being thoroughly up-to-date in methods. If the age of two of its members who had to be brought on stretchers to vote against sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States is any indication, the conservatism of thought in the landsthing must be admitted, for one of them is within three years of the completion of a century of life and the other is but 10 years his junior. Illness was added to the burden of years borne by each, and on these inabilities the Danish ministry depended to carry through its program for sale of the islands. But neither age nor illness of the possessors of two votes daunted the anti-sale party. For weeks Thygoson and Raben had been bedridden and expected to die at their homes, 150 miles from the capital. Two votes are two votes, and the anti-sale party was determined not to be beaten for lack of them. Therefore, accompanied by physicians, the old men were borne to a saloon carriage, which was rolled on to a ferry boat to reach the capital from Jutland; they were taken to a hotel in Copenhagen, carefully nursed and guarded over night, and next day they were carried in their chairs to the landsthing hall, where a prompter aided them to cast the votes that made the tie and kept the Danish flag afloat in the West Indies. It was an intensely dramatic situation.

We may condemn their partisans for cruelty in risking the lives of two old men, already facing death, but we must admire the devotion of Thygoson and Raben to their ideals that led them from the neighborhood of their graves to the distant landsthing. It is perhaps their last important public act and whether or not the example will be potent to check the movement for the alienation of the Danish American possessions, the two names will doubtless be hereafter held in high repute in Dahish annals. It is true that "the predominant sentiment throughout Denmark is pro-sale," and the rejection is probably due "chiefly to a domestic political effort to embarrass the government," but the old men could not have been moved to go out under the shadow of the sickel of death by any such petty consideration. The soldier who goes forth to battle is moved by devotion to country or hope of glory. Thygoson and Raben pledged their lives more certainly to their cause than any soldier who accepts the chances of war. The "prominent anti-sale political leaders," who took them from their beds and transported them to Copenhagen, may have been moved by a mere desire to embarrass the ministry and accomplish its downfall, but the spirit of the old men can hardly have been other than one of pure patriotism according to their lights. For this we must honor them, and even the pro-sale party in their own country must feel pride in them.

Denmark is now left with her West India islands on her hands and the Danish ministry is left with an awkward problem that it has determined to solve. The resulting situation would justify it in resigning, leaving the dilemma for those who have created it. Cable advices that say the defeat of the ministry was accomplished to force its resignation, say also that after consultation it was decided by the cabinet that resignation is not a necessity. Instead it will begin at a new starting point and move toward a new goal or toward the old one by a new route. The islands have been a white elephant on Danish hands. Their local revenues have been insufficient for the needs of local government and the depleted Danish treasury is compelled to meet all deficits. The first step will be to make a new study of the island situation to find means, if possible, of developing its resources to the point of self support. A commission appointed by the finance minister will take the matter in charge. If out of this comes betterment, sale to the United States may be indefinitely postponed. If not, then it is inevitable that the Danish West Indies shall be put on the market again.

Problems of modern government are largely business problems. It is a matter of counting the cost and of making it pay. Public improvements and public possessions and national enterprises are in one way and another valued in dollars and cents. Their cost must be weighed against the benefits that will accrue from them. This is brought very close to us in our municipal and state governments and becomes apparent even in national government. With the illumination of known facts, there is little room to doubt that it is bad business for Denmark to retain her American possessions. If the Danes were weighted with many of the same sort they would soon be driven into bankruptcy. It is because of that the cry has gone up from the Danish people to be rid of them. It is good business on the other hand for the United States to seek possession of them. They are of strategical value to us, and their value will be greater when work is begun on the isthmian canal. They are of no value to Denmark from any point of view, and while we may admire the purely sentimental devotions that animated a Thygoson and a Raben, living out of touch with the times and ignorant of what is best for their countrymen, we cannot but marvel that 30 others could be found in a representative body to stand with their backs to the light and let their shadows hide from their view the proper pathway of national policy.

Not only is America interested in the purchase on account of the isthmian canal, but because an effort on the part of Denmark to dispose of them to one of the powers of Europe would bring defense of the Monroe doctrine to an acute test. Germany is the power most likely to want those islands and it is just possible that German diplomacy had a hand in producing the marvel of a legislative body clinging by desperate means to an unprofitable possession in opposition to the wish of a majority of the people. Germany is strenuously creating a navy not needed for its national defense, but of possible utility in finding, or protecting avenues for its commerce. The German government has always evinced deep interest in Central and South America. Its recent activity has been notable. Finally its naval program carries the inevitable conclusion on its face that it is designed to comfortably exceed the naval equipment of the United States. And if Germany has designs upon the Monroe doctrine it is easy to see it would be in better position to begin the attack in defense of the right to purchase American territory than in support of a seizure by violence.

A VIOLATION OF FAITH

The actual return to work in the anthracite region was less joyous than anticipation of the fact. Many of the strikers found no work waiting for them. In the case of engineers, pump and firemen this was to have been expected to some extent. It would be unjust if the companies were to discharge competent men who took hold to save their properties at a critical moment in order to make places for the men who left their posts five months ago. But the action of the Lehigh company in refusing to open its mines at all is a flagrant violation of the spirit, if not the letter of the agreement made with President Roosevelt. It is an outrageous default upon the promise to produce coal if order should be restored in the mining region and an arbitrary disregard of the company's obligations to the public in consideration of which it enjoys its franchises.

The trouble of the steam men could be overcome gradually if the operators are actuated by a spirit of fairness. Many of the men employed to man boilers, engines and pumps in the emergency are incompetent to operate the machinery of a working mine. These could be transferred to other occupations, not all at one time, for all of the men in the anthracite region will be needed, in some capacity, to make good the shortage of coal caused by the prolonged suspension of mining. By the same natural process of selection the old engineers and pumpmen would be returned to their places. But it is equally possible to make the former employes suffer if the companies intend to pursue a vengeful purpose and give cause for the distrust on the part of the men which was noted by Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, as a fruitful cause of the frequent disturbances in that region.

Fairness on the part of the companies would have been assumed by the public had not the Lehigh company manifested such an unmistakably unfair disposition. That exhibition of malice directs suspicion upon the motives of the other operators, so the natural difficulties of the situation may be wrongly interpreted. The Lackawanna alone is absolved entirely from the charge of discrimination, its superintendents having shown a commendable wish to mine coal rather than a desire to avenge themselves upon the union men who were glad to get back to work after the long struggle.

A sinister significance is given to the failure of the Lehigh company to keep faith by the threat of the International Association of Stationary Engineers and Firemen to refuse to handle anthracite coal until all of the strikers have been given their old places. This threat is unwise. The folly of "sympathy strikes" has been often proven. But it is an indication of the further inconvenience and suffering that may be inflicted upon the public by the absurd fear of some of the anthracite operators that the miners' union may deprive them of their suppositious divine right to manage their business in their own arbitrary way. The business world cannot afford to have another bitter conflict precipitated on the heels of that which seemed in such fair way to satisfactory settlement. The Lehigh company cannot afford to be the cause of such a fiasco, and if its managers are incapable of understanding so simple a proposition they ought to be immediately discharged for incompetency.

Public patience has been sorely tried by the narrowness of the anthracite presidents' views. Public indignation was aroused by their first rejection of President Roosevelt's intervention. The later developments induced the disposition to forgive the blundering, but if now a mean desire for revenge prevents the fruition of the public hopes and a permanent adjustment by President Roosevelt's commission there will be a reckoning not relished by those who are responsible.

TARIFF BATTLE IN CANADA.

An incident deserving of more attention than it has yet received in this country is the resignation of Joseph Israel Tarte, Canadian minister of public works. The cause of his retirement from the Dominion cabinet was his open advocacy of tariff retaliation against the United States. He took up the subject during Premier Laurier's absence in Europe, declared for a higher schedule with a preference to Great Britain equal to double any preference Great Britain would give to Canada. When Laurier arrived home he asked for Tarte's resignation from the cabinet. Tarte has not only resigned, but has quit the Liberal party and gone back to the Conservative, whence he came. The result cannot be foreseen, but it is certain this turn of the French leader means a bitter tariff fight in the Dominion and probable antagonism between the provinces.

Tarte has great influence with the French population. He it was who led their opposition to sending Canadian troops to South Africa during the Boer war. He was also their champion against the hanging of Riel. He is ambitious and not over scrupulous. When he failed to move Sir John Macdonald, then premier, in Riel's behalf, he quit the Conservative party and sought vengeance. His opportunity came with the quarrel among contractors on the public works when two of them put him in possession of documentary evidence that millions had been stolen through the connivance of Hon. Thomas McGreevy, the factotum of Langevin, Macdonald's minister of public works. Tarte published the documents; McGreevy and the two informing contractors went to jail; the scandal spread and the Liberal party came into power. Macdonald brought the Conservative party in again, but it presently failed and the Liberals took possession with Sir Wilfrid Laurier holding the reins. He made Tarte minister of public works.

The tariff sentiment is quite strong in the eastern provinces and Tarte's popularity will give it impetus in Quebec, at least. On the contrary there is a strong demand in the western provinces for a reduction of rates, particularly upon agricultural machinery, binder twine and the like which must be imported from the United States anyway. This sentiment is led by Sefton, and the other Liberal leaders, after trying the effect of preferential rates to Great Britain, have decided it to be good policy to recognize the west. The people of the United States have more than a passing interest in the matter. The decision one way or the other will have a far-reaching effect. Former United States citizens have been going into western Canada in large numbers and they are vitally interested. If Tarte and his French followers can control the situation, or overturn the government, as they once did, the Americans in Manitoba may find it advantageous to cross the border again and American trade with Canada is likely to suffer a check.

TABLES TURNED ON DEMOCRATS.

The Democratic press of Pennsylvania is making too much of the president's recent civil service pronunciamento. It is in Ohio that it has principal application rather than in Pennsylvania, though in neither state was there an actual attempt to violate the laws for the protection of civil servants against demands for political contributions. The sending out of circular letters asking for financial aid for the campaign was a purely clerical work. There were long lists of names on file, and in the ordinary course of headquarters business a circular was mailed to each person whose name was on the lists. It is to the credit of Senator Quay, chairman of the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania, that he early discovered what had been done, and without waiting for the presidential admonition, prepared and had mailed an additional circular to federal employes withdrawing the application made in the first circular. When, therefore, the president made public proclamation the Pennsylvania state committee had no need to attempt to justify its first action or to apologize for it, for it had already done its duty in the matter. It was the Ohio state committee that sought to justify its action in mailing requests for money to federal employes. Therefore, why do the Democratic heathen rage against Senator Quay and the Pennsylvania state committee, who had squared themselves with the law? Let them address themselves to Gen. Charles Dick and the Ohio state committee if they must have something to bark at.

The sending of circulars to federal employes by clerks of the Pennsylvania and Ohio committees was a mere inadvertance. But the president was right in making their appearance at Washington the subject of a warning proclamation. He did what Senator Quay would have done under similar circumstances and no one will more readily admit than will Senator Quay the entire correctness and necessity of President Roosevelt's action. The senator's action nullifies all real occasion for Democratic rejoicing. He turned the tables on them in advance.

A COMPREHENSIVE SYSTEM.

Disclosure of the plans to be worked out on the basis of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western and the Shenango & Beaver Valley railroads opens to view the very comprehensive scheme of the Gould system for its invasion of Pittsburgh and the east. Together with the projects previously made public, these new connections will give the Gould interests a perfect network of lines through the rich fuel fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, admirable connections with the lakes and ore fields and short trunk lines to the Atlantic seaboard and the west. Pittsburgh, however, becomes the center from which the system radiates, though the lines are building from without into this city.

It is well known to all who were familiar with railroad movements 20 and more years ago that the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh road covers a part of a route designed by the late Jay Gould to become a link in a transcontinental system. The Wabash, Missouri Pacific and southwest roads were then controlled by him. His mind was temporarily diverted from the grand project of his life by the acquisition of Manhattan Elevated and other matters, and death came before he could put in force his tremendous conception. Now it looks as though his children, entering into a traffic arrangement with the St. Paul at one end and the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh at the other, are about to realize the father's fondest ambitions.

To Pittsburgh the chief point in all this is that it is being made the pivot upon which the vast undertaking turns. This is not because the Goulds have any sentimental interest in this district, but because they and their advisers recognize it as the greatest freight producer in the country, essential to the complete success of the vast system they are creating. They want the tonnage. In order to get it they intend to accommodate the shippers with such lines as are most needed for their relief. Pittsburgh would have benefited greatly had the Goulds arrived two years earlier, but it might not have so fully appreciated what they propose to do to put an end to freight congestion and toward making possible the progress of the future.

The decision to limit the tickets issued for Founder's Day to the number that can be comfortably seated in the hall is wise. The scramble heretofore has been vexatious. It is impossible to admit all who would like to attend those interesting exercises, so the trustees have done wisely to reduce the number of tickets and to distribute them to secure a representative gathering. It is also gratifying to note that Richard Watson Gilder will make an address following that of the principal orator, Hon. Whitelaw Reid.

There is nothing to be gained by fomenting the factional controversy in the new Twenty-fourth congressional district and Congressman Acheson's refusal to do so is to be commended. That district ought to be represented by a Republican in congress. The nomination of Mr. Acheson was favored by two counties, and though declared irregular, his candidacy on nomination papers had better be supported by the minority county than to have a Democrat elected.

With a lively appreciation of the needs of the city, Mr. H. C. Frick favors the cutting of the "hump," and assures the chairman of the councils committee that he will ask no damages. The improvement will cost Mr. Frick considerable money, but he is neither short-sighted nor selfish. He will realize ultimately in the benefit to his property and the advantage of all Pittsburgh upon which the value of his property depends.

Though the language of the bill might be construed to sanction a marine hospital outside of Pittsburgh the government agents will consider sites in the city only. The marine hospital was intended for Pittsburgh and it will be located where it will be of most use.

It would be a good stroke of business for Europe to act on the advice of the lord rector of St. Andrew's, but there are a lot of people over there who would rather fight it out.

The British forces in Somaliland, or what is left of them, are madder than the Mad Mullah when they think of what the government got them into.

Even if Uncle Sam does have to settle the bill for keeping the peace in Samoa the practice was almost worth the price.

The moonlight is going to do a lot of shining on the Wabash if some one doesn't head off George Gould and his friends.

If President Roosevelt needs the electoral vote of Ireland in 1904 he has only to say the word.

KNIGHTS OF POST COMING THIS WAY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.

New York has its full share of dishonest people. For that reason, among others, it objects to receiving others that may come with the stamp of rascality upon them, particularly when it seems easy to keep them out. So a squad of detectives from police headquarters was sent to the White Star pier today to catch, if possible, a detachment of what the author of "Oil Bias" called "knights of the post," supposed to be on board the steamer Majestic. These gentry have been working Paris, Berlin, Vienna and other cities in Europe with such success that the authorities have at last turned them out. Naturally, the crooks are expected to come to New York. They were not on the Majestic, however. The detectives kept a close watch on all the passengers as they came down the gangplank, but could not find any answering the description cabled from the other side. All they did find was a Scotland Yard detective, who had his pockets full of thieves' photographs, handcuffs and other articles pertaining to his profession, and who was desperately indignant when stopped by officials and examined. What concerns the public most, however, is that the confidence men from Europe were not caught, although it is known they have disappeared from their haunts on the other side of the Atlantic. The question is, where are they? Unless the police are on the watch when every ocean vessel comes into this port, the gang is liable to slip into the country and scatter before their presence is suspected. In fact, there is apprehension that the first inkling the police may have of their being here will be the report of some big robbery, perhaps in a city as far away as Pittsburgh. Men that make their living by their wits, and that are without conscientious scruples, are hardly likely to let detectives know what ship they use, and it is more than probable that the particular gang sought will get in when the police least suspect their movements.

Down Go Coal Prices.

With the report that about two-thirds of the miners in the anthracite regions had returned to work, coal prices in New York today were all at odds. The $15 tariff went by the board. No one thought of paying any such price for a ton of coal. There was no regular figure, each dealer selling at whatever price he thought he could afford—or get. There is not too much coal in the city, and when one tries to buy a ton he is likely to be put off with a quarter of a ton and a promise that there will be plenty of coal next week. Coal has sold as low as $8 in New York today, while New Jersey dealers let customers have it at $7. It never has been explained why coal is so much cheaper on the other side of the North river than in Manhattan, but the fact has been there since the beginning of the famine.

Coal Marked Against Thieves.

The plan of watchmen in the Brooklyn navy yard to protect Uncle Sam's coal is successful as well as novel. There are 600 tons of coal stored in one corner of the yard, and it has been stolen at night to an annoying degree. The watchmen have thrown a large quantity of whitewash upon it, and now if anyone were to steal it he could be convicted of the theft as soon as it was seen that there was white upon it. Italians living in the neighborhood are believed to have walked it off in buckets every night, but the are not doing so now.

Little Things Destroy Discipline.

Capt. Piper, the new deputy police commissioner, who is keeping the force on the jump, delivered himself of some opinions as to discipline that carry the ring of common sense as well as thoroughness. Meeting assertions that he pays too much attention to trivial details, he is quoted as replying: "If a patrolman is ordered to wear gloves, he must wear gloves; if he is instructed not to talk with other policemen on connecting beats, he must not talk; and if he is told to walk along the street edge of a sidewalk, that is that part of the walk he must traverse. It is just these minor details in the lack of discipline that tend to demoralize a uniformed body of men." No one can make exception to Capt. Piper's principles, which might be regarded with profit in other connections than with the police department.

Marie Dressler Delirious.

Marie Dressler, the actress, is said to be stricken with typhoid fever. She has been more or less indisposed for five weeks, but insisted on acting a few days ago, although she was in a high fever every night. Now she is in delirium. It is reported, and will be in bed for weeks. Miss Dressler is well-known in Pittsburgh, where, indeed, she made her first notable hit, nearly 10 years ago, at the Alvin, in "The Magic Kiss." She got more applause than the star, Camille d'Arville, and soon afterward was featured by George W. Lederer in a comedy arranged specially to show forth her powers. Her attendants say that she sings and repeats parts of her roles in her delirium, and wants to walk about her bed room perpetually. Her physicians believe they will pull her through.

Mystic Order's Materialistic Feast.

One of those many offshoots of Masonry which have become so common of late years, but which are not recognized officially by the parent body, is holding a meeting of its supreme council in New York. It is known as the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm. The business of the council was disposed of today in the Azin Grotto, in West Twenty-third street, but tonight the scene of action is in a popular restaurant, where a very materialistic and unmystic banquet is in progress with oysters, beer and other fleshly trimmings.

Royalty Stubs Its Toe.

Chowfa, crown prince of Siam, is having a varied time of it in New York. This morning, as he was walking along a narrow plank to get aboard a yacht, he stubbed his toe, fell over his sword and nearly took a header into the North river. He caught himself in time and did not seem to be the least bit disturbed. He went up to West Point, saw the cadets drill, exchanged courtesies with the officers and came back to town for the dog show at Madison Square garden. He was still around the lobby of the Waldorf-Astoria at midnight, and looked as bright as if he had not been spending a hard day sight seeing. He is a wiry little fellow, this heir to the throne of Siam.

Great Interest in Dogs.

Interest in the dog show is more marked than in previous exhibitions. There has been a large attendance all day, and this evening Madison Square garden is so full of people that it is difficult to get around. The presence of the prince of Siam may have had something to do with the large attendance this evening, but legitimate interest in the dogs was the principal incentive, beyond a doubt. Mrs. James L. Kernochan, president of the Ladies' Kennel association, says it is the best exhibition the garden has seen, and that she expects to see next year's show even greater, if that is possible.

Woman With Sewed-Up Heart Dies.

The woman who was stabbed in the heart and had six stitches put in the wound, died today. While there is regret that the operation could not save the patient's life, surgeons here are elated over the partial success of the operation, for the woman lived many hours afterward, and, perhaps, the next operation of the kind may prove successful. Considering that such an attempt would have been regarded as madness a decade ago, surgeons may well feel gratified over the case, notwithstanding that it ended in the death of the patient.

Awful Affront to Clews.

In the suit of a woman against Henry Clews & Co. today, she intimated that the grave and reverend seigneur kept a "bucket shop." Anyone that knows Mr. Clews can imagine the disgusted indignation at hearing his house and himself thus described. There is not a more conservative, and at the same time genial, man in the "street" than Henry Clews, and his business is almost a religion with him. And then to say "bucket shop" to him! It is a wonder he did not annihilate the woman on the spot. Probably he would had he been in court personally, instead of by his legal representatives.

Quick Justice for Old Offender.

The courts in New York know how to "railroad" an offender when there is no doubt of his guilt. An illustration of this was the sending to Sing Sing for four years today of a fellow that attempted to rob the carriage of Mrs. Woodruff, wife of the lieutenant-governor of the state, in Twenty-third street last Friday. He was caught by a footman and turned over to the police. It was shown in court that the thief had a record of seven terms in Sing Sing, and now he has gone up for his eighth.

Police Turn Against O'Rourke.

Tom O'Rourke, the manager of pugilists, has fallen foul of the police department in so far as keeping open his saloon in Broadway, the Delavan, all night, is converned. The Delavan is one of the best known sporting resorts along the "Great White Way," and it has been running all night, under a special license, for years. O'Rourke is a big, powerful man who generally acts as his own "bouncer," so that he keeps order, as a rule. One or two squabbles in his place of late have turned the police against him, however, and he has been unable to renew his license. The darkening of his house at such an uncomfortably early hour as 1 a. m., just when things are getting lively on Broadway, makes a sad gap in the line of electric lights and must cause O'Rourke poignant sorrow. He means to try for a license again next month.

Only an Ethical Strike.

Hardly is the coal trouble off the minds of people here before they are confronted with a new strike. It is the plasterers this time. They have entered into a dispute with their employers that is almost entirely ethical in its nature, but is powerful enough to tie up pretty much all the important jobs in the city. The employers are anxious to settle the strike by arbitration, and most likely this will be done. Otherwise there would be danger of a strike of all the building trades. There is no question of wages or hours involved, according to the employers, and it is thought the matter should be adjusted with comparative ease.

Abbey's Exhibition of Drawings.

At one of the art galleries in Fifth avenue is an interesting exhibition of Edwin A. Abbey's pen-and-ink work. It consists of drawings he made to illustrate the Harper edition of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," which is pretty familiar to Pittsburghers. The original drawings, being larger, of course, than the printed reproductions, allow of a closer inspection of detail, and one can easily spend an afternoon in the gallery without noticing the hours fly by. The exhibition will remain open until November 1, and I can well advise Pittsburghers visiting New York in the next 10 days or so to drop in and see the pictures.

New York Misses Duss' Sand.

The rush of seat buyers for the Duss concert in the Metropolitan opera house on Sunday evening shows that he did not wear out his welcome by his three months' tenancy of St. Nicholas garden. In fact, New York has missed him and his band, and will give him a royal welcome on Sunday, as sure as Sunday comes.

Molineux Defense Admits a Point.

One point has been settled in the Molineux trial for which a bored public is thankful. The defense admits that the accused did use the famous robins-egg-blue paper with the three crescents in some of his correspondence. It will be remembered that in the first trial this was a never-ending source of squabbling among counsel.

Allegheny County Juries.

From the Philadelphia Press.

In Allegheny county they pack their juries when they fill the jury wheel, but that method didn't originate in Allegheny. It is the safest of all schemes to make sure there are no names in the wheel that it will be necessary to bother about. If the matter is not carefully attended to in its first stages somebody may be taken on the jury at any time, disposed to make trouble.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Francis Clark.

Francis Clark of Pittsburgh died yesterday afternoon at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Kathryn Schwerdt in Altoona, aged 28 years, from the effects of an attack of typhoid fever, he had a year and a half ago. He was a native of Blair county, and was a resident of Pittsburgh for nine years, being until recently a member of the firm of Clark & Scantling, wholesale dealers in mantels. He is survived by his wife and two children. They all went to Altoona four weeks ago to visit relatives, and he was shortly afterward taken critically ill. Mr. Clark is also survived by his parents and eleven brothers and sisters, of whom Augustine, Mettie and Dessa reside in Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Catholic church and the Royal Arcanum.

Joseph E. Normecutt.

Joseph E. Normecutt died at his home, No. 5812 Bartlett street, East End, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning of a complication of diseases. He is survived by his wife, Ella B. Normecutt, and three children, Herbert, Aimee and Helen. Mr. Normecutt was in the men's furnishing business in this city for 20 years. He was a member of Franklin lodge 221, F. & A. M. His wife is a sister of A. S. Bishop of the City Insurance Company. He was in his 51st year.

Thomas McNaugher.

Thomas, the 8-year-old son of Joseph McNaugher of Allegheny, died at the family's summer residence in New Wilmington, Pa., yesterday. The lad had been ailing with tonsilitis for a few days, and the malady later developed into diphtheria. He was a nephew of the Rev. Dr. John McNaugher of Allegheny seminary, and of the Rev. Dr. D. W. McNaugher of Allegheny.

Miss Mary A. Herbert.

Miss Mary A. Herbert died at her home in Bellefield on Wednesday night. She was a member of the First Methodist Protestant church and took an active interest in charitable work. She was an active manager of the Home for Colored Children in Allegheny and was active in the Young Women's Christian association. She was a sister of Capt. W. P. Herbert.

Mrs. J. A. Neel.

Mrs. Ella A. Neel, wife of Capt. J. A. Neel of the Neel Dredging Company, died at her home, No. 1 Laird avenue, Bellevue, early yesterday morning, after an illness of two weeks. A husband and two children, Nellie and Jordan, survive her. The body will be taken to Beaver for burial, the funeral train leaving here at 12:15 o'clock tomorrow.

Prof. J. Fremont Hickman.

Prof. J. Fremont Hickman, aged 47, died at Wooster, O., of typhoid fever. He was a member of the staff of the Ohio agricultural experimental station and was widely known.

Obituary Notes.

Congressman Charles A. Russell died at Danielson, Conn., yesterday. He was re-nominated a few weeks ago.

Henry Steinhauser, a well-known resident of the Second ward, Allegheny, died at his late home, No. 37 Taggart street, on Wednesday. Three brothers survive.

Daniel Truxell of Greensburg died yesterday of general debility. He was 82 years old and had lived all his life in Greensburg. Three sons and two daughters survive.

George A. Vogelson, aged 65, a prominent citizen of Columbiana, O., died suddenly Wednesday night. He fell unconscious while at work on the farm. Four children survive.

Herman H. Abrams, who, as an appointee of President Lincoln, dispatched military trains out of Cairo, Ill., is dead at Sherman, Tex. His active railroad service covered half a century.

Ethel Matilda Geis, 7-year-old daughter of Joseph A. Geis, a member of No. 3 Engine company, died at the family residence, No. 14 Kearsarge street, Mt. Washington, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Catherine Skidmore, wife of Farewell Skidmore, formerly of McKees Rocks, died in Greensburg yesterday from stomach and pulmonary troubles. She was 54 years old, and is survived by her husband and two children.

William C. Hamnett died at his home in Meadville yesterday. He was a son of Dr. Jonathan Hamnett, and a brother of Mrs. William Schoyer of Pittsburgh. The funeral services will be held at Meadville on Saturday.

John McClinton, an old resident of Allegheny, died Wednesday evening at the residence of his son, N. F. McClinton. He was 80 years of age. He will be buried from the residence of his son, Shady avenue, near Marshall avenue, Allegheny, this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Williamson, aged 61, widow of Harvey Williamson, died at her home in Coal Valley, above McKeesport, on Wednesday, of pneumonia. She was one of the original members of the Coal Valley Methodist Episcopal church, and is survived by three sons and two daughters.

William Canary, an old soldier of Harveys, Greene county, Pa., was found dead Wednesday in a field near the roadside. Heart failure was the cause. Mr. Canary was a native of Germany, 70 years old, and had been in America since he was 16. He served in the civil war and had an excellent military record.

Mrs. Mary Jane Gillen, widow of James Gillen of Clarion county, died Wednesday at the home of her son in Greensburg. She was 66 years old, and is survived by the following children: J. E. and George of Greensburg, Mrs. Annie King of Waltersburg, Mrs. James Hixson and William Gillen of Tarentum, Mrs. T. C. Grant of Allegheny.

The latest jewelry fad is to wear detachable gold buttons on the underwear. You can get a good serviceable set of six for $50. Poor people who have no underwear, and are bent on following the fads of the wealthy, can cut a slit in their skin and slip the buttons through the slot. We own a 75-cent suit of underwear, so we can follow the fad without carving our hide. It is going to cost the people of DuBois a good round sum for these buttons, but they must have 'em. One lucky thing about the fashion is the fact that nobody can tell whether you have got gold buttons in your underwear, or wooden plugs, thank heaven!—DuBois Searchlight.

A Shifty Politician.

From the New York Tribune.

Was ever a shifty politician more completely exposed in his shiftiness than David B. Hill? He not only leads the Democratic campaign in this state. He is the Democratic campaign. He named the candidate, he dictated the platform, and he is so far practically the sole important defender of both. The three principal issues of his campaign are the coal strike, Gov. Odell's policy toward state hospitals and charitable institutions and the Republican measures of state taxation. Yet on all three of these questions Mr. Hill is on record as having favored the very measures he condemns and having denounced the very things he advocates.

Made a Good Job of It.

From the Salt Lake Tribune.

"It's now up to President Roosevelt to settle the coal miners' strike. He's made it a burden of his party!" cried David B. Hill in a recent speech in Brooklyn. Very well, David. Your Uncle Theodore accepted the burden, and made a good job of it. Had you been in his place you'd never have "interfered."

CONFECTIONERY WAS PLENTIFUL

Virgin Alley Feast Interrupted by Suspicious Officer of the Law.

THE 300 or 400 newsboys who keep Virgin alley in a lively looking condition at all hours of the day or night were in a hilarious state yesterday afternoon. At first glance one might have thought the celebration was in honor of Old King Coal's prospective resurrection, for the scene was certainly a "warm" one. Every self-provider was promenading up and down the narrow thoroughfare with his chest thrown out to the limit, his pockets bulged out, and his mouth and hands crammed full of the latest kind of bon-bons and candy fruit which sells at about $2 a pound. The easy manner in which they eliminated this expensive diet led pedestrians to think that the boys had been visited by a Coal Oil Johnny or had discovered a candy mine.

Everybody seemed to be happy except the officer who patrols the beat. He does not dislike to see the boys enjoying themselves, but he had a burning suspicion that some person had broken the seventh commandment. He had evidently not been invited to the feast, and immediately resolved that no grass would be allowed to bear his avoirdupois until his curiosity was satisfied as to who was giving the banquet. After racing up and down the alley two or three times he noticed a dirty faced member of the rising generation with three boxes of the choicest sweets under each arm. The officer cast an icy look in the direction of the "walking confectionery," and the boy struck out at a 10-second gait. It was even money that the boy would win. Inch by inch he gained on the lengthy bluecoat. The cheers of his 300 guests seemed to put more power into his little legs, and as he ran his comrades yelled, "Don't give up the ship, Mugsy." And he certainly hung to the candy! But, alas! just as he was beginning to have visions of victory a hard-hearted son of Ham drove a garbage wagon in front of him, and the bluecoat caught him in the trap.

At "McGarey's Palace" this morning he is probably tasting the bitterness of defeat rather than the "sweets" which victory would have brought him.

STATE LAW IS MAKING TROUBLE

HAD SESSION YESTERDAY

Met in Maj. Mead's Office and Arranged to Look Over Some of the Twenty Locations Offered Today—Must Be in City.

Some difficulty is being experienced by the commission appointed by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw in selecting a site for Pittsburgh's new marine hospital. The commission is examining the 20 lots that have been offered the government. It is the desire of the commission to select a site convenient to the rivers, the railroad depots and the trolley lines. The state law, prohibiting the erection of new hospitals in the built-up sections of cities, is causing the trouble.

Secretary Shaw appointed Mahlon M. Garland surveyor of the port of Pittsburgh; Dr. L. L. Williams, of the department of public health and marine hospital service, of Washington, and F. B. Wheaton, of the architects' department, Washington, as the commission. They have invited Maj. F. W. Mead, the local marine surgeon, to join them. Dr. Williams and Mr. Wheaton are staying at the Hotel Duquesne, and will be here until the commission finally decides upon a location for the hospital.

Inspects Sites Today.

The commission held a formal meeting in Maj. Mead's office yesterday afternoon, and arrangements were made to look at some properties today. Their decision will be first to the secretary of the treasury and he will announce it. The sum of $125,000 was appropriated for the erection of this hospital and about $30,000 will be spent on the ground, the balance to be used for building purposes. Anywhere from one to five acres may be selected.

Mr. Wheaton, when seen yesterday, declined to discuss the plans of the commission, as Mr. Garland was the chairman. He, however, said: "The law on the subject about the location is plain and we will only examine properties in the city of Pittsburgh, as the law distinctly says that it must be erected within the city limits. Persons who did not offer properties when the bids were opened on September 2, but have since offered them, will be given equal opportunities. Every piece of property submitted for sale will be examined. It is quite natural that the hospitals should be within easy access of the rivers.

Will Decide Here.

"I presume that before the commission leaves Pittsburgh, it will make its recommendations in reference to the most available sites. The report will be made to the secretary of the treasury and all information on this subject must come from him."

Congressman Dalzell introduced the bill in congress granting the money with which to purchase suitable grounds and erect buildings. The rivermen of Pittsburgh have long contended that they were entitled to a hospital. As many as 65 patients have been confined in the marine hospital at one time and the number of patients treated at the hospital and the government building runs 1,100 a year. The nearest marine hospital is at Gallipolis, O.

The sites that have been offered the government, their owners and the prices are as follows:

Many Sites Offered.

Barr Bros. & Co., 5 acres, at Reed street and Breckinridge avenue, $65,000, and 4 acres at the same place, $80,000; Oliver M. Cassidy, lot 290x360, Wallace street and Breckinridge avenue, $33,000, and lot 360x338, Berthold and Wallace streets and Breckinridge avenue, $35,000; F. W. Barker, lot 235x370, Second and Trenton avenues and Elizabeth street, $4,5000; Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company, lot 400x200x480x287, Bedford avenue and Ridge, Watt and Junilla streets, $40,000; Ross White, lot 214x180, Grand View avenue, Junila lane and Bigham street, $28,400; George W. McCallam, lot 200x200, Forbes street and Shady avenue, $70,000, and lot 345x477, Bedford and Ridge streets, $52,000, and lot 172x245, Fortieth and Fisk street, $21,000, and lot 125x245, Fortieth and Fisk streets, $28,000; R. Stansbury Sutton, 8 acres, Morningside avenue and Highland park, $60,000; C. C. Hamilton, 5 acres, Eighteenth ward, $20,000; I. R. Whittaker, 2½ acres, location not given, $8,000; Kirk Q. Bigham, lot 490x285, Bibham, La Belle, and Omaha streets and Virginia avenue, $25,000; C. T. Brown, lot 60x190, 229 Grand avenue, $17,000. Proposals have also been received from W. H. Brown, W. G. Negley, Black & Baird and the Union Realty Company.

READING INCREASES PRICE OF ANTHRACITE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 23.—In view of the resumption of the mining of anthracite coal the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company tonight issued the following statement:

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Mr. C. E. Henderson, general manager:

Dear sir—The reports of the superintendents in charge of the mines show that, as a result of the strike, the mines and mining plants have sustained considerable injury, and their respective working organizations have been impaired. For some time to come the collieries cannot be worked to produce the average quantity of coal. This will increase the cost of production. Estimates have been submitted showing the probable increase in cost per ton at the several groups of collieries. The general average exceeds 50 cents per ton.

You will therefore, add to the circular price 50 cents per ton—this additional price to continue till January 1, 1903, by which time we hope to reach a normal condition of mining and production.

Notwithstanding the fact that during the strike no coal was sold by our company at an advance over the circular price, the price has been unreasonably advanced to the public by some retail dealers. In the distribution of the coal, therefore, you will so far as practical supply the dealers who are willing to sell coal to the public at reasonable prices. Where dealers seek to obtain an unfair profit from the public, you will promptly take steps to supply the reasonable demands of the public directly. Yours truly,

GEO. F. BAER, President.

The Supremacy of the People.

On November 4 the policy of the government for the state of Pennsylvania will be determined by the people. By the majority of the people of Western Pennsylvania the Keystone Commercial Co., 55-59 Carson street, have been indorsed as the largest jobbing house for eggs, also grain, hay and millfeed; their unsurpassed facilities for economical handling of these commodities, both rail and river, excels all others.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25TH

IS THE DAY ON WHICH WILL OCCUR THE GREAT SALE OF LOTS IN CHADWICK ANNEX.

CHADWICK!

THE REAL ESTATE MARVEL!

THESE CARS NOW RUNNING OVER LINCOLN BRIDGE, CONNECTING THE "PEOPLE'S BANK" WITH THE REST OF THE EAST END.

We call Chadwick the "People's Bank" because so many people are putting their money into it, and because it is the best bank that money can be put into. You cannot get the same amount of interest on your money from any other bank. To prove this ask the people who have bought or live in Chadwick. Ask some of them what they have been offered for their purchases. You will then understand why we are entitled to call Chadwick the "People's Bank."

The best evidence that Chadwick is worthy of being styled the biggest interest-paying bank in existence are one hundred instances similar to the ones which we shall now recite:

We resold Lot No. 456 for one of our customers Monday at an advance of $700 more than he paid for it, and received a letter from a lady in Columbus, O., who owns Lot No. 84 not to accept less than $600 for this lot, for which she paid only $425. Lot No. 542 that was purchased for $325 has been resold for $700.

Get a Lot Free!

Read a proposition that's going to raise excitement!

One of the features in this great lot sale that can't fail to arouse enthusiasm will be the giving away of three lots in this beautiful East End residential section. These lots are priced at $400, $350 and $250 respectively.

Promptly at 11 A. M. the bell of the Lemington Avenue School House will peal forth same as the fire alarm the plan number of the first lot that is to be given away.

When the bell has ceased ringing the party who stands on the lot bearing the number proclaimed by the school bell will be made a present of that lot free of all charge.

If there be no one on the lot, then the party who is standing nearest to it will be awarded the lot in question.

If there be two or more persons on the lot bearing the winning number, then the individual who happens at that particular moment to have the largest amount of United States money in his pocket will be counted the winner.

Promptly at 3 o'clock the second lot will be given away on exactly the same terms and conditions. Precisely at 4 P. M. the third lot will be given away in a like manner and under like circumstances.

Remember, this is not a lottery scheme. There will be no favoritism shown. Take note of the fact that we do not state "the purchaser who stands on the lot." Therefore the chance is open to everybody.

Bear in mind that this Free-Gift proposition is different from most free-gift propositions. It is not a reduction in prices under the name of "free-gift." Instead of cutting prices we have been compelled to continually advance them against our own will in fairness to ourselves, demonstrating that we opened and have maintained our property at prices that mean a growing investment for our customers.

It never does to make prices at the start higher than the property has advanced to in value. It is better to make them lower, like we did. Then you get the confidence of the public. Besides, under our procedure, you don't have to wait years and years to make a profit. Real estate promoters must remember that the public is not asleep. Offering thousands of dollars in prizes is as attractive as it looks. But how does it look? It tells investors what they want to know before they investigate.

It's Wonderfully Located!

You get a comprehensive idea of just where Chadwick is located when we tell you that it is in the Twenty-first Ward, fronting on Lincoln Avenue, only a stone's throw from the Lemington Avenue Public School Building, commanding an unobstructed view of Highland Park and the reservoirs. It will be but a step from the beautiful park that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has offered as an inducement to have the city vacate a street that it will require to complete its route. This park will be 95 acres in extent, located between Chadwick and the Beechwood Boulevard.

The cars marked "East Liberty via Center Avenue," passing the property every three minutes, make the run from Chadwick to the City without transfer in 32 minutes.

If you get on the Frankstown Avenue line you can get transfer to Lincoln, and on returning to city you can get transfer to any car going either East or West.

$100 to $650

There will be no lots offered at a higher price than $650. We mean that there will be none offered at a higher price than $650 while this sale lasts. We reserve the right to raise prices on any of the unsold lots.

The Terms Are 10 Per Cent Down. Balance $6 to $15 a Month. 10 Per Cent Discount for Cash.

It's the Real East End!

In thinking about making a purchase in Chadwick Annex you want to consider that it will not be long now until the purchase of vacant property in the East End will become an impossibility. At least there will be none of it offered at prices that anybody except the very wealthy can afford to pay. We are speaking now of what can truthfully be called East End property. Some promoters term anything east "East End." But we do not have to stretch a point to call Chadwick Place East End property. It is not only East End property, but it is the most accessible East End property. It is surrounded by the landmarks which stamp quality upon a community.

The most remarkable thing about Chadwick Annex is the fact that its promoters are willing to sell it at popular prices and upon easy terms. Most owners of large tracts of East End holdings want fancy prices. They know what the future is going to be and usually won't sell unless they can get a premium.

Take "East Liberty via Center Avenue" Cars at Fifth Ave. and Wood St. Direct to Chadwick.

SENATOR QUAY IN TOWN TODAY

JUDGE COHEN DEFENDED

His Friends Take Exceptions to the Report Made on Him by Civic League—Many Meetings Held.

Extensive preparations have been made for the political mass meeting to be held in the Carnegie Music hall, Schenley park, this evening, in the interest of the Republican state ticket. Recorder Brown, as chairman of the so-called Republican city committee of Pittsburgh, will preside. The machine organization, of which he is one of the principal managers, will have a place on the program for a local speaker who will say a word or two urging the election of the machine's county and legislative tickets, although it is understood that the promise has been given that he is to talk chiefly on state and national issues.

Senator Quay is announced as the principal attraction at this meeting. The local speaker referred to will do well to confine himself to state and national issues, for he will not be able to fool the "Old Man" by shooting off on any other course. State Chairman Quay knows that the interests of neither the state nor the nation will be injured by the defeat of the machine's county ticket.

Senator Quay's Program Today.

Word was received at the Sixth avenue headquarters of the machine organization yesterday from Senator Quay that he would arrive in Pittsburgh at 10 o'clock this morning; that he would go to the Hotel Duquesne, where he always stops while in Pittsburgh, and would be joined there by W. H. Wilson, director of the Philadelphia Commercial museums, who is to be one of the speakers tonight. Senator Quay and Director Wilson will meet several men with whom they have engagements at the Hotel Duquesne this morning.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Senator Quay and Mr. Wilson will go to the Hotel Schenley, where they will be joined by Congressman Dalzell, who is also to speak this evening. Under the auspices of the county organization a reception will be tendered these three men, the same continuing until 6 o'clock, when they will be dined, after which they will be escorted to the Music hall.

James F. Burke, candidate for congress in the Thirty-first district, will be the local speaker. It is reported that his talk will be quite dignified and in keeping with the character of the speeches to be made by others, and that he will omit all abuse of the man he is opposing, H. Kirke Porter, the Citizens-Democratic nominee.

Judge Cohen's Friends Except.

The friends of Judge Josiah Cohen think the comments of the Voter's Civic league are unfair and unjustified. They say that one very complete answer to the statements concerning Judge Cohen's attainments and fitness for the position he now holds, and to which he aspires to be elected, is the fact that among the letters sent to Gov. Stone urging Judge Cohen's appointment were a number from members of this very same Voter's Civic league, and that certainly nothing has occurred since to change their opinions except the influences of a political campaign. As to Judge Cohen's legal ability, all his friends desire is, that any one who may doubt it should ask any lawyer in whom confidence is reposed concerning the same.

Citizens Meetings Everywhere.

Citizens party mass meetings were held last night as follows: North End school, Meyran avenue, Allegheny; Lawson's hall, Crafton; Turner hall, South Thirteenth street; Fourth ward school house, and Commercial hall, No. 145 Fulton street, Pittsburgh, and at Ben Avon hall, Ben Avon. A joint meeting of the Citizens party and Democrats was held at the National garden, Sharon street, Twenty-seventh ward.

Citizens mass meetings will be held tonight in the Carnegie auditorium, Braddock; Holmes school, Fourteenth ward; Brushton school, Thirty-seventh ward; Maennerchor hall, Thirty-second ward; American Mechanics' hall, Ingram; Moon Run public school; Franklin school, Seventh ward; Webster school, Plum township, and W. C. T. U. hall, Carnegie.

A big Democratic meeting was held in the Soho school house, Fourteenth ward, last night. A Democratic meeting will be held tonight in the Morningside public school and tomorrow night in Hanna's hall, Butler street.

Registry Lists Cleaned.

A hearing was held yesterday in the matter of the petition filed in common pleas court No. 3 by E. F. Peterson for a correction of the registry list of the First district of the Fifth ward. The court struck out 64 names, it being conceded for the defense that most of these names were wrongfully on the list. George W. Newcomer, the assessor of the district, filed his answer, in which he states that he carefully and legally performed his duties, and that since the registration he has learned that some of the persons whose names were on the list have recently moved. By agreement of counsel a large number of names included in the 64 were stricken off.

ROCKEFELLER'S THANKS.

They Take the Practical Form of a Conditional Gift of Half a Million to Teachers' College.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—John D. Rockefeller today gave $500,000 to the teachers' college of Columbia university. This is the largest amount he has ever given at one time to any single institution outside of the university of Chicago.

Mr. Rockefeller makes the donation, he said in a letter to James Earl Russell, dean of the college, "as a thank offering to Almighty God for the preservation of his family and household on the occasion of the destruction by fire of his country home at Pocantico Hills, N. Y., on the night of September 17, 1902."

Like all of the oil man's gifts to educational institutions, this one is contingent. The college must pay off its debt of $190,000. Then it is to get $250,000, or half of the Rockefeller donation. Then the college must raise $250,000 more for endowment funds. To this Mr. Rockefeller will add $250,000. The second half of the fund will be paid by Mr. Rockefeller in $25,000 installments, as the treasurer of the college receives the contingent money in equal amounts.

AMERICAN IDEA WINS.

Shanghai and Other Chinese Territory to Be Evacuated by Powers.

PARIS, Oct. 23.—France, Great Britain and Germany have concluded an agreement for the military evacuation of Shanghai. The negotiations also have brought about an important extension of the open door policy, as urged by Secretary Hay.

The agreement affects the entire Yang-Tse-Kiang valley, which the powers are seeking to develop for commercial purposes. The evacuation will take place by January 1.

MASCAGNI'S "IRIS" A GEM OF PUREST BEAUTY

It Is Japanese in Color and Theme—Sung by Fine Cast.

A lamentably small audience greeted the closing performance of the Mascagni engagement at Duquesne garden last evening. This would not have been the case if Pittsburgh music lovers had been alive to the charm and beauty of this hitherto unheard composition of the young Maestro. "Iris" is both a novelty and a revelation. "Iris," is in our judgment, the first Oriental grand opera libretto that has ever found proper expression in the music provided for it. The book is Japanese and has been made over for grand opera purposes by Signor Luigi Illica. That it is a translation is evident all through the dialogue, the translator in some instances not even taking the trouble to change the Japanese idiom. The story is an extremely serious, not to say tragical one, and concerns the bold abduction of a young Japanese girl by two vagabond "gentlemen" of Japan, a class numerous in that country in former days. The first act disclosed "Iris," who is anxious about her sick doll baby. The abductors appear and after charming her with a geisha show from the side of her blind father. In the second act she is in the hands of her captors, who plan to make merchandise of her beauty. Her old father appears and believing her guilty of deserting him, wilfully curses her and throws mud upon her.

Driven mad by the sorrows and griefs that beset her, Iris jumps into the river. When drawn out of the water she revives for a space but shortly sinks into death singing to the sun as she passes away. This theme is simple, but marvelously quaint and tragical. Mascagni has taken it and woven a music score around the Oriental story that fairly pulsates with splendid color and life. The prelude which is supposed to be an ascription to the sun as it slowly rises over the gloom of night, is one of the most entrancing music creations in all the range of harmony. If Mascagni had never written but this one score he would still be a composer worthy of world-wide renown. This prelude is the key to the entire score. The music descending in scale speaks the darkness of night. By the change to an octave lower the darkness and solitude seems to deepen. A move upward of an octave shows the first ray of light and on forward until the splendid orchestration reveals the soul of the sun and indites its triumphant advance above the horizon.

It is this spirit that underlies and beautifies the entire score. Though there is much crashing of brasses, a favorite method of reaching a climax by the composer, there is always the sub tones of trembling strings or the whispering of flutes to carry forward the theme. The cast last evening was excellent. Mafia Fanleti has a sweetly liquid voice if it be not distinguished. Pietro Schivarzi has a tenor voice of fine volume, and in some moments he rose to heights of real grandeur. Francesco Navarrina was also thoroughly satisfying, both as to voice and dramatic fervor. Mascagni directed with more vigor than on Wednesday night, and his control of his orchestra was well nigh perfect.

The Wednesday night bill, "Zanetto" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," was repeated at the matinee yesterday to an appreciative if not large audience. There were some changes in the cast, very much for the better in the case of Allio, which was sung with fire and passion by Carlo Caffeto. Mme. Pinto sang the role of Santuzza with much dramatic fervor.

MORGAN CONSULTED.

Other Stockholders of Great Northern Were Ignored in Northern Securities Deal Says Clough.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 23.—The hearing in the suit of the United States against the Northern Securities Company was concluded late this afternoon and an adjournment taken to New York, November 10.

The hearing in this city lasted four days, Presidents Hill of the Great Northern, Harris of the Burlington and Mellen of the Northern Pacific, being the principal witnesses. Today's witnesses were Col. W. P. Clough, counsel for the Northern Securities Company, and President Mellen. Nearly the entire day was devoted to the former, the government attorneys paying particular attention to the matter of rates and joint rates, various schedules of tariffs having been introduced into the record.

Col. Clough denied that the Northern Pacific stockholders had been consulted before the articles of the Northern Securities Company were filed, but admitted that J. Pierpont Morgan, a large holder of Northern Pacific, D. Willis James and other holders in both roads had been consulted before articles were filed and had consented to put their stock in a holding company.

ROOSEVELT AGAIN WELL.

Planning a Series of Trips But Obliged to Decline Invitation to Mississippi Bear Hunt.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt has now fully recovered from the effects of his recent injury at Pittsfield and the subsequent operations upon his wounded leg, and is planning several short trips northward.

His first trip will be to Oyster Bay to vote, with a short stop-over in Philadelphia on the return. He has accepted also an invitation to attend the annual banquet of the New York chamber of commerce, November 11. He will be accompanied to New York by Secretary Cortelyou, and will return to Washington immediately after the banquet. He has promised to be present at the founders' day banquet of the Union league, Philadelphia, November 22.

The pressure of public business and work upon his forthcoming message to congress will prevent him from accepting a most tempting invitation for a bear hunt with the governor of Mississippi the latter part of November.

Four Men Injured.

Four men were injured yesterday at the lower Allegheny plant of the Pressed Steel Car Company. Reese Jones of No. 26 Shady avenue was struck in the stomach with a sledge hammer, by a man working beside him on a new car. The other three were injured by being caught under heavy steel plates which were toppled over by the jar of a passing engine. They are Stephen Choul of 308 Preble avenue; Michael Brekl of 6 Benton street and John Corey of 38 Petrel street.

PAID TRIBUTE TO HEROIC DEAD

Patriotic Services in First Presbyterian Church for Revolutionary Soldiers.

SIX BODIES RE-INTERRED

Sons and Daughters of American Revolution Honor Memory of Their Ancestors—Impressive Scenes in Cemetery.

Patriotic tribute was paid yesterday to several of Pittsburgh's founders who battled for American independence, and whose dust was lately removed from the ancient tombs in the old burial ground of the First Presbyterian church. A memorial service was held in the church under the direction of the local chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution and the congregation, preceding the removal of the bodies of Gen. John Neville, Mrs. Winifred Neville, his wife; Maj. Isaac Craig, his son-in-law, and Col. James Johnston to the Allegheny cemetery for reinterment.

Before the pulpit reposed the four flag-draped caskets; at the sides were the banners of the societies, the bright colors, especially those of the nation's emblem, standing out brightly against the dark background the silken standards had. In the way of floral decorations were the seals of the societies, wrought of immortelles and standing on easels. On each flag-draped casket was a wreath of palms.

Young America on Guard.

Round about the caskets stood a guard of honor recruited from the ranks of the Boys' Brigade of the Church of the Ascension. The service throughout was marked by sacred and patriotic fervor. Representatives of Pittsburgh's oldest and most prominent families attended to do reverence to the memory of Revolutionary ancestors of six generations past.

The Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, pastor of the First church, presided and spoke on behalf of those early founders and officials of the First Presbyterian church, whose dust had been gathered from the churchyard graves. The Rev. Dr. R. S. Holmes, chaplain of the Pittsburgh chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution, read a historical paper dealing with the deeds of the honored dead, and the Rev. Dr. Matthew B. Riddle of the Western Theological seminary, spoke on the intrepid devotion of the women to the patriot cause in the trying times of the Revolution.

The services opened with a rendition of Handel's "Largo" on the organ. Dr. Alexander offered a short patriotic prayer, and the assemblage then sang "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." During the course of the service the choir of the church sang two appropriate selections.

An Appeal for Patriotism.

In closing his address Dr. Alexander made an eloquent appeal for the reawakening of patriotic ardor in civil and ecclesiastical life. "The one thing that is need in this country," he said, "is the revival of true patriotism—patriotism in the hearts of men and women. Patriotism does not exist alone in war; it should be responsive not only to the sound of martial music and the clash of arms, but should be called forth by the recital of the deeds of those who made our glorious freedom possible, and should spring forth from our hearts spontaneously in our daily lives."

At the close of the addresses Sergt. Howard Boas of the guard of honor stepped to the rear of the caskets and sounded taps, the soft sweet notes of the bugle sounding strangely in the mingling echoes from the somber recesses of the vaulted ceiling. When the bugle's music had died away the congregation stood with bowed heads while the caskets were borne out upon the shoulders of the military guard.

Re-Interment in Allegheny Cemetery.

The procession to the street was headed by the three divines and a committee from the Sons of the American Revolution, while the great organ breathed the sad strains of Chopin's funeral march. On leaving the church two caskets bearing the remains of Mrs. Mary Johnston, wife of Col. Johnston, and Alexander Johnston, Col. Johnston's son, which had been disinterred some time ago, were placed in hearses and taken to the cemetery to be buried in the general ceremony.

An Indian summer haze veiled the deep solitude of the cemetery as the long caravan of hearses and carriages wound its way through the gathering gloom toward the Craig family plot on the summit of Mt. Barney. Silently the three caskets containing the remains of Gen. Neville, Mrs. Neville and Maj. Craig were carried to the three parallel graves under the shadow of the time-worn monument over the resting place of Amelia Neville Craig, wife of Maj. Craig. While the bugle sounded a patriotic requiem, and the echoes rang with the volleys of the firing squad, the coffins were lowered.

Full Military Honors.

The benediction was pronounced by Dr. Riddle and the assemblage departed to the Johnston plot, near the Penn avenue entrance, where the other caskets were interred in the green turf on the hillside. Here the same military ceremony was observed and the final invocation was made by Dr. Alexander.

The committee of the Sons of the American Revolution consisted of W. L. Jones, R. W. Gutherie, J. C. Chalfant, H. D. Sellers, F. G. Paulson, Thomas S. Brown and Neville C. Davidson. A number of members of the Pittsburgh chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution also attended. Among those from out of town was George Cassatt, a son of President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad, who is a descendant of Col. Johnston.

East End Lots at Bargain Prices.

The well-known Keystone Realty Company, 311-312 Keystone building, will on Saturday, October 25, open up one of the best located tracts of land in the East End. The property is located upon Stanton avenue, upon the high ground overlooking Highland park, and has the advantage over most of the tracts now offered in that Stanton avenue is paved and has all the improvements. These again the long-looked for connecting link between the East End and Lawrenceville being an assured fact, the street cars will pass the property early next year, there can be little doubt that any property along the line of this extension will advance very rapidly in value.

The present owners of the property purchased it at such an advantageous price that they are enabled to offer it to the public at less than half the price the adjoining property is held at. There can be little doubt that any person who is fortunate enough to purchase a lot at this sale will make a most profitable investment.

The company's salesmen will be on the property all day Saturday prepared to answer all questions and lend a hand prospective purchaser in every possible way. In order to reach the property it is only necessary to take a Negley avenue car or a Butler street car, get off at Stanton avenue, where the company's automobiles will be in waiting to conduct you the short distance to the property.

Buy Furs Right.

There's Furs and Furs

and probably there's no other line of goods that the average buyer knows so little about—not the styles particularly—one can keep in touch with the styles—but the skins, their putting together and linings, and workmanship—the distinguishing between genuine and imitation, etc.

Our experience is worth much to the buyer in this way—we are experts—and you know our record.

There are many popular and stylish Furs used this season, among them the following are leaders: Siberian Squirrel, Natural Lynx, Russian and Hudson Bay Sables, Blended Baum Marten, Mink Sables, Blue and Black Lynx, and the various Foxes.

We cannot specialize the many styles, but want you to see the elegant Long Stoles we're showing in the different furs—they are certainly beautiful and withal very moderately priced.

JUDGE EXCLUDES BARNET LETTERS

Acts Under Ruling of Court of Appeals That They Are Incompetent.

HECKMAN ON THE STAND

Not Allowed to Tell of Their Receipt in Private Letter Box by Molineux—District Attorney Is Persistent.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 23.—A strong point was scored by the defense in the trial of Roland B. Molineux today when Justice Lambert ruled out the Barnet letters. Justice Lambert decided that as evidence the letters must be excluded as improper, but that he was willing to admit them simply as a standard of comparison in handwriting. The counsel for the defense were highly pleased with this decision, is in line with that of the court of appeals, which held that the testimony relative to the letters, given at the first trial was irrelevant.

Nicholas A. Heckman, who kept letter boxes at 257 West Forty-second street, testified in the last trial that Molineux rented a letter box from him and received 20 or more letters addressed "H. C. Barnet." As soon as Mr. Osborne asked him about those letters ex-Gov. Black objected.

Mr. Osborne attempted to explain and again counsel for the defense objected.

Evidence Is Excluded.

"I object," he said, "to counsel making any explanation in the hearing of the jury."

"I exclude the evidence," ruled the court.

"I think I can convince your honor," Mr. Osborne said, "that the letters are competent."

Counsel approached the bench and began to speak in an undertone.

"Never mind," said the court, "I remember all about it. Under the direction of the court of appeals the Barnet series of letters were excluded as improper as evidence. Despite that ruling I was willing to admit those letters as standard of comparisons in handwriting, because I did not regard such admission as a violation of the court of appeals' decision, but any further use of them would violate the ruling, and I will not permit it."

Matthias Dodde, from Tiffany & Co., testified that the defendant had an account there in December, 1898. He identified the small card in the envelope and pasteboard box which were in the poison package and said there is no way of tracing such goods to any particular account.

All Envelopes Look Alike.

Like envelopes are given free to any one who makes a purchase and asks for an envelope in which to enclose a card.

Felix Gallagher, who Cornish thought had written the Harpster letter signed "H. Cornish," was the next witness.

Gallagher said he did not know that Molineux disliked Harpster. At the last trial he testified that he did know it, and Mr. Osborne confronted him with his former testimony. Gallagher said he did not remember giving such testimony, but he supposed it was true if he said it.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR FIELD DAY PROGRAM

Grand Commander Will Be Here and Review Division in Schenley Park.

William J. Diehl, commander of division No. 2, Knights Templar of Pennsylvania, issued an order announcing the appointment of his officers and fixing several of the details for the field day the Knights Templar will hold in Schenley park next Wednesday afternoon.

The appointments are as follows: Adjutant general and chief of staff, William H. Davis, Tancred commandery; officer of the day, Harry T. Rowley, Duquesne commandery; aids, William E. Early and F. Horace S. Ritter, Pittsburgh commandery; W. F. Borchers, De Molay gheny commandery; J. J. Miller and George T. Ghreist, Tancred; Charles F. Sheriff, Ascalon; R. W. Thompson, Duquesne; S. B. Hays and George T. Carsten, Chartiers; John D. Berryman and William B. Bryar, McKean; personal aids to grand commander, Ezra S. Bartlett and George S. Ward, Duquesne.

The mounted division of Pittsburgh commandery has been detailed as an escort to the grand commander and will take him from the Hotel Schenley to the race track oval prior to the ceremonies and bring him back to the hotel at the close of the day.

The principal events of the afternoon will be the dress parade in the oval at 4 o'clock and a review by the grand commander from a stand near the Phipps conservatory. The band at the dress parade will consist of 142 pieces made up from the best five bands in the city.

Prior to the dress parade the commanderies, all of which will have headquarters in tents at the oval, will entertain their friends.

Grand Commander Bartlett will reach Pittsburgh on Tuesday evening from Charleroi, where he is to constitute McKean commandery at noon. He and his party will be taken to the Duquesne theater that night. Wednesday morning they will be given a trolley ride, the private car "Pittsburgh" having been placed at Mr. Diehl's disposal by President Callery of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. The afternoon will be spent in the park and in the evening the officers of division No. 2 will give the grand commander a dinner at the Hotel Schenley which will be attended by about 200 guests.

DR. GLADDEN RE-ELECTED.

American Missionary Association of Congregational Church Chooses Officers and Adjourns.

NEW LONDON, CONN., Oct. 13.—The convention of the American Missionary association came to an end tonight, after President Washington Gladden of Ohio, who was re-elected today, had delivered the annual address.

In addition to President Gladden these officers were elected: Recording secretary, the Rev. Asher Anderson, Massachusetts; corresponding secretaries, The Rev. A. F. Beard, the Rev. F. P. Woodbury and the Rev. C. J. Ryder, all of New York; treasurer, H. W. Hubbard, New York.

Among the papers read at the morning session was one by Secretary C. J. Ryder. He stated that the income from the churches this year was $2,795 less than than for the average for the last three years. Sunday schools show an increase of $904. Endeavor societies have increased their gifts $230. The year shows an increase from individuals of $7,973, above the average for the last three years.

LATEST NEWS OF NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

TWO POSTOFFICES ROBBED OF BIG SUMS

Normalville and Indian Head Are Visited by Same Gang on Same Night.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 23.—Burglars made two successful hauls last night at Normalville and Indian Head. The general store and postoffice conducted by G. W. Campbell at Normalville, was robbed of several hundred dollars in money, besides a large amount of merchandise.

The gang then drove to Indian Head, where the store and postoffice, conducted by H. L. Sparks & Sons, was looted of $250 in money and $500 worth of drygoods and shoes.

The robbers have been tracked north into the mountains and officers believe they will capture them before morning.

SCATCHERD PRESIDENT.

Baptist Education Society at Greensburg Elects Officers and Then Adjourns.

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—At the closing session of the Baptist Educational society this morning the following officers were elected: President, George E. Scatcherd, Philadelphia; corresponding secretary and general agent, the Rev. Leroy Stephens, D. D.; recording secretary, the Rev. J. C. Walker, D. D.; treasurer, E. L. Tustin.

Miss Francis M. Schuyler of Philadelphia told of the work being done in the missionary training school in the Quaker City and Prof. H. C. Dixon read a paper setting forth the scope of the Mt. Pleasant institute.

The Rev. J. M. Moore of Wilkinsburg gave an address on "The Relation of the Evangelistic Spirit to the Prosperity of the Churches." In his closing address the Rev. B. F. Woodburn, Allegheny, indorsed what was told him by a labor leader in Pittsburgh, who said he objected to the churches because they spent their efforts in trying to keep men out of hell, instead of keeping hell out of men.

Ohio Baptists Elect Officers.

ELYRIA, O., Oct. 23.—The Ohio Baptist convention today elected the following officers: President, W. H. Doane, Cincinnati; vice president, Charles T. Lewis, Toledo; corresponding secretary, the Rev. George E. Leonard, Granville; recording secretary, the Rev. E. A. Read, Martins Ferry; treasurer, the Rev. E. S. Colwell, Granville.

MINE BECOMES MINER'S TOMB.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Another unsuccessful attempt to recover the body of Jack Peebles, the miner who was killed in the Port Royal mine disaster more than a year ago, was made today. The company has become discouraged at the many unsuccessful attempts to recover the body and will seal up all the old leads and chambers, thus converting that portion of the mine into a tomb.

RUNAWAY AUTOMOBILE PLUNGES WITH ITS OCCUPANTS INTO RIVER

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Fred H. Payne, a member of the New York stock exchange and a broker in this city, and R. H. Harry, a business man of New York, narrowly escaped death this afternoon while occupants of a runaway automobile. They had made an exceptionally fast run to Jersey Shore and just as they were preparing to return home the chauffeur lost control of the machine. It ran forward and backward and finally chased down a 30-foot embankment into the river. Harry jumped and escaped injury. Mr. Payne was thrown into the water and did not get out until nearly drowned.

LIKES THE FAMILY.

Christopher Stephens, Aged 75, of Fayette City, Marries His Sister-in-Law, Aged 76.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FAYETTE CITY, PA., Oct. 23.—Christopher Stephens, a widely-known farmer, aged 75 years, living near here, was married today to Mrs. Sarah Watson of Flatwoods, aged 70. Mr. Stephens' first wife has been dead little more than a year, and the bride is her sister.

Mr. Stephens, his only brother and sister, married into the same family, leaving but one girl in the latter family to go elsewhere to choose a partner.

She married Mr. Watson, who died 10 years ago. Mr. Stephens went back to the same family to choose his second wife.

Forty-Ninth Holds Reunion.

HUNTINGDON, PA., Oct. 23.—The 21st reunion of the Forty-ninth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, was held today. Officers elected are: President, W. H. Taylor, Bellefonte; vice president, Capt. B. H. Sweeney, West Chester; secretary, R. S. Westbrook, Altoona; assistant secretary, R. B. Minnehan; treasurer, J. B. Barton, Juniata county; chaplain, Capt. Joseph B. Downing, Philadelphia. Lewistown was selected for the next place of meeting.

BATTLE WITH KNIVES.

Two Italians Meet in Street in Butler and Hostilities Are Soon Begun.

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—As the result of a duel with stilettos in the street tonight, John Musaller, an Italian baker, is dying in the hospital, and Mike Portaller, an Italian laborer, is hiding from the officers.

The men had a dispute this afternoon and when they met tonight drew weapons and began a fearful struggle. The fight took place in Wayne street, near the Willard hotel, and was witnessed by many people.

It was but a few minutes until Musaller staggered into the doorway of a livery stable and fell. He had a stab wound in the stomach, another in the right side and his face was slashed.

New Singing Society.

GROVE CITY, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Mozart Singverein is the name given a new singing society organized here. The following are the officers: President, W. S. McKay; vice president, A. C. WOOSTER, O.—Over 200 young women are here from all parts of Ohio as delegates to the eighteenth annual convention of the Ohio College Young Women's Christian association. The convention will be in session until Sunday evening.

HUNTERS DRIVE QUAIL TO ROOST IN TOWN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 23.—The hunting season in Washington and Greene counties is on in full force and hunters report that never before has game been so plentiful. Hunters by the hundred are scouring this county for quail and other game, and the farmers are becoming alarmed at the ravages upon their territory.

The farmers of Cecil township have banded together under an organization known as the Cecil Township Farmers' Protective association, and have printed notices warning all huntsmen to keep off their properties.

Reports from Waynesburg state that Greene county is also overrun with hunters. So fierce is the onslaught there that quail and other birds are taking refuge in the streets of Waynesburg, where they lodge in the trees on the streets in an effort to get away from the hunter and his gun.

The quail in this section are somewhat small but very plentiful.

COKE TAKES SLUMP.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Connellsville Courier will say tomorrow:

Coke production in the Connellsville region last week was less than the preceding week, and still much of it was stocked in the already crowded yards. Shipments show a loss of 980 cars.

More than $10 a ton has been offered for coke at the ovens during the past week. Little of it, if any, however, has been sold at that figure.

The report for the week ended Saturday, October 18, shows a total estimated production of 256,321 tons, compared with 256,521 tons the previous week. The active ovens number 21,116 and 661 are idle.

Shipments last week were 10,582 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river tipples, 3,793 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 4,767 cars; to points east of Connellsville, 2,020 cars.

In the Lower Connellsville region 3,764 ovens are active and 172 idle. The total estimated tonnage was 48,204, a gain of 300 tons over the week before.

ONE REGIMENT WILL SOON QUIT

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 23.—Brigade headquarters today instructed the Twelfth regiment at North Scranton to make up its pay rolls to and including October 25. This is taken as a strong indication that the regiment will be started home Saturday.

"All Sorts," and ONE

There have been all sorts of Watch Cases put on the market in recent years, masquerading as "Filled;" the real Filled Case—The

JAS. BOSS Stiffened GOLD Watch Case

has been made for 49 years. None of the "all sorts" had been born when the Boss Case had "come of age." It is the only "Filled" Case whose guarantee has been established by actual trial. "All sorts" are guaranteed to wear 25 years; but the Boss is the only Filled Case that has worn so long. Thousands of Boss Cases have survived 40 years' wear. HARPER'S MAGAZINE

FOR NOVEMBER

John Fiske on Evolution

By far the most important of the posthumous essays of the late John Fiske is the article on "Evolution and the Present Age," which appears in Harper's for November. It is a masterly handling of an intensely interesting subject. The great philosopher's last work—it sets right many hitherto misunderstood ideas as to Darwin and the theory of evolution.

Short Stories.

There are eight short stories in the November Magazine. Among them are strong stories by Alice Brown and Anne O'Hagan, and one of Herman Whitaker's delightfully amusing Scotch stories; a New England story by Sarah Orne Jewett, a story of a dog by Esther Tiffany, and a tender little story of a child by Annie Hamilton Donnell. The new installment of "Lady Rose's Daughter" is one of great dramatic interest.

Illustrations in Color.

There are sixteen pages of pictures in color in the November Magazine. The frontispiece is by Andre Castaigne. E. M. Ashe has made paintings in color to illustrate an amusing New England story, and Elizabeth Shippen Green has done a charming series of color pictures for a story of a small boy. Walter Appleton Clark contributes a number of strong pictures in tint.

Serious Articles.

INTERCHANGEABLE MILEAGE BOOK IN EAST NOW SEEMS ASSURED

"The prospects for interchangeable mileage in trunk line territory are decidedly encouraging," said D. B. Martin, passenger traffic manager of the Baltimore & Ohio system, yesterday afternoon at the Baltimore & Ohio depot. "Everything is tending in that direction. There is no real opposition to the plan, although some roads, which already have an interchangeable mileage of their own, naturally are not so enthusiastic as others. It will require a little time, probably, but the plan is likely to win.

"This mileage will apply only in the territory east of Pittsburgh and Buffalo. There are serious objections to a mileage, good in both trunk line and central territory, that is, good from New York to Chicago or St. Louis. It could not be arranged with books of 2,000 miles. It would require 3,000 or 5,000 mile books to make this pay the railroads."

Mr. Martin, accompanied by his family, was returning from a two weeks' trip to Denver and the west. He stopped in Pittsburgh only for the afternoon.

"It has been 10 years since I went over as much of the western lines and the improvement of the western railroads in that time is remarkable," he said. "A speed of 50 or 60 miles is kept up right along by the through passenger trains."

While here yesterday Mr. Martin held a conference with E. D. Smith, assistant general passenger agent of the system with headquarters at Pittsburgh. The time card meeting of the Baltimore & Ohio will be held Thursday next. Mr. Martin says there are no new trains to be introduced now. The question of restoring the service between Pittsburgh and Cleveland, on trains 9 and 10, will come up, and will be strongly urged.

COMPLETING ITS PLANS.

Fuller Syndicate Pays Over the $15,000,000 for West Virginia Control.

Although little has been heard of the Fuller syndicate for several months, its plans are progressing rapidly. This syndicate, as the Gould purchaser of the Western Maryland and the West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh, is now consolidating the two purchases. Within a day or two $15,000,000 has been paid by the syndicate for the Davis-Elkins interest in the West Virginia Central, which had been under option for eight or 10 months. Of the entire price, $3,000,000 was paid last winter. This stock will be transferred to the Western Maryland Railroad Company, which will then be the owner of the West Virginia line.

Just what form the amalgamation of the Gould eastern purchases will take is not known. It is generally believed that as soon as the legal and financial details can be arranged all will be made part of the Wabash and that name given to the many lines which have been bought and built.

$18,000,000 FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Big Expenditures for Projects Already Planned Will Be Required.

The Pennsylvania railroad will set apart this year for improvements $18,000,000, according to a statement of one of the general officials. President Cassatt, Second Vice President Pugh, General Manager Hutchinson and Chief Engineer Brown are now making up the estimates for the appropriations. Nearly all of this is for continuing work now under way. Several millions will be required for the completion of the Pittsburgh plans, the main item in which will be the new connecting line from Fifth avenue across to the Allegheny Valley and the West Penn.

Other important improvements under way include elevation of tracks through Camden, the building of the new passenger station at Washington, D. C., the completion of the work in West Philadelphia and the elevation of tracks through Chester to New Brunswick.

ERIE IN WITH STEEL COMPANY.

Report Is Backed by Disclosed Railroad Project.

The report that the Erie is co-operating with the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company in the new line to the lakes has received backing by the statement from Cleveland that maps prepared by President Underwood of the Erie show a new line into Pittsburgh as immediately planned. The line starts at Youngstown and runs directly south, touching Carnegie, which is known to be a point on the proposed Jones & Laughlin line.

With the Mellons buying a harbor at Elk creek, another harbor being exploited at Cowles creek, the Wabash interests through the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western announcing intentions of building to Ashtabula, the Jones & Laughlin company proposing to build to the lake and the Erie to Pittsburgh, there seems to be no doubt that this district is to have sufficient lake lines and ports.

DEED IS FILED.

Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western Railroad Secures Salem Railroad.

LISBON, O., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A deed has just been filed in the recorder's office here for the trasfer of the Salem railroad, the seven mile line from Salem to Washingtonville, where it connects with the Erie, from Col. Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland to the new Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western railroad company.

The price paid is $142,589.02. The road was sold at public sale two years ago for $125,000.

Changes by Lake Erie.

General Passenger Agent L. A. Robinson of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, announced yesterday that train 16, which leaves Youngstown at 4:30 p. m., for New Castle, will be discontinued October 27. The Boston special, train No. 9, will after that time be run in two sections. The first section will leave the city at 5:20 p. m., the present time, and the second follow one block behind. On the first section will be the Boston sleeper, a combination car, and a Youngstown coach. It will stop only at stations having passengers for points north of New Castle Junction. Second No. 9 will run only between Pittsburgh and New Castle.

L. T. Fowler Again a Freight Man.

L. T. Fowler, who resigned a few weeks ago the position of agent of the Merchants & Miners Transportation Company in this city, has returned to the transportation business as commercial agent of the Boston & Philadelphia Steamship Company, the Wheat line. Mr. Fowler is one of the veterans of the traffic business in the traffic colony in the Park building. He has been in the freight department for 34 years. For eight years he served as agent of the Merchants & Miners here.

Railroad Notes.

Col. J. T. Lane, traveling passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, at Connellsville, will spend a couple of weeks on a western trip with his family.

C. S. Stanyard has been appointed ticket agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie at Brighton, vice G. W. Hamilton transferred to the Pittsburgh ticket offices.

General Superintendent L. G. Hans and J. C. Stuart, general superintendent of transportation of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, yesterday inspected the Wheeling branch.

The annual bridge inspection was made by Chief Engineer J. A. Atwood and his assistants, of the Lake Erie, yesterday. The party was accompanied by A. Lucius, a consulting engineer of New York.

The Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad is said to have asked the Pennsylvania for trackage rights from Driftwood to Du-bois. This road, with new life and plans, proposes to tap the coal fields of central Pennsylvania thoroughly.

In addition to its new line to Pittsburgh the Erie proposes also to build a line from Dayton to Hamilton and abrogate part of the contract by which it enters over the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton. The Hornellsville cutoff is also to be built to save 30 miles for through trains.

The Norfolk & Western has placed an order for 40 new engines, the number being divided equally between the Baldwin and the American Locomotive Company. This makes 130 freight and six passenger locomotives ordered by this road in the past ten months.

CODFISH AND WAGONS BARRICADE THE MOB

Strikers at Dunkirk Attack French Calvary—Law Courts Attacked.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

DUNKIRK, FRANCE, Oct. 23.—Further serious strike disturbances occurred today. Barricades were erected and the cavalry was compelled to charge the rioters. Some of the mob were killed or wounded. A mob set fire to barrels of oil and other goods on the quays and also set fire to the house of a mine owner. Martial law has been proclaimed at Dunkirk.

The strikers invaded the law courts during the day and interrupted business there. They were charged repeatedly by cavalry. The rioters assailed the soldiers with bricks and scrap iron.

During the rioting the strikers sacked a provision shop and other stores, attacked the offices of the newspapers which had expressed themselves in opposition to the strike, and erected barricades at the dockside composed of overthrown wagons, casks and cranes. They even utilized tons of codfish just discharged on the quay in order to stop the charges of the detachments of cavalry which arrived there this morning. A number of cranes were thrown into the water of the dock and two immense heaps of straw and some barrels of oil lying beside the dock were set on fire. All the houses at Dunkirk are closed and the stores have been barricaded.

CONFERENCE IS ON.

A. M. E. Zion Church of Allegheny-Ohio District in Session Here.

The A. M. E. Zion conference of the Allegheny-Ohio district, in session at the A. M. E. Zion church in Arthur street, held three sessions yesterday. At the morning session the 100 delegates were enrolled and the standing committees were appointed.

At the afternoon session Bishop J. H. Small delivered his annual address. It dealt largely with his recent tour of Africa. The chief of Quaintal has donated $70,000 worth of land to the church, the proceeds of which are to be used for the education and Christianization of the blacks of Africa.

Dr. W. A. Coffe, secretary of the board of church extension, advised the collection of funds for the board and said that during the year $40,000 had been raised in that way and that $80,000 more will br raised by the end of the year.

RABBI LEVY'S LECTURES.

He Will Begin a Second Series Next Sunday Morning—New English Ritual.

The second series of Sunday services by the Reform congregation, Rodeph Shalom, Pittsburgh, will begin next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The first lecture to be delivered by Rabbi Levy is entitled "Emile Zola."

The new English ritual written by Rabbi Levy for this congregation has been bound in book form and the entire first edition has been purchased by the congregation. A copy will be found in each pew so that every worshiper can intelligently follow the services.

The lectures delivered each week will be printed and distributed in pamphlet form at the Sunday services succeeding their delivery. Both Jew and non-Jew are welcome. The lecture course will include a special series on "The Ten Commandments."

Sectional Bookcases for Offices

The reason why Sectional Bookcases are rapidly gaining in favor is easily explained. They are needed in every office. And they give perfect satisfaction. They assert their claim on the attention by virtue of their manifest superiority over the old style cases for many purposes.

Think of their convenience. You may require only one section now. Well, procure one section. When you require others you can add them. One section fits every other one, so that it makes no difference how many or how few you buy at a time. And if you have magazines or books which are overrunning your present facilities for caring for such things, you will certainly find it to your advantage to examine these cases.

All other Office Furniture is shown in most pleasing variety here, and price is always an inducement at

FAMOUS EDITORS WILL TALK HERE

Richard Watson Gilder Accepts Carnegie Institute Invitation.

HERE ON FOUNDER'S DAY

Will Make an Address in Company With Whitelaw Reid. Invitations Were Sent Out Last Night.

Announcement has already been made that the Hon. Whitelaw Reid will deliver the principal address at the Carnegie institute on Founder's Day, November 6. The trustees have secured another speaker of no less importance in Richard Watson Gilder, editor of the Century Magazine.

Mr. Gilder has devoted much time to sociological work as chairman of the New York tenement house commission, president of the New York Kindergarten association, vice president of the City club, and member of the executive committee of the Civil Reform association. Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Gilder will accompany their husbands to Pittsburgh, and their presence will add to the social interest of the occasion.

The trustees last night sent out 1,300 engraved invitations for Founder's Day, against 3,000 last year. Great care has been taken this year to enclose cards that will exactly cover the 2,000 seats in Music hall, and no more.

The invitation list has been prepared with the personal aid of the 36 trustees of the institute, and the aim has been to make it thoroughly representative of Pittsburgh in all its professional, artistic, industrial, labor and social activities. The list also includes the principal officials of the nation, state, county and city; and business men and laborers have been asked to attend because they are equally representative in a civic festival like Founder's Day. No further invitations will be issued.

The program has not been completed. It is expected that in addition to Mr. Reid and Mr. Gilder, there will be other features for later announcement.

RICHARD WATSON GILDER, Editor of the Century Magazine.

WABASH PLANS ROUTE THROUGH MAIN STREETS

Will Purchase Fine Buildings in New Castle to Reach Industrial Plants.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 23.—The Wabash railroad is preparing to spend hundreds of thousands in this city to force a way to the great industrial plants of Sharon and South Sharon, and will be forced to buy or condemn many valuable properties right in the heart of the city.

The route, as surveyed, will extend from the intersection of Mill and South streets along Water street to Washington street, the main business thoroughfare. The Wabash will pass through the Pearson building, one of the largest business structures here, and will continue northward in Neshannock avenue, paralelling Neshannock creek to Wilmington junction.

The Wabash must arrange with the city for the abandonment of Water street from the present Wabash terminal to Washington street. The right of eminent domain will then have to be exercised to secure the route along Neshannock avenue, which is both a business and residence street.

When this route is secured it will be practically impossible for any other railroad to enter New Castle unless it tunnels the high bluffs which surround the city. Those acquainted with Wabash plans say the Pearson block is to be made the passenger station. This block stands in the very heart of the town.

A meeting of the stockholders of the recently organized Shenango & Beaver Valley railroad will be held tomorrow afternoon at the office of Attorney Henry Akens of this city, when that road will be merged with the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western.

JOHNSON BACKS OUT.

Debate Between the Cleveland Mayor and W. R. Hopkins Will Not Come Off As Agreed.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The much-anticipated debate between Mayor Johnson and W. R. Hopkins, a prominent young Republican who challenged him some days ago, will not come off. Late last night the mayor declined to abide by the agreement signed for him by his representative in the afternoon.

Hopkins stipulated that he should ask the mayor certain questions and the mayor could ask him any questions pertaining to the subjects thus brought up. Johnson refused to be limited on subjects and said it was only a scheme on the part of the Republican to escape questions on local taxation, the code bill and street railway franchise matters.

Republicans are rejoicing over what they term the "white feather" of Cleveland's mayor, who has been issuing challenges broadcast for someone to meet him on the platform.

WARNED BY DEWEY.

He Puts a Girl's School on Its Guard Against a Mad Dog.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Quite a sensation has been caused by a mad dog on the grounds of "Beauvoir," Admiral Dewey's place on the Tennallytown road, adjoining the Hearst school for girls, where the president's daughter, Ethel, is a pupil.

Admiral Dewey, who is a sort of patron saint of the neighborhood, has sent a warning to Miss Bangs, the principal. Today, while the girls were playing tennis, a fierce-looking dog appeared on the grounds in full chase of one of Miss Bangs' favorite cats. The girls took to their heels. The place is being patrolled by policemen.

Owing to the insufficient number of agents we could secure to handle the crowds at Lincoln Park, and, therefore, to our inability to give all the customers for Lincoln Park lots the information and attention required, we have induced the owners to agree to extend the 15 per cent credit on all Lincoln Park lots unsold to Monday morning, October 27.

It must be remembered that the list price is extremely low and that every one of these lots is worth today at least 50 per cent more than list price.

Come at once and secure a choice lot. Take East Liberty via Center avenue car to end of line.

TOUR OF TWO COUNTIES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Tunkhannock, Pa., Oct. 23.—The Pennypacker gubernatorial party, accompanied by Senator Penrose, today met with an enthusiastic reception from farmers of Susquehanna and Wyoming counties. Large crowds attended the receptions and meetings at Montrose, Susquehanna county, in the afternoon, and at Tunkhannock, Wyoming county, tonight.

Long before daylight the gubernatorial party was aroused, and after a light breakfast of crackers and coffee took a trolley car for Waverly, where they arrived in time to learn that the train for Montrose was 50 minutes late. Then, after another run through New York state, cars were changed at Alford, where another wait of 45 minutes was caused by a late train, and the party arrived at Montrose just in time to get breakfast and dinner together.

The party was met by a delegation including County Chairman R. B. Little, Congressman C. F. Wright, Col. C. C. Pratt, candidate for state senator, and J. H. Courtright.

Judge Pennypacker, Senator Penrose and ex-Senator Brown captured the entire Teachers' Institute, which is in session at Montrose. The schoolmarms and professors crowded into the parlor of the hotel to shake hands with the candidates and bedeck themselves with Pennypacker buttons.

Notwithstanding bad weather, the big Armory building was packed to overflowing. F. I. Lott of Montrose presided.

Senator Penrose was received with prolonged applause as he was introduced by the chairman, as were Judge Pennypacker and ex-Senator Brown. Senator Penrose was greeted with a whirlwind of applause as he referred to the settlement of the coal strike brought about by the efforts of President Roosevelt, one excited man shouting, "Hallelujah!"

At Tunkhannock the party was received by a committee including County Chairman F. S. Harding, Dr. D. W. Sturtevant, A. G. Gregory and F. N. Reynolds. The meeting in the court house was largely attended. B. W. Lewis presided and assured the candidates that Wyoming county will give a safe majority. Speeches were made also by ex-Senator Brown, Judge Pennypacker and Senator Penrose.

SIBLEY AND DALZELL.

Two Congressmen Get a Rousing Reception at Greenville.

GREENVILLE, Pa., Oct. 23.—(Special.) A rousing reception was tendered Joseph Sibley and John Dalzell here tonight. The theater in which they spoke was unable to hold the crowd. The meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic held in this section during the present campaign.

Congressman Sibley came from Franklin in his automobile, in which he is touring the district.

KATE CASTLETON'S DIAMONDS.

After Waiting 10 Years for Them Her Mother Sues Administrators.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. Eliza Freeman of Oakland, after having waited for 10 years to obtain possession of diamonds valued at $30,000 bequeathed to her by her late daughter, Kate Castleton, vocalist and actress, has begun proceedings to have the administrators of her daughter's estate removed. They are Joseph H. Hoadley of New York and Arthur H. Hoadley of Providence, R. I.

Kate Castleton died on July 2, 1902. She bequeathed all of her property to her mother, to be held by her during her life. After her death it was provided the remainder of the estate should go to a niece, Ada C. Brydges.

Disciple Convention Closes.

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 23.—With tonight's session of the convention of the Disciples of Christ ended one of the most encouraging and best attended religious conventions ever held. More than 7,000 delegates were registered and probably 5,000 others were visitors to this city.

Munsey Buys Boston Journal.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Frank A. Munsey of New York has bought from Stephen O'Meara and his associates all the stock of the Journal Newspaper Company, which owns and publishes the Boston Morning, Evening and Sunday Journal.

TOP OF HILL SLIDES OVER STEEP BLUFF

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 23.—Four hundred miners employed in the W. J. Rainey Fort Hill mine at Vanderbilt, miraculously escaped death by a cave-in at noon today. The cave-in, which covers several acres of ground, occurred at the exact place where nearly all the men were employed, and only for it being lunch time many would have been hurried beneath the tons of rock and slate.

As the back portion caved in, the steep hill slid off, carrying with it the big coal tipple and bins, beside 50 cars that had just been loaded. The wreckage and hundreds of tons of earth was carried over the cliff to the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie tracks.

The tipple and bins lodged on the coke ovens and in a few minutes were totally destroyed by fire. At the tipple and bins at least 20 men were at work, and did not see their danger until they were warned by the cracking timbers. All escaped with but slight injury.

All the main leads to the mines were blocked, compelling the miners to seek safety through an old deserted lead, which opens nearly two miles away. Many of the men were nearly overcome by the foul air and gas that had accumulated in the old lead.

The loss to the company will reach $25,000 to the mine and tipple, besides crippling mining operations for several weeks. This mine supplies all the coal for 570 coke ovens, all of which will be out of operation for some time.

P. S. BLODGETT DYING.

Noted Railroad Official Began His Career by Saving Boards—Steady Series of Promotions.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Philip S. Blodgett, general manager of the Lake Shore Railroad Company, can live but a short time. He has been ill with liver trouble since July, and during the last few days has been sinking rapidly. He is now unconscious.

Mr. Blodgett is 59 years old, and was born and raised at Clearmont, N. H. He went west when 21, and later entered upon his railroad career sawing boards in the Michigan Southern & Northern Indiana carpenter shops at Adrian, Mich. He was promoted from time to time to the position of clerk, division superintendent, roadmaster, and later freight agent at Chicago. He held this position ten years. He was the Lake Shore eastern division superintendent at Buffalo, and later became assistant general superintendent with headquarters in Cleveland. In June, 1901, he became general superintendent of the New York Central, and later returned to the Lake Shore as general manager.

He was a member of the American Railway Association and noted for his peculiar power in handling men. His last official duties were performed in connection with the recent teamsters' strike in Chicago.

WORK OF THE CLUBS.

President Moore of the Republican League Expects to Make Them a Factor in the Campaign.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, president of the National League of Republican clubs, called on the president to talk with him about the work of the league.

"We expect to make the league a factor in the next presidential election," said Mr. Moore, "and we are doing much work in the present congressional campaign. We are working in every congressional district, through our clubs."

The interview lasted for half an hour, and at its conclusion Mr. Moore said:

"The president was cordial and the chat was wholly satisfactory. It has been the custom of the league presidents since the organization of the league in New York to call upon Republican presidents of the United States. It is merely an evidence of loyalty and good faith."

Speaking of the Pennsylvania situation, Mr. Moore said: "The president's splendid coup in the coal strike has improved the political situation in Pennsylvania. We expect to elect Judge Pennypacker governor by 150,000 majority, of which 100,000 will come from Philadelphia.

Ohio Masons Elect Officers.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 23.—The Ohio grand lodge of Free and Accepted Masons reconvened this morning and elected W. A. Belt of Kenton, O., as most worshipful grand master. The Masonic Veterans' association has elected the following officers: Stacker Williams, Newark, president; James W. Goodspeed, Athens, vice president; D. C. Wellgardner, Newark, treasurer; Edwin Merrell, Columbus, secretary.

Flagman Commits Suicide.

SUNBURY, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Clarence B. Blank, flagman of the freight train that was responsible for the passenger wreck at Milton about four weeks ago, in which three people lost their lives, killed himself today by sending a bullet into his brain. He was held partially responsible for the wreck.

PATTISON TOURS SAFE TERRITORY

Shuns Big Republican Towns To Speak in Little Democratic Villages.

ON THE DELAWARE BANK

A Fusion Independent Candidate for Assembly Put Up in Bucks County at the Request of Senator Flinn.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

Quakertown, Pa., Oct. 23.—The largest audience of the campaign greeted Pattison and Guthrie in this town tonight. Three meetings were held in Bucks county today and the campaigners were careful to keep in Democratic strongholds. Republican communities, like Bristol and Doylestown, the largest towns in the county, were avoided.

The purpose of visiting New Hope, Riegelsville and Quakertown was to arouse the Democrats. It is from these communities in Bucks that the Democrats draw their votes. Many of the members have been slow to interest themselves in this campaign.

There are several reasons for this apathy. Judge Harman Yerkes is the silent but moving spirit in the Democracy in this county. When he wished to go on the supreme court bench Pattison was for another. This fall he will support Pattison, but he is not exerting himself to see that his friends turn out for the ex-governor.

At New Hope a big crowd gathered in the public square to listen to the candidates. The next town visited was Riegelsville, which was reached by riding over an hour through New Jersey.

A Noisy Democratic Calf.

The meeting was held on the banks of the Delaware river, and a man could have stood on the Jersey shore and heard the ex-governor tell about the constitution. In the immediate vicinity was a calf. Every time the orators were applauded the calf bawled. The animal finally was removed.

It was not the only animal that figured in the campaign today. As the party got off the train at Riegelsville a dog bit a piece out of the leg of Webster Grim, Democratic candidate for senator. Even though this happened over on the Jersey side, Quay no doubt will be held accountable, and the affair will be made an issue in the fight.

Charles E. Ingersoll, in his address at Riegelsville, said he had often wondered why there were so many Democrats in the northern end of Bucks county, but learned today by his visit to this corn-growing section. He explained by telling this story:

"During the hot days two eminent Philadelphia Democrats met in a barroom. One complained that the day was too warm. The other reminded him that if they did not have hot weather they could not raise corn, and without corn whisky could not be properly made, and without whisky you cannot have Democrats."

Variety in Band Music.

Just before Mr. Guthrie made his speech at Riegelsville, the band played a cakewalk tune. An hour later, when the train stopped at a little town between here and Riegelsville, another band played "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Quakertown is the third largest municipality in the county and is in the heart of a farming community, where Pennsylvania German is the ruling dialect. The town is about two to one Democratic and the inhabitants of that party faith turned out. Another open-air meeting was held.

Bucks Republicans say they will carry the county for Pennypacker and elect a senator and three members of the house. The last canvass indicated a Republican majority of 1,000 for Pennypacker. He will come into the county next Wednesday.

Representative Edwards and Senator Hampton Rice, who were insurgents in the last legislature, have been nominated on the Democratic Ballot Reform and Union tickets, with a Democrat for assemblyman. The selection of both Rice and Edwards is said to have been at the request of Senator Flinn. Many Democrats refuse to vote for the two independents. Neither of the men appeared at any of the meetings today.

Tomorrow the party will go through Lancaster county, with a night meeting in Lancaster.

PITTSBURGH ALUMNI.

Graduates of University of Pennsylvania to Hold Reunion Soon.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Pittsburgh Alumni association of the University of Pennsylvania will hold its annual reunion on Thursday evening, October 30. Dr. Francis C. Phillips, professor of chemistry and geology at the Western University of Pennsylvania and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, class of '70, has written a cordial letter to Provost Harrison, expressing the association's pleasure at the information sent them of a large representation from the University of Pennsylvania. The college, the law school and the medical department will be represented respectively by Dean Penniman, Lean Lewis and Dr. George E. de Schweinitz.

MOTHER SECURES DAMAGES.

Son Was Killed in Wreck on West Virginia Central Railroad.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A jury tonight awarded Mrs. Ida Fuller $2,250 for the death of her 14-year-old son, who was killed in a wreck on the West Virginia Central railroad.

The boy was employed at the automobile works at Westernport and was getting water at a well in a yard near by when a freight train, going up a grade, became uncoupled. The rear portion rushed down hill and struck a caboose on a siding, knocking it over into the yard on top of the boy.

BIG MISSION FUND.

Protestant Episcopal Council Decides It Should Be $1,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—The final sessions of the conference of the missionary council of the Protestant Episcopal church were held today.

At the morning business session Bishop Brewer offered a resolution suggesting to the board of managers that the missionary apportionment be increased to $1,000,000 annually, and recommending certain methods for meeting the apportionment. The council, at the afternoon session, adopted the paragraph fixing the sum to be raised, but tabled the remainder of the resolution.

THE GERMANS LAUGH AT CARNEGIE'S IDEA

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Andrew Carnegie's suggestion in his rectorial address at St. Andrew's university, Scotland, yesterday, that Emperor William organize "the United States of Europe," has been received with laughter by the Germans. The Vossissche Zeitung calls it a "nonsensical proposition," adding:

"Since not even a customs union is possible between Germany and Austria, how vain it is to propose a political union! Should the emperor follow the advice, it would expose him to repulse after repulse."

The Boersen Zeitung curtly expresses the hope that Mr. Carnegie will "let antiquated Europe alone to work out its own salvation."

The Post, although saying the idea is utterly chimerical, thinks Mr. Carnegie complimented the German people and the emperor by supposing they could carry out the project.

The Lokal Anzeiger says: "The only way Germany can make head against the American danger is for Emperor William to continue his energetic influence in developing the country economically."

JUSTICE HARLAN NIPS COLLEGE CLASS FIGHT

Aged Jurist Wades Into Mob of Sophomores and Makes Short Work of Them.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.—Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court, a member of the faculty of Columbia university law school in this city, last night prevented a class fight between freshmen and sophomores.

Justice Harlan is a giant, and although 69 years of age, is still vigorous, golf being one of his daily exercises. The youngsters were no match for him when he entered the arena.

The announcement of the freshmen class that it would hold its first meeting last night in Jurisprudence hall, acted as a challenge to the sophomores to break up the meeting. When the first-year men undertook to open their meeting the sophomores charged the door of the hall.

At this point Justice Harlan appeared, and in a commanding voice ordered the combat to cease. The sophomores paused for a moment, but evidently were not disposed to obey the order, for they immediately began a second assault.

It was then that the eminent jurist took a personal hand in the fray. He reached over the heads of the assaulting party, and, seizing the leader of the forces by the collar, dragged him from the pile. The jurist then directed the second year men to disperse, with the desired effect.

MATERNA'S CASTLE SOLD.

All It Contained Put Under the Hammer to Satisfy Creditors of the Great Songstress.

VIENNA, Oct. 23.—(Copyright Cable.)—Everybody is talking about the sale which has just commenced at St. Johann of a castle in the neighborhood of Graz. This castle, which is picturesquely situated, and all it contains were but yesterday the property of the once celebrated prima donna, Mme. Amalie Materna.

Today every object of marketable value is being brought under the hammer before a crowd of hustling buyers, some anxious to obtain a personal memento of the famous songstress, others but too clearly showing they regard it as a mere matter of business.

Some five years ago Mme. Materna purchased the castle, which she furnished sumptuously, conveying thither the numberless treasures accumulated in the course of her brilliant career. From the start, however, her expenditure far exceeded her income, and as a last resort she tried to maintain herself and her establishment by means of singing lessons—an expedient which failed owing to the scarcity of pupils.

A stuffed grizzly bear, presented to Mme. Materna during one of her triumphal tours in the United States by Mr. Buckhardt of Cincinnati, went today for $11.

REVOLT QUICKLY QUELLED.

Haitien Troops Make Short Work of a Local Revolution.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.—Commander Mason, of the Cincinnati, cables the following to the navy department from Cape Haitien:

"Navarro, the deposed governor of the district, revolted against the government on the night of October 11, took possession of the town and imprisoned the government officers, except the new governor, who escaped. The insurrection is confined to the immediate vicinity of Monti Christi. Government troops pressed the place closely. Serious street fighting occurred the last two days.

"Foreigners took refuge on the wharf. Last night 75, mostly women and children, took refuge on this ship.

"Government troops captured the town and fort at 2 o'clock this morning. The insurgents are scattered. All is now quiet. The local revolution is quelled."

HERBERT'S LIBEL SUIT.

Hearing Hampered by Lack of a Piano in Court.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mark A. Blumburg, editor and proprietor of the Musical Courier, testified today in his own defense in the suit for $50,000 damages brought against him and his publication by Mr. Herbert on account of insinuations that the leader was a plagiarist.

Several experts were called to explain the difference between the music of Victor Herbert and classical symphony music, and at least one of them expressed a willingness, had a piano been in court, to demonstrate to the judge and jury what classical music was as compared with rag-time music. This was Signor August Vienesi. Having no piano, he did the best he could with his arms, shoulders, eyes and vocal chords.

New Theatre for St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—According to the statement of James K. Hackett, St. Louis will have another commodious and up-to-date theater before January 1, 1904. This theater, he declares, will be the outcome of the independent booking agency organized by himself, Mrs. Fiske and Henrietta Crosman in opposition to the theatrical syndicate.

New York Hotel Damaged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A fire caused by a maid's hair curling iron threatened tonight to destroy the upper portion of the Hoki Imperial, much frequented by Pittsburghers. The entire apartment on the sixth floor of the annex, occupied by J. B. Kellogg, a Wall street man, and his wife, was destroyed.

An Impressive Offer in Silk Dress Skirts

$25 and $30 Models for $15.

The silks are taffeta and peau de soie. The Skirts are all black. They are finished with drop petticoat which in turn is finished with silk flounce.

The styles are 7, 9 and 13 gore, wide flare; there are skirts with the Pacquin flounce, something distinctively new; then there are plain Skirts and Skirts with side pleats and box pleats.

The several trimmings are silk cords and ornaments, cords and tucks, wide and narrow strips of same cloth, and these trimmings are placed where they most enhance the beauty of the Skirt.

At this writing (late yesterday afternoon) the Skirts are being marked and will be ready early this morning. They represent the entire sample line of the foremost maker of Silk Dress Skirts in America. His season now being over and on account of his going abroad to inspect next Spring's styles, he sold his collection of models to us at 50 per cent off.

Woman's Kid Gloves.

Test our stock relentlessly, if you please—if there are weak places in it we shall be glad to hear about them.

There are the best of the leading Kid Gloves here—some that you will find nowhere else in Pittsburg or Allegheny. For instance, the famous Reynier Gloves which always become the pride of every woman who tries them. After the first trial it is not the best thing in the world to suggest to an admirer of Reynier's Gloves to try another brand. We carry this perfect Glove in both suede and glace in all lengths.

Two numbers of street Gloves:

Of Reynier's make, we have a model street Glove, a pique suede, in tan, modes, gray and brown, as well as black. It is a two-clasp Glove and a very comely one for the accompaniment of the tailor-made gown. $2 a pair.

An admirable street Glove is the Warwick, which we sell for $1 a pair. The second shipment of this Glove is ready. It is distinguished by its mannish quality, being quite heavy. We have both mochas and glaces, the mochas in tan, gray and brown; the glaces in tan and brown. One-clasp.

In dainty, dressy Gloves we have an almost unlimited range. Like most all merchants, there are some that we favor more than others. Among them are Reynier's three-clasp suede Gloves—admirable for any sort of an occasion where finished dress is a requisite. All colors, including white and black. $1.75 a pair.

At $1.25 a pair we have a fine variety of real Kid Gloves in two-clasp length. The range comprises all the Fall shades as well as white and black. A feature of this Glove is its perfect fit.

Another fine Glove, for the money, is a two-clasp over-seam, medium weight Kid Glove with prettily embroidered backs. All the new Autumn shades, besides white and black; two-clasp. $1 a pair.

Women's Skirts—Long and Short.

$7.50 is the lowest priced Walking Skirt at which we can guarantee good cloth and good wear, unless we happen to get hold of a skirt worth $7.50 and sell it for $5, which we do quite often.

At $7.50 we have Walking Skirts of Camel's Hair cloth, 7-gore flare with 3-inch stitching, and each seam is finished with 5-inch stitching. Blue and oxford gray.

At $20. Handsome Dress Skirts of gray and black novelty cloth. 9-gore flare with side pleats, each of which is formed of black broadcloth, giving a panel effect to skirt.

Some of the Things Women Like for Fancy Work.

The Art Needlework Department, one of the biggest sections of the main floor, is full of many new conceits for exercising your ingenuity in expert needlework. Inexpensive things that can be made to do wonders in the way of looks.

Foundation letters for embroidering of table linens, doilies, underwear and handkerchiefs. Saves the labor of padding letters. 10c to 85c a dozen.

Big line of imported figured silk and satin Pillow Tops that our buyer picked up over in Lyons. You will probably be surprised to know that they only sell for $1 each.

Stamped linens for picture frames, both single and double, 10c, 15c and 20c each.

Doilies upon which you are to put the finishing touches. 6-inch size, 5c each; 12-inch size, 10c each.

Autumn Suits for Boys.

We have not inquired into the matter, but we are doing a far larger business in Boys' Clothes than in any former season. Perhaps parents are giving the proper study to the difference between good clothes and bad clothes. We sell the right kind of Clothes, Clothes that are made right, Clothes in which the right kind of cloths are used, for just the same prices that you pay for the ordinary kind, put together in an ordinary way.

By way of hints.

Boys' two-piece Suits begin at $5, and one of the Suits at this price is our special that we had made for us by one of the best boys' tailors in the country. It is a splendid Suit for the rough and tumble wear that a boy will give it—double seat and knee, the materials such as those good and strong rough Scotch weaves and Cheviots and Cashmeres. Have new shades in both light and dark effects. A splendid Suit for the money.

For dress-up occasion the boy in knee trousers has choice of extra fine double-breasted Suits in a range of prices from $7 to $15. Gray Cheviot, Scotch Tweed and Brown Mixtures and light color tan and Brown Mixtures. Just as dressy materials as any young fellow could wear.

For the younger boy there is a big range of Sailors, Russian Blouses and Velvets in Norfolk Style. And this Norfolk Style seems to be all the go. Also quite a range of extreme novelties, $6 to $15.

College Pennants.

Make your boys and girls, or your student friends away at college, a present of a pennant—their own college along with any others you think they would like. Every student likes to decorate his or her room with college colors.

We have these Pennants in stock for most of the colleges and schools. If we haven't the one you desire it won't take but a short time to make it.

Another thing that we are doing quite a business in is college Pillow Tops. Lots of new designs. 50c each.

We have the mercerized Cotton Cord, either plain or in fancy mixed colors, to match the Pillow Top, which we sell at 10c a yard.

Either pennant or pillow would make a splendid present to your college friend, but both would be more acceptable.

It is nothing more than oak treated to fumes of chemicals which permeate the wood and give it a color unattainable in any other way.

We have Furniture in both domestic and imported fumed oak, and between us there isn't so very much difference as to style.

Either is fine. Some of the pieces:

Fumed Oak Hall Stands, rather unique—having cupboard with two glass doors for overcoats and umbrellas, a general utility box seat, hooks on each side for hats, shelf and mirror on top.

A Lay-Away Hint.

Imported Work Boxes for women and girls, and if you select now, and ask us to hold until Christmas, why we will do it with pleasure.

The Boxes are filled with silk and cotton floss ready for use. You can buy one for 25c or pretty near any intermediate price you can think of up to $18. Art Needlework Department.

PENN AND FIFTH.

SOCIETY

AN unusually pretty wedding occurred in Wilkinsburg last evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Alva Jean Armstead Guffey, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Guffey, was united to James Graham Chalfant, son of the late Henry Chalfant of Pittsburgh, at the bride's home, South avenue. The Rev. Dr. Thomas Parry, pastor of the Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. The bride's only attendant was Mrs. J. B. Jackson, her cousin, who was matron of honor. W. S. Guffey, an uncle of the bride, gave her away. Mr. Chalfant was attended by his brother, Dr. Sidney A. Chalfant, as best man. The ushers were Joseph F. Guffey, a cousin of the bride, and Henry Miller of Port Perry a cousin of the groom.

The bride's gown was of white embroidered chiffon, trimmed with fine old lace, and a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley lent a charming effect. Mrs. Jackson, as matron of honor, was gowned with a grey crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. The house decorations were pink and white. In the parlor were pink roses and chrysanthemums, in the library white chrysanthemums, and in the dining room pink chrysanthemums.

The guests were limited to relatives, only 100 invitations having been sent out. Among the guests was Col. J. M. Guffey, an uncle of the bride. The groom is a nephew of George A. Chalfant of Etna, and of the late John W. Chalfant of Allegheny. One room was filled with gifts to the bride, chief among which was a beautiful silver service, presented by Col. Guffey. Mr. and Mrs. Chalfant left for an eastern trip, and upon their return will be at home at St. Clair and Callowhill streets after December 15.

Barr—Chalfant.

A very quiet home wedding took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. John McFarland in Park avenue, East End. The bride was Miss Fannie O. H. Barr, a sister of Mrs. McFarland, and the bridegroom Edward C. Chalfant, a son of the Rev. Dr. George Chalfant, D. D., recently pastor of the Park Avenue Presbyterian church in East Liberty. The house was prettily though simply decorated with potted plants and flowers, chiefly chrysanthemums and roses, and the guests were limited to the members of the two immediate families. Dr. Chalfant performed the marriage ceremony, assisted by his son, the Rev. Charles L. Chalfant of St. Louis; the Rev. Henry B. Hummell, who succeeded Dr. Chalfant as pastor of the Park Avenue Presbyterian church, and the Rev. U. S. Greves, a son-in-law of Dr. Chalfant, and pastor of the Forty-third Street Presbyterian church in Lawrenceville.

After the wedding supper Mr. Chalfant and his bride left for an eastern trip, and after their return will make their home in the East End. The bride has been for several years a popular and successful teacher in the Lincoln school, Larimer avenue. Mr. Chalfant is a young attorney, with offices in the Frick building.

Holyland—McComb.

The wedding of Miss Bessie M. Holyland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holyland of Allegheny, and Marshall Thomas McComb, was prettily conducted last evening in Perrysville avenue, at the home of the bride's father and mother. The Rev. Dr. Benjamin P. Woodburn, pastor of the Sandusky Street Baptist church, performed the marriage ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Dr. John K. McClurkin, pastor of the Sharpsburg Presbyterian church. The ceremony took place at 8:30 o'clock. The bride was attended by Miss Alice S. Thomas as maid of honor. Edward Keller, a cousin of the bridegroom, was the best man. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a wedding gown of white mousseline de soie, trimmed with duchess lace, and her veil was caught to her hair with two ostrich tips. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was daintily gowned in white mousseline de soie over green taffeta, and carried a cluster of large white chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. McComb are away on their wedding trip now, having left Pittsburgh last evening. They will issue at home cards later for days after December 15, in their new house in Wilkinsburg.

Hiller—Kammerer.

At the home of Mrs. Emma Hiller, in Quincy avenue, Mt. Oliver, was solemnized last evening the marriage of Mrs. Hiller's daughter, Miss Emma Hiller, and Gustav A. Kammerer, a young business man of the South side. The wedding ceremony took place at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Alfred Schramm, pastor of the Evangelical Protestant church, officiating. The maid of honor was Miss Nellie Deutenberg; Miss Bertha Hiller, a sister of the bride, was her bridesmaid, and the little flower girls were Alma Hiller, a sister of the bride, and Erna Seibel, a niece. Fred Hermann was the best man.

The house was tastefully decorated with brilliant autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums. The bride wore a gown of white mousseline de soie with trimmings of duchess lace, and carried white chrysanthemums. White Persian lawn gowns were worn by the maids, that of the maid of honor being brightened by a turquoise blue sash, the bridesmaid wearing a pink silk sash. Both carried chrysanthemums. The little flower girls appeared in frocks of white organdie. After the wedding supper the bride and bridegroom went to their new home, in Quincy avenue, Mt. Oliver.

A Sewickley Luncheon.

A pretty affair in Sewickley yesterday was the luncheon given at 1 o'clock by Miss Ida Bell Jackson, at her home in Frederick avenue, in honor of Miss Elsie Linn, whose wedding occurs next Wednesday. Covers were laid for eight, and the appointments, all in pink, consisted of streamers of pink ribbons to each plate, to which were fastened the handsome little name cards. Hanging from the chandelier was a pink wedding bell, in which was concealed the announcement of the wedding day of Miss Elsie Velma Linn and James Baxter McKillips, on October 29. Pink carnations were used in the decorations, with asparagus and smilax. There were dainty little favors for each, with several very appropriate ones for the bride-elect. Those present were Misses Ida Bell Jackson, Miss Elsie Linn, Miss Katherine Linn, Miss Ethel Ritchey, Miss Margaret Ritchey, Miss Elizabeth Quinn, Miss Elizabeth White and Miss Elizabeth Dally.

McDonald—Tracy.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon occurred the wedding of Miss Catherine Watson McDonald to Louis Downer Tracy, both of Sewickley. The event was a very quiet one and took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. McDonald, on Centennial avenue. The Rev. John J. Hill of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal church officiated. The guests included only relatives and a few close friends of the young couple. It was a pink wedding, large and numerous bunches of pink chrysanthemums being used in the decorations, together with palms, ferns and smilax. The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe de chine, with trimmings of pointe lace, and her bouquet was of white roses. She was given away by her brother, Duncan D. McDonald, and was unattended. The couple left last evening for an extended tour, after which they will be at home in Sewickley.

Morgan—Marshall.

In Hazelwood on Wednesday evening the wedding of Miss Anna Morgan and R. Harvey Marshall took place, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Thomas S. Gideon, by the Rev. C. V. Wilson, pastor of the Hazelwood Methodist Episcopal church. Only the immediate family friends were present. A reception followed the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of white liberty satin trimmed with lace and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her honor maid was prettily gowned in embroidered white mousseline. Two little flower girls, nieces of the bride, wore simple white organdie frocks.

After the wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Marshall left for an eastern trip. They will be at home on Thursdays, after November 15, in Lafayette street, Hazelwood.

Shriver—Aiken.

A prominent social affair in Waynesburg yesterday was the marriage at 1 o'clock of Miss Ella Shriver of that place to Clyde R. Aiken of Youngstown, Pa. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Jessie Pordyce, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Charles Cobb, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Miss Blanche Lightner of Waynesburg was bridesmaid and D. E. Whitlatch of Washington best man. The couple left in the evening for a wedding trip east, and on their return will live at Youngsville, where the groom is a prominent oil man. The bride is well known and popular in Waynesburg society.

Christie—Griffith.

A pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Christie in New Bethlehem, Pa., at noon, Wednesday, October 22. The bride was their daughter, Miss Sallie C. Christie, and the bridegroom was C. Maciure Griffith of Allegheny. The Rev. John Proudfit, pastor of the Presbyterian church of New Bethlehem, performed the ceremony. The bridal party consisted of the maid of honor, Miss Jettie Christie, a sister of the bride; two flower girls, Roberta Kennedy and Bessie Christie, and the best man, who was Dr. L. G. Maier of Allegheny. The bride and bridegroom left on an afternoon train for a short western trip and will be at home after November 1. Mr. Griffith is assistant superintendent of the Pittsburgh Lamp and Brass Company and is well known on the North Side.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Griffith, Allegheny; Mr. and Mrs. John Elder, Vandergrift; Harry Craig, Curllsville; Mrs. Annie Wolford and Miss Nellie Wolford, Chicora; Perle Herner, East Brady; Samuel Poole and Miss Mellie Poole, East Brady; Mrs. R. A. Kennedy, Miss Roberta Kennedy, Shamokin; Mr. and Mrs. John Griffith, Sligo; Dr. R. R. Christie and Mrs. Christie and A. D. Market, Clarion; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Poole, Ellwood City, and Miss Hester Young, Shamokin.

Club Women Entertain.

The Wilkinsburg Women's club gave an elaborate reception yesterday afternoon in Hammett hall to the women's clubs of the Monongahela valley. About 200 guests were represented, including the Thursday Afternoon club of Wilkinsburg, the Women's clubs of Braddock, Edgewood, Homestead, McKeesport and Haxelwood. The hostesses comprised the members of the Wilkinsburg Women's club, and the decorations were purple and white, the colors adopted by the Wilkinsburg club, with palms. Refreshments were served.

The entertainment committee was composed of Mrs. Mary E. Ferguson, Mrs. W. O. McNary, Mrs. M. K. Salsbury, Mrs. John McLeod, Miss Sadie E. Walker, and a special committee consisting of Mrs. F. W. Beatty and Mrs. St. John. An address of welcome by Mrs. Rowland Ralph, president of the Wilkinsburg Women's club, opened the exercises, and was followed by a piano duet by Miss Georgiana Carpenter and Miss Jean Ralph. A paper on "Woman As a School Director," was read by Mrs. Samuel Hamilton of Braddock. Miss Harriet Carroll of McKeesport rendered vocal musical selections. A reading from George Elliott was presented by Mrs. Church of Edgewood, followed by piano solos by Miss Ralph.

Enchel—Allen.

A daintily appointed home wedding was celebrated at 5:30 o'clock last evening at the residence of Charles Enchel, Liberty street, Braddock, the contracting parties being his daughter, Miss Vinnie L., and the Rev. Robert H. Allen. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. S. Harper, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Emsworth, assisted by the Rev. Robert B. Miller of Beaver. The guests were limited to the immediate families and a few intimate friends. The groom is a graduate of Washington and Jefferson college and the Western Theological seminary at Allegheny, and has been pastor of the Salem Presbyterian church for the past two years. An eastern wedding trip will be taken.

Mrs. Howe Arrived Last Night.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe arrived in Pittsburgh last evening at 6:30 o'clock and was driven directly to Oak Manor, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kirke Porter, where she will be entertained during her visit in Pittsburgh this week. Mrs. Howe was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, and she is expected to arrive in the city this morning and will also be the guest of Mrs. Porter. Mrs. Howe is to be the guest of honor at the President's reception this afternoon of the Twentieth Century club, and will speak of her "Personal Experience at Brook Farm." She will also, at the request of the president, Mrs. George A. Gormley, recite her famous "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

A Silver Anniversary.

The 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Greenlee, was celebrated at their home in Butler, Pa., last night, in the presence of a large number of guests. They were assisted in receiving by their sons, Warren and Paul, Greenlee, and Mrs. C. M. Hinkley of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Ephraim Block of Franklin. Mrs. A. W. Storey and Mrs. Harry White of Warren, Mrs. Albert J. Nathan of Morocco, Mr. Greenlee is a well-known oil producer and was married in 1877 at Clintonville, Pa., to Miss Clara Russell.

First Dance of the Season.

The Wilkinsburg Cotillion, recently organized, gave its initial dance of the season in Hammett hall last evening. The guests were confined to 50 couples. The patronesses were Mrs. A. F. Keller, Mrs. C. T. Hall, Mrs. S. M. Arnett, Mrs. J. Reed Evans, Mrs. H. W. McIntosh, Mrs. Hugh Newell, Mrs G. F. Batchelor, Mrs. J. F. Miller, Mrs. Charles B. Rice, Mrs. T. S. Grubbs and Mrs. C. B. Judd.

Joyous Time at Quay's Home.

Mrs. M. S. Quay gave a dainty appointed children's party at her home at Beaver last evening in honor of the sixth birthday anniversary of her granddaughter, Agnes Quay Davidson. Senator Quay came on from Philadelphia to be present on the pleasant occasion, and entered heartily into the spirit of the event, greatly to the delight of the little folks.

Box Party at Duquesne Garden.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bruce Beatty gave a box party last evening at Duquesne Garden, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bope, Mrs. E. L. Lea and Ex-H. Jennings. Supper was served at the Schenley after the conclusion of the opera.

Notes of Society.

Mrs. Frank R. Redmond entertained at a handsomely appointed card party yesterday afternoon at her home in Belvedere street, Crafton. Progressive six-hand euchre was played.

A pretty home wedding was that of Miss Hefer Shields, daughter of Mrs. Louisa Shields of New Brighton, and Mr. James E. Cook of Monessen, last evening at the home of the bride's mother.

The Homeseeker's Opportunity.

Throngs of people will go out to Bellevue Terrace tomorrow to see the grandest and most convenient residence section within the county of Allegheny. For homeseeker or investor the trip to Bellevue Terrace will be handsomely rewarded. A more desirable location for residence purposes cannot be found within the limits of the county. To appreciate the many advantages of this property it is necessary to see it. That will tell the story much more effectively than words.

The rent payer, by going out to Bellevue Terrace, can secure a modern and completed home upon the payment of a few hundred dollars down and the remainder of the principal in monthly payments, same as rent. Within eight years he will have the home paid for without the slightest encumbrance to himself or his family. Thus and thus only can the independence of a man be established. Those wishing to locate in the very heart and center of a city of homes, that is surrounded by every possible convenience, should take advantage of this opportunity. Bellevue Terrace in years hereafter will be the unparalleled residence town in Western Pennsylvania.

OATMEAL MUSH AND DIABETES.

Dr. Pavy of England has shown that diabetes is due to an imperfect digestion of starch and its absorption in the blood. It is impossible for the stomach to digest cereal foods taken in the form of mush, in which the starch is less than half cooked. This is one of the reasons why diabetes is becoming so common in this country and British Islands. French physicians long ago discovered that toasted bread or dextrinized starch is an excellent remedy in diabetes. The best dextrinized food, however, is known to be Toasted Wheat Flakes, sweetened with Malt Honey, made by the Battle Creek Sanitarium Food Company. These flakes are thin, thoroughly cooked and browned. They are very appetizing, partly pre-digested and quickly assimilable.

Mother and Child

In the first place, after the usual duties are attended to and church services over, there should be an hour in the afternoon—more, if the time can be given—that belongs to the children alone. It may mean giving up a nap, a walk or a call, but do it faithfully. Then have a little court of appeals, encourage each to tell his or her history of the week, condole with grievances and sorrows. After everything is adjusted for smooth sailing, have a chapter in the Sunday book, and never read from that book at any other time, winding up the reading with a chapter or two from the helpful little book to be found in every bookstore.

Sunday With the Children.

To induce Bible reading, let each child spell his name with Bible verses making acrostics and then memorize the verses.

Music all children enjoy. Cultivate the habit of singing, and teach the good old hymns, which will never be forgotten as long as life and memory remain. The melodies learned on Sunday afternoon will echo through the busiest day and soothe the darkest hours. If any friend is ill, it pleases a child to carry the invalid some dainty or flowers. This gives an importance that every child craves, that feeling of being in things and doing things, instead of being told "I will do so and so." Try this plan of letting each little one have a part, especially in the Sunday hour.

For young people of 14 to 16 a book-title party is always amusing. Every one is requested to come representing the title of some book, and the hostess asks all her guests to note on small pads of paper she provides for the purpose what they guess the different titles to be. Pencils are attached to the pads, and every one has a number. You can easily think up titles. A girl with an enormous bow of orange on her hair would be "A Bow of Orange Ribbon;" another entirely dressed in white would be "The Woman in White." A boy bearing a placard with a large and very narrow "A" drawn on it would represent "Innocents Abroad" (in no sense A broad), and I know many others will readily suggest themselves to you. The guests must put down the author when they guess the book, and at the end of the evening a prize should be given for the best list of answers handed in.

Doctors nowadays are all agreed that the ordinary cradle with rockers is very bad for children. The rocking and jolting quiet a crying baby merely by stupefying it, and the result is injury to the child's health.

"Rockabye Baby."

A woman living at Twickenham has set herself to work to remedy this, and at the patent office may be found a description of her new baby car hammock. This is a combination between a cradle and a perambulator which takes up very little room, obviates all jarring and jolting, and at the same time is so made that a child lying on it is completely protected from cold air and draughts.

Sailor suits for boys and girls are worn by children of all ages up to 16 years. They are the regulation navy suit, with the embroidered emblems and the black silk tie. This is the favorite school suit, but a novelty in the boys' suits is that the blouse has two rows of brass buttons, which gives it a military air beloved of the small boy.

Pretty Frocks for the Little Folks.

Accordion pleating is very much used for girls' dresses, whether for party gowns or for the every-day dresses and the inserted rows of feather stitching and fagottings decorate these little frocks as much as they do those of their mothers.

The party and dancing school dresses are exquisitely dainty. They are of crepe de chine or lace over silk and have sashes, berthes, triple skirts of are flounced to the waist, each flounce being edged with ruching. The small girls' party frocks are made with low neck and short sleeves, but the gown of the girl of 15 has short sleeves and a transparent yoke. A many-looped bow with many dangling ends of narrow ribbon is a favorite decoration for the left side of the bodice of these pretty little gowns.

In England pastry is considered unwholesome, but boiled suet puddings are permitted even for children. They are considered nourishing and are often served. For the children's table the hard sauce is omitted, jam or maple syrup being used instead. The recipe for a plain plum pudding as made by an English housekeeper calls for one cup each of ground rice, suet, flour, sugar, stoned raisins and milk, with one tablespoon of vinegar and one teaspoon of soda. Stir well together and boil for three hours.

Creamed Cabbage.

Cut a white cabbage into quarters and soak it an hour in cold water; then shake, cut into quarters or smaller pieces and cook tender in salted water as soon as it is tender, not soft, drain off the water, add a cup of milk and two level tablespoonfuls of butter rubbed to a smooth paste with two level tablespoonfuls of flour. Season with salt and pepper and stir until sauce boils up. Arrange neatly on a dish with sauce poured around the cabbage and sprinkle minced parsley lightly over the top and serve hot.

Dutch Cabbage.

Shred a solid head of red cabbage; put into a stewpan a large spoonful of clarified dripping; when hot add the cabbage, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one minced onion, teaspoonful of salt, and three whole cloves. Simmer slowly for two hours, and if it seems too dry add a few tablespoonfuls of water to keep from burning.

Smothered Cabbage.

Cut a small head of cabbage fine and put it in a pan of boiling meat; pour over it half a cup of rich milk, season with a level teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of pepper; add two ounces of butter; cover and stand on back of range for 20 minutes.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED.

Mrs. J. G. M. writes: Will you kindly furnish me with directions for preparing "sultana cocoa?"

Sultana Cocoa.

Stem and wash half a pound of Sultana raisins; bruise them and cover with one quart of boiling water. Let stand on back of range for an hour or more; strain the water through double cheesecloth. Take three tablespoonfuls of sugar and three cups of the raisin water; heat a cup of boiling water, a few grains of salt and whipped cream. Mix the cocoa, sugar and salt with enough boiling water to make a smooth paste; stirring constantly add remaining hot water and cook two minutes. Pour in the boiling raisin water and heat for five minutes. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Corn Meal Mush.

Mrs. H. D. N. desires a recipe for making cornmeal mush and macaroni souffle.

To make cornmeal mush have the water boiling; add a little salt, then holding the meal in the left hand, let the meal slip slowly through your fingers into the rapidly boiling water, while you stir constantly. As soon as the meal ceases to sink, stop adding and set the boiler to one side, where it will cook slowly for two hours. Then it is ready to serve or turn out into pans to be molded for frying.

Macaroon Souffle.

Scald a dozen macaroons in a cup of milk until soft, pour gradually over the well-beaten yolks of three eggs and cook in a double boiler until slightly thick. Turn out to cool, then fold in the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Turn into a buttered melon mold and set in hot water and bake or steam about 20 minutes. Turn from the mold, sprinkle over with chopped almonds browned in sugar and butter and garnish with whipped cream.

NOVEL LAUNDRY IS PROJECTED

Prospective Customers are Taking Shares and Will Get Rebate and Profits.

STRONG ORGANIZATION

Prominent Residents of East End, Homewood, Wilkinsburg and Other Boroughs Interested. Capitalized at $100,000.

Well-to-do East Enders, citizens of Homewood, Wilkinsburg, Edgewood and other near communities have developed a co-operative scheme whereby all will be profit-sharers in the new Mutual Laundry Company, and at the same time get a discount, or rebate, on their laundry bills. The prices will be as conservative as any of the city laundries, but the thousands of partners on the inside will get a discount and the dividends earned.

The citizens have been going into the scheme under an initiation fee of $10, for which each gets a share of stock. The stock is expected to be a good earner and is non-assessable, but the shareholders have been permitted to buy only ten shares each.

By January 1, it is expected that the members of the big partnership will be getting their laundry bundles with bills showing a 15 per cent reduction, as a fine modern laundry plant is to be in operation near the Westinghouse acres of Solitude in Homewood.

A site of 182 by 100.5 feet has been purchased at the corner of Susquehanna and Clawson streets, near Hamilton avenue, within 100 yards of the Pennsylvania railroad station. Architect Fulmer, of Wilkinsburg, has drawn plans for the building, which will be 40 by 125 feet. Filtered water will be used and an artesian well sunk. On Saturday bids will be opened and the contract awarded for the building. The terms will provide for a prompt erection, with forfeiture clause if the plant is not ready by the first of next year.

The officers of the company will be as follows: D. Briney, of the National Transit Company, president; John L. Moore, of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, vice president, and Joseph R. Robinson, of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company, secretary and treasurer. These officers and the following constitute the directorate: D. D. Kirby, of D. D. Kirby & Co.; H. F. Baetz, of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company; G. Montgomery, of Harper Bros. Publishing company, and Attorney William A. Jordan, who is solicitor for the company.

About 500 of the employes of the Westinghouse concerns, who live in the community which is creating the Mutual Laundry company, are among the thousands of shareholders. The authorized capital stock of the company is $100,000. It will operate under a New Jersey charter, secured some time ago through Paul W. Miller, Pittsburgh representative of the New Jersey Corporation, Guarantee & Trust company.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY BODIES IN SESSION

Evangelical Lutheran Societies of Southern Conference Gathered in Wilkinsburg.

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the southern conference of the Pittsburgh synod met yesterday afternoon in the Calvary Evangelical Lutheran church, Wilkinsburg. There were 121 delegates representing 23 churches in Pittsburgh and suburban boroughs.

Short and entertaining addresses were made by Mrs. H. E. Berkey and Mrs. G. Weaver. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Eli Miller of Allegheny; vice president, Mrs. C. B. King of Allegheny; recording secretary, Mrs. H. E. Berkey; corresponding secretary, Miss Clara Fill of the East End; treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Reller, of Aspinwall; organizer, Mrs. S. T. Nicholas of Allegheny. Bethel Lutheran church, Allegheny, was chosen as the place for the next meeting, the date for which the executive committee will fix.

At the evening session a report of the synodical meeting was read by Miss Eleanor Demmler. Papers were read by Mrs. Harvey Leech and Miss Evelyn Day. The reports presented were gratifying, that of the treasurer being of particular interest. The receipts for the year will be devoted to local home missions.

BOLD CRACKSMEN'S WORK.

Two Safes on North Side Blown Open, But Little Booty Secured.

Four experienced burglars cracked two safes in Aspinwall yesterday morning and secured about $8 worth of booty. Motorman Sheldon of the Sharpsburg and Aspinwall branch of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and Mrs. Robert Teets of Aspinwall saw the men and will be able to identify them if captured.

The cracksmen looted the safe of the Aspinwall Land Company at Freeport avenue and Center street. First they forced the front door, blew open the safe with nitro-glycerin and broke open the cash box, finding about $4. Checks and papers were undisturbed.

Then the quartet hurried to the office of Tibby Bros., glass manufacturers, at Twenty-third and Main streets. At 2:35 o'clock they had finished the job there and boarded Motorman Sheldon's car for the city.

While the cracksmen worked in Tibby Bros.' office Policeman Hugh Wallace stood across the street. The officer was unconscious of the presence of the burglars, but they knew where he was, for after drilling holes around the lock they waited until Wallace passed down the street. Mrs. Teets saw the policeman walk away, and when he had gone a few hundred yards, she heard the explosion.

Mrs. Teets awaited the results of the explosion and in a few minutes saw four men emerge from the office and walk down the street.

W. C. Tibby said the men got nothing but a little cash; they overlooked an indorsed check for $200.

Elect Officers and Adjourn.

The Yale and Harvard Teams Furnished a Big Surprise

MINOR LEAGUE MAGNATES MEET

WANT THE WAR TO END

Rowdy Players Are To Be Harshly Dealt With—The Minors Are Likely to Adopt Their Own Playing Rules.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 23.—Once each year in New York the minor leagues of baseball have their inning. Their meeting began today at the Fifth Avenue hotel and was very happily adjourned in the evening to the Victoria hotel, where P. T. Powers, president of the organization, gave the visiting delegates and some of his friends a dinner. During the evening Mr. Powers, who has refused all remuneration for his services as chief executive of the organization, was presented with a beautiful silver loving cup by the delegates who were present. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Sexton on behalf of the organization.

It is the most representative gathering of baseball men ever assembled in the United States. It deals entirely with the minor leagues, from which the major organizations draw most of their playing talent.

Old Officers Chosen Again.

The old officers were re-elected at the first business session. Mr. Powers continues in office as president and Mr. Farrell as secretary and treasurer. The national board of arbitration is composed of M. H. Sexton, Rock Island, Ill.; E. H. Murnane, Boston; J. H. O'Rourke, Bridgeport, Conn.; W. H. Lucas, Spokane, Wash; M. W. Kavanaugh, Little Rock, Ark., and J. H. Farrell, Auburn, N. Y.

The report of Mr. Powers, president, was the most favorable ever made to a minor league organization. The season just past has been one of unprecedented success. Mr. Farrell, the secretary, went into detail in his report, showing the vast amount of business the organization has handled.

At the dinner in the evening, John M. Ward, the former captain of New York's popular team, condemned in unsparing language the pratice of contract breaking, now so prevalent. Many addresses by the delegates followed.

There is in evidence a distinct desire of cessation of the present warfare in baseball, and it would not be surprising if an affiliation of some kind were entered into between the minor leagues and the National league. In any event, it is assured by communications received that the National league is desirous of living in harmony with the smaller clubs.

Many Clubs Represented.

Those pregent were: J. H. Farrell, Auburn, N. Y., president of the New York State league; T. H. Murnane, Boston, president of the New England league; J. H. O'Rourke, Bridgeport, secretary Connecticut State league; M. H. Sexton, Rock Island, president of Western and Three-I league; W. H. Lucas, Spokane, Wash., president Pacific Northwest league; Aaron Frank, Little Rock, president Southern league; Edward Mack, Toronto; Edward Burrows, Toronto; W. K. Hurley, Worcester, Mass.; W. H. Draper, Providence; J. H. Clark, Montreal; M. P. Fuder, Newark; W. H. Murray, Jersey City; M. Shea, Buffalo; M. Krietner, Buffalo; George Sweeny, Rochester; Thomas F. Burns, Colorado Springs; Hugh Duffy, Milwaukee; George M. Kuntzsch, Syracuse; G. M. Gershell, Binghamton, N. Y.; W. H. Highe, Binghamton, N. Y.; William Qinlan, Albany; H. W. Roberts, Utica; J. L. Bacon, Troy; C. W. Beamont, Jr., Evansville, Ind.; Louis D. Smith, Terre Haute; W. J. Flin, Little Rock; G. Wheeler, Greenville, Miss.; D. E. Dugdale, Seattle, Wash.; C. B. Dannehuser, Meriden, Conn.; W. B. Bristol, Meriden, Conn.; Roger Connor, Springfield, Mass.; J. H. Cannavan, New Haven; Joseph Harrington, Waterbury, Conn.; Fred Doe, Dover, N. H.; J. J. Carney, Concord, N. H.; D. S. Secor, Nashua, N. H.; Fred Lake, Lowell, Mass.; Thomas McDermott, Fall River; N. E. Leary, Fall River; William Parsons, Lawrence, Mass.

To Punish Rowdy Players.

After the roll call the reports of President Powers and Secretary Farrell were read. Both reports are long and exhaustive and are most flattering to the association. In his report Secretary Farrell made a number of recommendations regarding the propriety of fixing a salary scale for minor league players. Another recommendation is calculated to raise the tone of the national game. Mr. Farrell proposes that a player reported for drunken or disorderly conduct the second time shall be declared ineligible to play with any National association club for the remainder of the season. Among other recommendations made in the report were: "It might be advisable to consider a modification of the 'farming' rule, with the idea of establishing a penalty for its violation if it is to be continued.

RULED OFF IN ENGLAND.

Jockey Club Follows French Action—Officials Are Interested.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—In consequence of the action of the French Jockey club in suspending J. Reiff, the American jockey, the stewards of the English Jockey club announced today the withdrawal of Reiff's licence to ride in England.

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Ambassador Porter called on M. Delcasse, the foreign minister, today and made a friendly suggestion that the authorities defer the exclusion of certain American jockeys and bookmen from the French race courses until further investigation. The French authorities are considering what steps it is possible take in order to defer the jockeys' exclusion from the French courses.

WILL BE A GREAT RACE.

Tewksberry and Redmond Will Go for a Side Bet and Receipts.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Columbian park, of this city, will be the scene of the greatest horse race ever witnessed in this vicinity on Saturday, November 1, when Tewksberry, owned by C. A. Smith of Pittsburgh, and Redmond, owned by James Weston of this city will race, best three in five, for a purse of $200 and the gate receipts. The horses are pretty evenly matched, Tewksberry having a record on a mile track of 2:14, and Redmond on a half mile track of 2:17. The arrangement for the meet is the culmination of a bitter argument as to the superiority of the horses. Many bets have been made on the result. One man is said to have wagered $500 on the Pittsburgh horse, while Redmond is backed by similar sums.

HARVARD WAS BEATEN AND YALE SCORED ON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 23.—Yale's football players were sent through a slashing practice today, the last of any account before the match Saturday. Hogan remained deposed, Ralph Kinney being given his place on the 'varsity, while Hogan played on the second eleven. The change of putting Halfback Wilhelm at left end was continued. George Stillman head coach last year, was the only coach left of the big squad who have been here all the year. The scrubs surprised the 'varsity by scoring on them. Capt. Chadwick, who played today for the first time in two weeks, muffed a punt squarely and on the next play Winslow, the 'varsity quarterback, fumbled. These two misplays gave the scrubs the ball at the 'varsity 5-yard line and Hinkle took it over.

Harvard Beaten by Scrubs.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The second eleven beat the 'varsity today, scoring two touchdowns to 'varsity one. It was clearly apparent that the overtrained 'varsity men need a rest. Four of the stars were out, and Kernan alone of those who played acted as if he was able to move. The coaches are going to let up before the stars go stale. The low start was tried today, without great result. The 'varsity men would crouch, and rush beneath a 50-inch hurdle. They knocked the bar off nearly every time. Two of the subs, on the second eleven, made great runs today. Parker did 50 yards, and Pratt ran the whole length of the field in a magnificent burst of speed.

Getting Ready for Bucknell.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—No matter what the result of the football games in which Pennsylvania is scheduled to play may be, Coach Williams and his associates are determined not to allow a single member of the squad to become discouraged.

Today's practice was chiefly with a view of developing a defense against Bucknell's style of play, which the Quaker coaches are familiar with. No violent work was attempted. The men were exercised with quick formations which tended to enhance their endurance and to limber up their stiff joints.

Cheered on by Students.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—To give encouragement to Cornell's dispirited football warriors, a monster demonstration was tendered them today by the students. Led by the cadet band 1,000 marched in line to Percy field and there cheered with great enthusiasm and sung the Cornell songs. That the members of the 'varsity appreciated the action of the students was shown by the manner they went at the scrubs in the line-up which followed. It was the first brace the eleven has taken since the Williams game ten days ago.

Tigers Find a New Star.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—In the last hard practice before the Columbia game today, the Princeton varsity scored twice on the scrubs, once on a touchdown, after a pretty 45-yard run by S. McClung, and once on a drop kick goal by Dewitt from the 15-yard line. The general work of the team was ragged, individual playing giving place to the team work. The coaches made a find in the person of Stevens, the baseball pitcher, who was tried at left end today and whose remarkable work in that position makes it certain that he will take Capt. Davis' place should the latter become incapacitated.

Getting Ready for W. U. P.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Geneva college football team is leaving no stone unturned to get in shape for the W. U. P. game October 29. Coach Craig is having the men take three-mile cross-country runs every evening. Secret practice will be in order every evening. The regular team will line up, with the exception of James Edgar, the quarterback, who is laid up with tonsilitis.

British Force Escapes Alive.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A message received at the foreign office today from Gen. Manning, dated Berbera, capital of Somaliland, announces that the force commanded by Col. Swayne, which was threatened with destruction by the Mad Mullah, has reached Bohotle in safety.

TEN-TO-ONE SHOT PROVED WINNER

IGNITER WAS THE GOODS

Was Heavily Backed in the Rampo Handicap, and Jockey O'Connor Kept Him Well in Front All the Way.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 23.—A. Featherstone's Igniter, with O'Connor in the saddle, won the Rampo handicap at Morris park today. The winner was heavily played, his price opening at 8 to 1, and was steadily pounded down until 4 to 1 was the best price. Igniter broke in front and led his field around the first turn, where he gave way to Oom Paul, who continued to make the pace to well into the stretch. Here O'Connor again brought his mount up and won driving by a length from the favorite, Oom Paul.

The surprise of the day came in the Fordham handicap, the winner turning up in the 10 to 1 shot Belle of Lexington, who made all the running and won driving by a length with Royal, the favorite, second. Cheval d'Or, perfectly ridden by Harris, won the Meadowbrook steeple chase handily from The Abbe. The weather was clear and the track fast. Summaries:

CLOSE TO WORLD'S RECORD.

Lucky Baldwin's La Goleta Is a Very Fast Horse.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—"Lucky" Baldwin's 7-year-old mare, La Goleta, cut two-fifths of a second off the track record for a mile and 70 yards in the second race at Worth today. Her time was 1:45 4-5, within a second and a fifth of the world's record for the distance, set by Jimines at Harlem last year.

Elsie L., a prohibitive favorite at 7 to 20 in the fourth race, had to equal the track record of 1:42 4-5 to win, but finished a length behind Hargis half a length to the wire. Track and weather conditions were perfect. Jockey Coburn, who was suspended Monday for foul riding, was reinstated today by the Worth officials. Summaries:

First race, 5 furlongs—Apple Sweet, 107, Robbins, 18 to 5, won; Aylmer Bruce, 112, Coburn, 4 to 1, second; Instar, 100, J. Daly, 25 to 1, third. Time, 1:01 1-5. Glendice, Esherin, Musical, Silver Silk, Balloon Belle, Penance, Frances Porter, Wilton, Countess Reasoner and Our Cora also ran.

New Castle Beat Slippery Rock.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—New Castle high school football team had no trouble defeating Slippery Rock state normal here this afternoon by a score of 23 to 6. The weather was ideal and the game was witnessed by a large crowd. The teams were even in weight and neither could break the opposing line. The locals gained entirely by end runs, their interference being superb. Bowser was kicked in the groin during the last half and had to quit the field, giving place to Henry. Twenty minute halves were played.

AMONG THE AMATEURS.

Coach Rogers requests his players to report for practice this evening at 7:00 sharp.

Any 45 to 50 pound team desiring games for Thanksgiving Day address E. Hoffinger, manager, 7604 Susquehanna street, Pittsburgh.

ONWARD SILVER'S WORK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 23.—Two rld's records broken, another one d and a gallant attempt by the great esceus to lower his trotting record re the sensational features at the ving park this afternoon. The ex itions of Cresceus and Onward Sil- were reserved for the end of the 's sport. It was after 5 o'clock en Onward Silver, accompanied by runner, appeared for his great effort lower the two-mile trotting record 4:29½, made by himself last week at xington.

At the second trial the starter gave udson the word and the handsome trot- r fairly flew around the first turn. Hud- n apparently checked his speed at the arter, which was passed in 34¼. Going wn the back stretch, Onward Silver oke, but soon regained his stride. The lf was reached in 1:08¾, and the three- arter pole in 1:41½. Here the running orse set a hot pace to the wire and the ile was made in 2:14½. At the next pole he time registered 2:48¼.

Down the back stretch again Onward ilver moved with clocklike precision and ne mile and a half post was reached in :21½. Here the runner again set a hot ace, and at the last quarter pole, the imers registered 3:54½. Hudson began to rge the horse in the stretch and when he wire was reached a new world's record as hung out, the time being 4:28½. Both orse and driver received an ovation.

Cresceus, with two runners, next ap- eared. Ketcham sent him along at a ively gait to the quarter in :31½. When he half was passed in 1:02 old horsemen shook their heads and remarked that the 2:02½ record was safe. The three-quarter ole was reached in 1:33½ and the mile was finished in 2:04 flat. A stiff breeze was blowing directly up the stretch and the exhibition was regarded as remark- able.

In the Diamond handicap, Major Del- mar trotted the first heat in 2:05¾, equal- ing the world's record for geldings in a race. In the third heat of the same race at half a mile, Major Delmar won handi- ly in 1:01, which is another record for the distance.

A large crowd witnessed the sport. To- morrow Dan Patch, the famous pacer, will attempt to lower the 1:59¼ mile rec- ord. Summary:

30 GIRL MILLINERS SEND THEIR PHOTOS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—When Charles A. Martin of Girard, Pa., cast his eye over the result of a letter which he wrote to Johnny Miles at his millinery estab- lishment store in this city a few days ago, asking for a milliner girl with dark hair, five feet in height and weighing under 170 pounds, he will have no reason for disappointment.

Mr. Martin told Mr. Miles it was rather a peculiar order, but he desired the ad- dress of some poor but respectable mil- liner who had no home, "but would like one." This milliner girl, Mr. Martin stip- ulated, must be a first-class saleswoman, must be Protestant American, English, French or Spanish, and must be between 25 and 45 years old. There was no ob- jection, Mr. Martin said, to a widow with one child, but he "didn't want a dozen."

It was further stated in the letter that the writer was heir to estates in England and America, was alone and lonesome and held happiness above wealth.

Mr. Miles had no hesitancy in referred to the proper department in his store, and its terms were laid before 125 young women in the millinery department. There were about 30 with the color of hair fan- cied by Mr. Martin. Accordingly, photo- graphs were taken, and Mr. Martin will now have the opportunity of judging the quickness with which all orders are filled in New York, even to dark-haired mill- ner girls.

GOLF EVENTS ANNOUNCED.

Highland and Country Club Plan Competition for Members.

The Country club announces for Sat- urday the second 18-holes of handicap medal play for the Manor cup; the fifth handicap competition for the Wilbur Shenk cup, and a two-ball sweepstake event. Mr. Charles L. Taylor has offered two cups for a mixed foursome to be played Tuesday, October 28. Entries should be in the hands of W. L. Smith, chairman of the Greens committee, by Monday. The Highland Golf club an- nounces the two final handicap competi- tions for the Taylor cup for women for Saturday and Wednesday. The trophy goes to the maker of the greatest total of points in six contests.

OFFICIALS NAMED FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

Arthur Poe and Dr. Jackson Will Preside—Both Elevens Are in Fine Shape.

The officials for the big football game on Saturday between the Pittsburgh All-Star eleven and the East End Athletic association team have been selected. Manager P. J. Walsh of the E. E. A. A. went to Greensburg yesterday and had a conference with Manager Berry of the Pittsburgh team.

Arthur Poe of Princeton and Dr. M. Roy Jackson of the University of Penn- sylvania were the two officials agreed on by the two managers. No better selec- tion could have been made and the crowd that witnesses the great contest next Saturday at Colosseum park may depend upon it that both teams will have fair play and neither will get a shade.

The East End team had its final prac- tice before the big game last night. Every member of the team was on hands and the practice was held in secret. The men seem to be very familiar with the new code of signals that was adopted this week and every player is in the best of condition.

The members of the Pittsburgh eleven went through practice yesterday at the Greensburg training grounds just as if there had been no game Wednesday at all. The Stars would have doubled the score against Pittsburgh college if Coach Richardson had not called a halt. Mathewson's kicks in the game against the college team were nothing less than marvelous. He averaged 70 yards and some of them were at least 90.

Next Monday the Pittsburgh Stars will start in to rig defenses for Philadelphia. From this time on the play will be con- ducted in preparation for the games with the Philadelphia league teams. The Stars are out to win by a big score. The doc- tor says Kerkhoff will be in shape in 10 days.

H. C. FOWNES MAKES NEW GOLF RECORD

In Defeating Dilworth for Pittsburgh Club Contest, Covers Schenley Course in 68 Strokes.

H. C. Fownes won the members' cham- pionship tournament of the Pittsburgh Golf club yesterday, defeating Lawrence Dilworth in a 36-hole match by a score of 6 up and 4 to play. Mr. Fownes won the final match by most fitting golf for the taking of a championship, creating a new amateur record for the course of 68 strokes. This is by far the best official record ever made for the course as length- ened this year. Mr. Fownes himself made 69 in an ordinary match contest, while J. B. Speer made 70 also in an unof- ficial play. The record made by Byers in the championship last season was 69 strokes, but since then the thirteenth and seventeenth holes have been length- ened, one stroke being added to "bogey" for the second nine holes. Mr. Fownes' most remarkable play was for the sec- ond nine holes, which he covered in 33 strokes, 4 under "bogey." The first nine he covered in 35 strokes, 2 over "bogey." Mr. Fownes was also the winner of the championship last season. His record yes- terday was as follows:

Out.....	4	4	4	4	3	5	4	4	—35
In.....	4	4	4	5	4	5	5	5	—33

The distance of the 18 holes is: 180 yards, 228, 260, 150, 225, 315, 158, 268, 190, 1,974 yards total. Second nine: 340, 322, 278, 331, 345, 116, 200, 129, 252—2,322 yards total.

FINAL MATCH TODAY.

Mrs. Mueller and Miss Bennett Survivors of Country Club Tournament.

In the semi-final play of the women's tournament on the Country club course yesterday afternoon Mrs. G. A. Mueller defeated Miss Ida Fisher by a score of 4 up and 3 to play. Miss Jane Bennett de- feated Miss Mary Fownes by 2 up and 1 to play. In the final match for the cup today Miss Bennett will met Mrs. Mue- ller.

There is also scheduled for the Coun- try club course today the 36-hole medal play competition between the profession- al golf coaches of the local district for a cup offered by the Country club.

Liggett Won at Edgeworth.

S. S. Liggett was the winner of the J. S. George cup on the Edgeworth course at New- ton today, defeating W. N. Kerr by a score of 2 up and 2 to play. Both played good golf, Liggett having the first nine holes in 35 strokes, while Kerr took 36. On Saturday, 18 holes of qualifying play will be decided for the W. P. McVay cup, the 16 lowest net scores to qualify for handicap match play starting Monday.

Brings Advice to Congress

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Raimon Reyes Lala, a native Filipino, graduate of Oxford and a naturalized American, has arrived on his way from Manila to Washington to tell something of the present urgent needs of the Philippines.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject.

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetar- ianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the large cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served and the food crank is in his glory, and arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for human stomachs, and al- most make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of health.

Our forefathers had other things to do than formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in mat- ters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegeta- bles, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is di- gested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remmson on this subject says: Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily cor- rected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after din- ner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets be- cause they supply the pepsin and dias- tase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be over- come by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspectics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, diastase, fruit acid and salts, which act- ually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures, are useless for indigestion as they have ab- solutely no effect upon the actual digest- ion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is sim- ply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the safest way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active, digestive principles.

NET CHANGES SMALL IN YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Transactions Fell Off and Dealings Were Professional--Call Money Easier--Local Stocks More Active--Prices Irregular.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

In the eastern market yesterday the net changes in active stocks were confined to fractions. The total transactions reached only 400,000 shares, and more than half this total was handled during the first two hours. It was during this period that London turned a buyer, for the first time in several days, but after this demand had been satisfied, the market relapsed into dullness and gradually sagged to the close. Final prices, as stated, varied only small fractions from the close of the previous day, and these changes were about evenly distributed between losses and gains. In other words, it was just such a market as is often seen in midsummer, when the leaders are away from the street and when the professional element keep up the semblance of speculation and depend for fluctuations upon events which transpire within the walls of the stock exchange.

The news of the day was not influential. Sterling exchange, while not lower in the quoted rates, was easier in tone, due to a slight change in Paris exchange, which in effect reduced the probability of gold exports. Call money was easier, the rates ranging from 5 to 5½ per cent, closing at 4 per cent. Time funds were scarce at 6 per cent, the banks showing more disposition to loan on call and less on time. Foreign bank notes were unchanged, and the weekly statements of both the Bank of England and the Bank of France showed rather insignificant changes in the important items. The Bank of France reported a decrease of only $160,000 in loans and a decrease of $5,000 in gold on hand, while the Bank of England increased its loans less than $1,000,000, and its reserve to liability declined only the merest fraction. The statements issued by the treasury department at Washington showed that the amount of municipal and state bonds substituted for government bonds to secure deposits was $14,285,000, and the New York sub-treasury report showed that since last Friday the associated banks have gained $19,630,000. The amount of government deposits in national banks now reaches the unprecedented total of $161,176,205. Since this day last week the treasury has purchased bonds to the par value of about $14,000,000, paying therefor a little more than $19,000,000 cash, which represents the gain to the banks reported above. In the light of these figures, one may imagine the condition of the money market if the government had refused or been unable to extend relief.

All the indications point to a favorable bank statement tomorrow, and Wall street was no doubt disappointed over the fact that the market did not show any disposition to discount the same. The fact is, however, that leading commission houses all over the country are discouraging the opening of new margin accounts, and the speculative pools cannot long live off each other. Hence the dullness. If the policy of some of the leading Pittsburgh members of the New York stock exchange is being generally observed, the stock market will remain about as at present, and there will be no further violent disturbance in the money market. It was stated yesterday by representatives of three local houses that they were keeping unusually large balances with their Wall street correspondents, and were at the same time husbanding their resources here, the object being to be prepared for the unexpected. They were also in a way discouraging new speculative accounts. The effect of this policy is to reduce business and keep money firm for less fortunate borrowers, but it is also likely to avert the unexpected.

There was a little more activity in the local stock market yesterday, but prices were again irregular. Pittsburgh Brewing opened strong at 32 and advanced to 32¾, but after the demand had been satisfied the price receded to 32 bid, 32¼ asked. There is a rather confident feeling that the dividend rate will be increased or that an extra dividend will be declared, but it is said that the directors have not as yet formally discussed the matter. The bonds were in better demand and firm, $20,000 changing hands at 112½. Pittsburgh Coal was also firmer, and on sales of 1,500 shares the price rallied to 30¼ at the close. The preferred remained unchanged at 89¾. River Coal common declined to 11⅝ and was offered at that figure at the close, while the preferred was a shade higher at 40¼. A report from Cincinnati stated that the price of coal in that market had been raised 3 cents a bushel, which would mean that much additional profit on the coal shipped by the company on the recent rise in the river. Crucible Steel common was fairly active, closing at 21⅛, while the preferred declined ⅝ to 85½, but recovered to 85⅞ bid at the close. United States Steel was dull and a shade lower for both the common and preferred. Fire Proofing stocks were firmer, the common advancing to 29¼, and the preferred selling at 38¾. Window Glass was rather heavy, selling at 56¾ and closing at 56⅝ bid, a decline of ⅝ for the day. A small lot of Pittsburgh Plate Glass sold at 135, a decline of 5 per cent from the last previous sale. The Westinghouse stocks were dull and lower, Air Brake selling at 176 and Electric common and preferred at 108. There was a good demand for Marsden, which sold at 5½, and that price was bid at the close. Manufacturers Light and Heat made a new record price by advancing to 90¼, and Pressed Steel Car preferred sold at 95½, the highest price ever quoted, the advance being based upon the quarterly statement of earnings. Wheeling Gas was offered at 80 and closed without bid, the announcement that a controlling interest in the company had been optioned at 85 checking the bullish enthusiasm of recent bidders. Philadelphia Company shares were dull and unchanged.

Trust company shares were dull and easier. Real Estate Trust sold down to 301 at the close, a loss of 6 per cent, but closed at 302 bid. A small lot of Colonial Trust sold at 620, but the stock was later offered at 615, and closed at 600 bid. Safe Deposit and Trust sold at 110, an advance of 1 per cent, and Allegheny Trust at 153.

The following names have been posted as applicants for membership in connection with the new seats authorized by the Pittsburgh stock exchange in order to purchase the Mechanics' National bank building: James S. Crawford, James K. Duff, A. M. Moreland, William J. Bauer, William H. Sviter, John K. Bryden, Henry M. Hall, Jr., Charles A. Painter, Frederick Diffenderfer, J. A. Langfitt, Sanford B. Evans, Benjamin Schumacher, W. A. Shaw, J. J. Campbell, William McKee, W. A. Crump, A. D. Lyon, A. J. Harnack and R. S. Smith.

About three years ago the Pittsburgh stock exchange felt itself strong enough to raise the unit of shares entitled to an official quotation from 10 to 50. This week the Consolidated stock exchange of New York adopted the following: "Newly listed stocks and after Monday, November 3, 1902, the unit of transactions for dealings in stocks on this exchange shall be 50 shares; 50 and 100-share lots to be placed upon a market, and 50-share lots to be placed on stock balances effected. Fractional lots under 50 shares to be cleared daily upon a separate sheet, stock balances to be delivered daily as at present."

The treasury committee on state and municipal bonds offered to the treasury department at Washington this morning, and decided that it would consider in addition to the securities authorized by state law for the investments of the savings banks of New York, bonds of any city in any state of the union to which the debt, exclusive of water debt and sinking fund, is less than 7 per cent of the valuation of the city subject to taxation. The application, it was decided, must be accompanied by a statement of the latest available data concerning debt and valuation. The information furnished also should show whether any contest had ever arisen concerning the legality of the bonds offered. In such a case a decision of any court concerning their legality must be presented.

A correspondent writes to this department to point out the apparent discrepancy between the "Diamond National bank" and "Diamond" bank stocks. He says: "The Diamond National bank is selling for less in proportion to its book value than any of our national banks. Its relative position among banks of fourth in Pittsburgh. The book values of the Farmers is $618.74, and it is quoted at $1,400; the book value of Second National is $618.74, also its market value; Union National is $615.70, and the market value $1,053; the book value of Diamond National is $350.93, and the market value $446. The Diamond carries its real estate at $1,000,000, whereas its market value is nearer $500,000, a difference in this item of $340,000." Without going into a discussion of the subject, it may be stated that market values are often established by the sale of a small lot of stock which represents the merest fraction of the total capital. Such market values can hardly be accepted as a fair criterion of the value of the whole.

The local money market is again quite firm, with 6 per cent the ruling rate. It is probable that a little less than the usual amount will be accounted for by the preparations being made for several deals, payment on which will be falling due at intervals for several months. Today $700,000 will be paid on account of the 50 new seats in the Pittsburgh stock exchange, sold for the purpose of acquiring the Mechanics' National bank property. Fifty thousand less than two weeks hence is due on subscriptions to the stock of the new Diamond Savings bank, which was so largely oversubscribed last week that allotments of only 60 per cent were made. Payments are also due on the $1,500,000 capital and surplus of the German American Savings and Trust Company. Then there will be $450,000 to pay on account of the increase in the capital of the United States National, and $10,000,000 on account of the Union Trust increase. Late; there will be the $4,000,000 to pay on account of the Fidelity Trust increase. Making the total $16,650,000 to be taken care of—not immediately, of course, but on a considerable amount of it preparations must be made before the end of the year. It is also reported that two other financial institutions are contemplating an increase in capital and surplus, which will probably raise the total amount of new banking capital to something like $20,000,000.

OSBORNE HOME CHANGES HANDS

John J. Lawrence Purchases the Bishop Property for $25,000.

TURTLE CREEK DEALS

Allegheny Houses Sold for $10,000—Desirable Lot Plans Offered for Sale—Increased Activity in Small Properties.

Another fine residence property at Osborne station was sold yesterday, through George Bros., for $25,000 cash. It is known as the Henry W. Bishop property, and adjoins the Sands property, the sale of which was made the day before. The Bishop plot contains five acres, having a frontage of 125 feet in the north side of the Beaver road and a depth of about 1,500 feet. The residence is a large two-story brick house, which is set in handsome grounds. The McKnight residence property adjoins it on the east. John J. Lawrence is the purchaser and will occupy the place as a home.

John Mertz has bought from Hamilton S. Burroughs a property on the east side of Enterprise street, near Frankstown avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $15,000. The plot measures 22x116 feet and is improved with a brick building. It adjoins the Peter Sprague property and was bought for an investment.

A Persistent Investor.

Three Turtle Creek deals were closed yesterday, the total amount involved being $36,500. The most important purchase was made by W. H. Semmens, who bought from Dr. W. A. Robinson, the old Robinson homestead at Penn avenue and Shaw street for $25,000. The lot measures 98x140 feet and has erected on it a 12-room frame house. This will be torn down by Mr. Semmens to give place to a modern brick business block.

Mr. Semmens also bought from Eva R. Chalmant, through the agency of W. A. Bryan, a lot 40x200 feet on the north side of Penn avenue, near Hunter street, for $10,000. The house on the lot is a 10-room frame dwelling. A brick block is also to be erected on this site in the spring. These two purchases make a total of over $200,000 that Mr. Semmens has invested in Penn avenue real estate within the past year.

The third deal was the sale by W. H. Semmens to James Peterson of 2.5 acres of vacant frontage in North Versailles township, directly across the creek from Turtle Creek, for $4,000. The property was part of the William Wilkins estate and will be plotted and put on the market in the spring.

Brings a Big Revenue.

Through the agency of Meighan & Shannon of Allegheny, John Pickels has bought seven houses on the north side of West Robinson street, near Craig street, First ward, Allegheny, for $10,000. Four of the houses are brick and three are frame dwellings. The lots measure 17.5x110 feet each and the houses contain five rooms. The property rents for about $1,000 a year.

The C. H. Wanner Co. has sold for C. H. Wanner two frame houses, lot 60x80 feet, on the west side of Hosack street, near Greenfield avenue, Twenty-third ward, for $9,000. Also, a frame house, lot 30x80 feet, on the east side of Coleman street, near Greenfield avenue, same ward, for $3,200. Both properties were bought by M. A. Alter, who will hold them for an investment.

The Peoples Building Company, Limited, of Wilkinsburg, has purchased from J. H. Conard an improved lot 26x70 feet on the south side of Idlewild street, near Sterrett street, Twenty-first ward, for $9,000. The same company bought from Charles P. Brown an improved lot 26x100 feet adjoining it for $4,800.

Laura M. Kelly has bought from William McHenry 11 lots 264x100 feet on the east side of Donna street, Nineteenth ward, for $10,000.

New Car Line Will Help Values.

The new connecting link between the East End and Lawrenceville, which it is known the Pittsburgh Railways Company will build within a few months, is likely to add much to the value of property along the line, as it will afford to the residents of Sharpsburg, Etna, Aspinwall and Millvale an outlet to the East End, which has long been a barrier to the sale of property in this district. The new line is one of the strongest arguments used in favor of buying suburban real estate near Stanton avenue, and is likely to bring a large crowd to the opening sale of the Stanton Land Company's plan which occurs tomorrow.

The Stanton avenue property is being handled by the Keystone Realty Company which has arranged to carry the crowds of prospective buyers to the plan in automobiles, from the corner of Stanton and Negley avenues, and of Stenton avenue and Butler street. The plan is situated on high ground and commands a fine view of Highland park.

It All Depends Where One Stands.

Land companies have taxed their ingenuity to the utmost the past few months to get propositions that would be winners with the lot buying public. The latest one is a decided novelty. It will be tried by the Chadwick Land Improvement Company in its sale of lots in Chadwick place, Twenty-first ward, tomorrow. The agents, Davies & Co., of the East End, have arranged to give away three lots, valued at $400, $350 and $250 respectively, to persons who happen to be standing on them at stated hours. At 11 a. m. the bell in the Lemington avenue school house will ring a certain number of times, and the person standing on the lot whose number corresponds will secure a free deed. At 3 o'clock and 4 o'clock the operation will be repeated. If two persons are one the same lucky lot, the one having the most money in his pocket will secure the prize, and if no person happens to be planted there the person or persons nearest will get the lot.

Another successful sale was held on this plan this fall and since the completion of the Lincoln avenue bridge for through car traffic property is going much in favor, because of the added convenience to home seekers who propose to build.

The Last Big Plot in Bellevue.

At Bellevue, tomorrow, the Bellevue Terrace plan of George L. King is to be formally opened with a sale. Mr. King bought the property last spring and has had a large force of men at work making street improvements. In addition he has nearly completed 20 modern frame houses of eight and 10 rooms each, which are to be offered for sale on the easy payment plan. The terms are $50 cash and $250 to $1,000 each, and have electric lights in addition to sidewalks, gas and water mains. It is easily reached from the street car line and is only 30 minutes' ride from the city hall. L. A. Thirk & Co. are the agents for the property.

A store and hall building, to cost $20,000, is to be erected at Wylie avenue and Elm street, Seventh ward, by Eugene M. O'Neil on a property which he bought last summer.

Small Properties Moving Fast.

While big real estate deals are being kept well covered this week, there is an unusual activity in the sale of small properties, especially houses. Yesterday there were registered nearly 50 deeds for properties averaging about $3,000 each. The majority of these have been bought by people who intend to occupy them, although brokers came in for about the usual share of such transactions. The interest manifested in this sort of realty at this season, is proof that money is much more plentiful than for years, as most of the deals are made without a mortgage burden attached.

It shows also that there are hundreds of people in Pittsburgh and vicinity who are heartily sick of house hunting and of paying exhorbitant rents for houses in undesirable localities. Inquiries reported from all over the city show that home buyers are more numerous than ever before, and the only problem that confronts brokers is where to find something suitable. Investors who have been rushing into the downtown market would, in the opinion of many well-posted real estate men, find an investment equally as sure and profitable in the building of good modern houses which are now selling weeks before they are completed.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Capt. William Curtis has sold the Thunderer at Park City, Utah, to the American Flag Mining Company for $200,000.

The secretary of the Rocco-Homestake of Nevada writes that a dividend will be paid next month and that during the season 1,000 tons of ores have been marketed, with 250 tons more to follow.

Last month the Bateoplias at Batopilas, Mex., shipped $112,000 in bar silver and concentrates from the Tetos Santos. The shipments this month will reach $125,000. Since July, 1901, this vein has yielded $1,500,000 worth of silver.

The output of the Abe Lincon at Cripple Creek is about 25 tons a day. The grade of the ore is said to be higher than that of any other mine in the northern section of the camp.

A great copper strike is reported on the property of the Park Gold and Copper Mining Company, in the Bitter Root mountains, Idaho. The average value of the ore is 23 per cent copper, $4.52 gold and $2 to silver.

The Metal Markets.

The metal markets were generally quieter today. The London closed at a decline of about 2½s or at £119 2s 6d for spot, while futures advanced 2s 6d to £117 12s 6d. Locally the war was tame, owing to a reduction in the views of holders, though the bid price was 5 shade higher than yesterday's. Spot closed at 26.50@26.75c. Copper remained at yesterday's quotations in the London market for futures, at £52 12s 6d, but spot advanced 1s 3d to £52 8s 9d. On this side copper was dull. Standard closed at 11.00c; lake at 11.75 @12.00c; electrolytic at 11.75@11.87c, and casting at 11.75@11.85c. Lead was unchanged at £10 15s in the London market and locally at 4.15c. Spelter also was unchanged in both markets, closing at £15 5s in London and at £19 5s. Iron was lower in the English market, Glasgow closing at 57s 2d and Middlesboro at 52s 11½d. There was no change in the New York market, which continues quite but steady. Warrants are nominal. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $23 00@25 00; No. 2 foundry northern, No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry Southern, soft, at $22 00@23 00.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE BIG MARKET FEATURE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Foreign exchange was again the governing feature of the stock market today. There was considerable speculation in exchange, because of the slightly higher rate for sterling at Paris and the resistance offered by the local market to the volume of bankers' bills put out during the morning. These offerings, it was believed, represented accumulations of bills held in reserve for such an emergency. Most of the day's business was done at $4 863, for Saturday's steamer. Experts intimated than an outward gold movement might soon be inaugurated. Later in the day demand sterling broke 20 points.

Little can be said for the stock market, which was duller and more narrow than on the previous days of the week. Some speculative activity was shown at the opening in Baltimore & Ohio, Reading, Erie, Atchison, Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific and the St. Joseph & Grand Island securities, all of which scored slight advances. The rest of the list was fairly firm with practically no demand for the industrials. Further activity was shown during the morning session, when Louisville & Nashville advanced 2 points, but elsewhere the list made no material change. Operations continued almost altogether professional. The early gains, with few exceptions, were soon lost, but such issues as Louisville & Nashville, St. Paul, Illinois Central and Erie held steady. Sugar and international Power were about the only industrials dealt in up to this time, and transactions in the latter stock were believed to be for pool account. Up to the final hour there was no decided pressure to sell, but in the late trading such stocks as Lackawanna, Baltimore & Ohio, Kansas City Southern and a few industrials were hammered down to the lowest prices of the day.

For the first time in over a week London was a buyer on balance, but even this fact failed to awaken any enthusiasm. The closing was weak.

Some of the speculative issues in the bond market were heavy, but the movements were without importance except in the Wabash debentures. The general list was irregular and dull. Total sales, par value, $1,795,000. United States 2s and 4s advanced ½ and the new 4s declined ¼ per cent on the last call.

MARKETS ALL STEADY WITH TRADE ACTIVE

Straw in Short Supply—Fresh Tomatoes Scarce and Prices Higher.

Remarkably quiet and steady markets prevailed yesterday, although trade is active and in some departments unusually heavy. The absence of special features seems to be due to the satisfactory conditions ruling throughout the entire situation.

There is still an unsatisfied request for straw, receipts not being sufficient to take care of demand, and prices are very strong at recent advances. Timothy hay retains its position, with quotations firm. Rye corn is strong at figures quoted, while new hot yet arrive, although there are offerings at 10 days' time. Oats and shelled corn are very firm, listed prices being a shade lower than actual values. If there is any difference, Milfeed is steady, with middlings a shade easier.

Bearish conditions seemed to predominate in the wheat market on Wednesday, but those held firm although wholesale prices are being really below actual conditions. Coffee is unchanged here, with the primary speculative markets in somewhat above the opening of the week, although speculation is on a moderate scale. Reports of receipts in Brazil are of a slight decrease in amount, but yet fairly large. Raw sugar markets also firm and inclined to advance; this is having an effect upon refined, which is stiffer, although the lack of extensive buying keeps quotations from going higher. Reports of lighter yield than expected from the beet sugar crop, especially in Michigan, make another factor in strengthening the market.

Largely Increased Apple Crop.

The total crop of apples brought to harvest this year is estimated at 44,000,000 barrels, against 27,000,000 last year. The cider orchards in the eastern and middle sections and the central west, where there was pronounced failure in 1901, this year send the bulk of the increase, while the southwest, which was unusually favored last year, is deficient this season as it was a year ago. Local prices are steady and receipts are plentiful, without being sufficient to weaken the situation, while the demand is very good. Potatoes are firm, and sweets hold both firming of the gain made during the first two days of the week. Fresh tomatoes are daily getting scarcer, and prices are advancing. Green corn is no longer quoted. Peaks are abundant and top grades are easier. Hothouses has commenced to arrive, and is offering in bargain at $1 50@2 00. Basket quinces $1.50@$1.

Nothing occurred yesterday to change in any way the general position of the butter market. Receipts are just about equal to demand, although there is a quality of inquiry for fancy, much creamery running off. Cheese is in the firm position it has maintained for some time, and has only been kept from further advances by the high prices ruling here to pay increased figures at factories. The shortening up of the supply of fine eggs has caused the advance in strict selects, and the higher prices for quality of qualities.

Poultry is without special feature, and quotations are allowed to remain as they have been all week.

Hay, Grain and Feed.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 6 cars hay, 4 cars straw, 3 cars rye, 2 cars oats; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 3 cars hay, 1 car feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 9 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car rye; Pittsburgh & Western railroad, 8 cars hay, 4 cars oats; total receipts, 43 cars.

W. S. BYERS MUST FILE AN ANSWER

Greensburg Lawyer Loses First Issue In Fight Over Funds.

$215,000 IS INVOLVED

Defendant's Uncle Says He Gave This Sum to Nephew for Safe-Keeping—Wants to Stop Opening of Trust Company Box.

Judge Frazer yesterday overruled the demurrer filed by the defense in the equity case of Jacob Byers against his nephew, Attorney William S. Byers, of Greensburg, and the Fidelity Title and Trust Company. The court directs the defendant to file an answer within 15 days.

The plaintiff set forth that he gave to his nephew $175,000 worth of bonds and about $40,000 in cash for safe-keeping, to be returned to him on demand; that such demand has been made but the plaintiff will not give up possession. The bill was filed to restrain the defendant from opening the box containing the bonds and money, which is in the hands of the trust company.

The judge said that the reasons set forth as grounds for demurrer are not well founded or sufficient to excuse the defendant from answering, and that at this time they require no discussion.

COURT WAS LENIENT.

Number of Offenders in United States Court Get Off With Light Sentences.

In the United States district court, in the case of Reinhold Betterman against the Cambria Foundry and Machine Company a non-suit was granted.

A number of sentences were imposed on Persons convicted at this week's term of court: Milton S. Adams, after being severely scored by the court, was fined $100 and costs. Sentence in another indictment against him was suspended. Adams was a postmaster in Clearfield county and was charged with embezzling money orders.

Lon W. Claybaugh, a postal employe who embezzled a valuable letter, was fined $200 and costs. Sentence was suspended in several other indictments against him.

Mrs. Margaret Reich, who pleaded guilty to embezzling letters while assistant postmistress under her father, was fined $100 and costs. Sentence was suspended in two other charges against her.

Joseph A. Paff, formerly a janitor in the Pittsburgh postoffice, who pleaded guilty to taking letters containing money, was sent to jail for three months and fined $1 and costs.

Burton S. Little, a railroad employe who pleaded guilty to taking a letter from a postal car, had sentence suspended.

Eugene P. Klein, a boy, who pleaded guilty to sending an obscene letter through the mails, was ordered to pay the costs.

The case of Mrs. Catherine Bell, who pleaded guilty to embezzling money from a sub-station in Erie, was carried over, as was the case of E. A. Kemerer, charged with using the mails to perpetuate a fraud.

I. J. Farmer of McKeesport, against whom a petition was filed in bankruptcy, made his answer admitting the charges in the petition. He asks to be allowed his exemption of $300.

John Charles Hare, a plumber of Pittsburgh, filed his petition in bankruptcy, giving his debts as $776, and $213 assets.

Harry S. Thayer, an insurance agent of Pittsburgh, filed his petition giving debts as $31,699, of which $11,329 are secured, and assets as $500. John Henry Keeler of Pittsburgh was discharged from bankruptcy.

HASKINS FOUND GUILTY.

Jury Convicted Him of Involuntary Manslaughter for Pushing Ella Dennis to Her Death.

Andrew Haskins, colored, was convicted of involuntary manslaughter, yesterday, in criminal court, for the death of Ella Dennis, with whom he lived in Dookers Hollow, near Braddock. Judge Stowe sentenced Haskins to the penitentiary for two years.

On October 6, 1899, the man and woman were drinking and quarreled. The woman was found later to be in an injured condition. She was removed to the county home, where her death occurred. Death was primarily attributed to the injuries she received on October 6, but it was the general opinion of the physicians that erysipelas had much to do with her death. District Attorney Haymaker did not ask a first degree verdict.

Haskins testified that while holding his left hand the woman was pulling at him in a playful manner. He gave his arm a quick jerk, which released her hold and she fell, her head striking the floor.

In Judge Collier's court Joseph Ellbacher, a Lawrenceville merchant, was convicted of libel, but recommended to the extreme mercy of the court. He was charged by Anna Smith with writing a letter to J. R. Donavan, a real estate agent, in which he said Mrs. Smith had kept a disorderly house.

ASKS AN INJUNCTION.

Low Pressure Gas Company Alleges McKees Rocks Burgess Interfers With Its Workmen.

Attorney Samuel McClay yesterday filed a bill in equity for the Low Pressure Gas Company against the borough of McKees Rocks, asking that the officers of the borough be restrained from interfering with the company's workmen in repairing a gas main. When workmen attempted to proceed with the work yesterday they were arrested.

It is stated that the company constructed a main in Chartiers avenue, in 1887; that since it has given bond for $1,000 conditioned that the company would replace any part of a thoroughfare taken up, and that, desirous of repairing the line on the avenue named application was made to the burgess for a permit. The burgess refused to issue the permit until the company would bind itself to repave Chartiers avenue between the curb and the car track on the side where the main extends, but the plaintiff refused to do this. It is also stated that this condition is unreasonable, that the gas line is out of repair, and that the property along that street is in danger. Judge Shafer granted a preliminary injunction, the plaintiff company agreeing not to proceed with the work until final hearing.

MANY WILLS FILED.

The will of James Horrocks of Allegheny was filed. An estate worth $60,000 is bequeathed to the widow. The testator wrote that in leaving his estate to his wife he was not prompted by a lack of affection for his children, but that his wife had been an active helper in acquiring it. He further wrote that she possessed an equal affection for the children and that he was confident she would do whatever was right for them.

By the will of Andrew Kidd of Turtle Creek, Isabelle and Margaret Patterson get $250 each and the remainder of a $17,000 estate goes to his wife.

Decrees in distribution were: Kate Wilson, $177 71; Blanche W. Hill, $23,824 21; A. J. Schulte, $139 74; Hannah Cohn, $1,634 50; George A. Schneider, $634 25.

Attorney F. H. Kennedy took out letters of administration on the estate of Henry J. Kidd, whose house was burned during the Sheraden naphtha explosion, and who was afterward killed by a shifter at the Point bridge.

DENIES WATER IS BAD.

Chartiers Valley Company Answers Equity Suit to Compel Better Supply of Water.

An answer was filed yesterday in common pleas court No. 1 by the Chartiers Valley Water Company, by its president, J. F. Grimes, to the equity suit of O. H. Barth and other residents of Sheraden.

The defendant denies the charge that the water is unfit for use, or that the supply is not sufficient. It is stated that it is possible that at certain times, by reason of injury and unforeseen accidents to the machinery and system of distribution, it has been unable to supply the plaintiffs, or some of them, with water, but these times have been few and have been occasioned by circumstances over which the defendant, using the utmost diligence, has no control.

It is asserted by the company that at all times it has employed all reasonable and proper efforts to furnish an adequate supply.

BLAMED ON PRODUCERS.

Coal Dealers Say the Price to Them Will Be Increased After October 27.

With the purpose of removing from themselves the responsibility for an increase in the price of coal a statement was issued yesterday after a meeting of the Retail Coal Dealers' association, saying that the increase of price, 1 cent a bushel, had been made on them by the coal companies.

The new price, after October 27, will be as follows: Lump coal, thick vein, 25 bushels, 11 cents a bushel; 50 bushels or more, 10½ cents a bushel; thin vein, 25 bushels, 12 cents; 50 bushels or more 11½ cents.

The initial cause of this increase is the shortage of coal in the east, due to the anthracite strike. This is the second increase of a cent a bushel made this year, a similar raise taking effect in July.

WABASH ANSWERS SUIT.

Says Land Appropriated by It Is Not Necessary for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Answers were filed yesterday to the equity suit of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and others against the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad Company (Wabash extension), an action to restrain the defendant company from constructing its lines on the South Side over property said to be owned by the plaintiff.

The answers are the same as those filed in other suits pending, it being alleged that the property is not necessary for the operation of the plaintiff's line, but is necessary to the defendant company, and that the plaintiff company has an adequate remedy at law for any injury that may be sustained.

SUIT ON CITY BONDS.

Third National Bank of Baltimore Goes After Altoona in United States Court.

In the United States circuit court the Third National bank of Baltimore, through Attorneys Frank H. Guffey and J. M. Stoner, entered suit against the city of Altoona to recover $141,000, alleged to be due on improvement bonds owned by the bank and issued by the city.

The bonds, which were issued for the improvements of streets and avenues, are dated October 1, 1890, and run for nine years, bearing 6 per cent interest. The city reserved the right to redeem the bonds before their expiration.

His Wife Kept Him Busy.

Commissioner Harry Diamond filed his report in the divorce suit of Samuel H. Silverman against Rosa Silverman. The libellant alleges that his wife refused to prepare meals for him; that when he came home from his travels as a drummer, she told him to get out of her sight; that she did not marry him to furnish his meals and that he could go to a restaurant. When he returned from a trip in February, he alleges, she threatened to kill him with a butcher knife. At another time she broke a vase over his head, causing a severe wound, and then locked him out of the house, after attempting to brain him with a chair. Attorneys Aronson & Aronson represent the libellant.

Appeals Argued in Supreme Court.

Washington county—Evan Beedle et al vs. Hilldale Mining Company, appellant, an action in ejectment.

Lawrence county—Appeal of Joshua Hardaker from a decree in the matter of the estate of Joseph B. Hardaker. Edward Sanderson, appellant, against Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, an action to recover benefits.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A verdict for $5,000 was returned for the plaintiff in the case of H. T. Holmes against the American Lumber and Manufacturing Company on a lumber contract.

Judge Frazer, in the case of the Realty Company against H. C. Gallinger, dismissed the bill and cross-bill and divided the costs. The plaintiff alleged it was injured by the termination of a contract for the sale of lots.

Decrees granted in divorce were: Lillian Lightell against Jacob Lightell, Emma Martin against George W. Martin, Elizabeth Mardinia against Joseph Mardinia, Catherine Lejeune against August Lejeune, Robert D. McDermott against Louisa McDermott, Ralph Tedesco against Tufantine Tedisco, Herman W. Stemmerich against Anna B. Stemmerich. Nearly all of the libellants charged desertion.

That faint, sickly feeling, which creeps over you at intervals, with palpitation, dizziness, apprehensions of evil, and all that, may result seriously if long neglected; but Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge will correct the cause, promote healthy action and bring strength.

JIM YOUNGER, BANDIT, RESTS AMONG FRIENDS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEES SUMMIT, MO., Oct. 23.—The remains of Jim Younger, the bandit, were interred in the family lot in the little cemetery near town today. A brief, simple service was held at the home of N. S. Fenton. The house was crowded and many were unable to gain admittance.

Mrs. Fenton, a niece of the Younger boys, led a quartet that sang "Rest, Weary Heart." The Rev. S. H. Shiffler of the Presbyterian church followed in prayer, speaking a few words, and then after another song the casket was removed to the hearse.

The pall-bearers were old associates of the Youngers, members of Quantrell's band, and among the mourners were several who fought with Quantrell, Price and Shelby. These, with the relatives and a long line of people from the surrounding country, made up the cortege to the cemetery.

The coffin was lowered into a grave beside those of Younger's brother and mother. No services were said, and when the grave had been covered a great quantity of flowers was piled on top of the mound.

NEXT WEEK'S PLAYS AT LOCAL THEATERS

Already intense interest is felt in the revelation of Mansfield's Brutus promised at the Alvin Theater next week. Chicago has been unable to see enough of this splendid production and the unanimous verdict of both critics and public is that it is the crowning achievement of this actor's brilliant career. The seat sale at the Alvin opens today.

All Pittsburgh is crowding the Grand this week to see the big English melodrama, "The Great Ruby," a reproduction of the same play seen at the famous Drury Lane Theater in London. The standing room only sign has greeted late comers at both matinee and evening performances, while hundreds have been turned away unable even to secure admission. Manager Davis has been importuned to continue the play for another week, and in compliance with the general demand, he announces today that "The Great Ruby" will start on its second week next Monday afternoon.

Beginning with next Monday's bargain matinee, "The Man Who Dared" will be at the Bijou next week, with the author, Howard Hall, in the leading role. "The Man Who Dared" tells the story of an outraged husband, who, upon the death of his twin brother, the Count Lorraine, assumes the latter's name and estates and returns to Paris, where he avenges himself.

That merry hodge-podge, full of bright, sprightly music and funny throughout, "Mam'selle 'Awkins," will be presented at the Empire Theater next week. This perennially popular musical comedy is now in its fourth season. Manager White has given it an entirely new production and the biggest in point of well known actresses and actors and chorus that it has yet had.

In the all-star bill booked for the Avenue Theater next week, Manager Davis has the following well known players: Richard Harlow, whose Queen Isabella in "1492," is one of the best female impersonations the stage has had; the Francesca Redding Co. in refined playettes; Du Biere, a celebrated illusionist; Bailey and Madison, in comic acrobatics; Cullen, a parodist.

Johnstone Bennett, the famous character impersonator, and her own company, will appear next week at the Duquesne Theater as the star feature of a remarkably strong vaudeville performance. The list includes Eddie Girard of "Natural Gas" fame, in a sketch with Jessie Gardner and Jessie Coutnoul, a new lady monologuist.

Mansfield's Caesar.

There has been no dissenting voice from the note of praise sounded by all writers on Richard Mansfield's interpretation of Brutus and his superb production of "Julius Caesar." This artist has done a service, not merely by restoring to the stage this popular but infrequently seen Shakespearean tragedy, but he has created a new Brutus, which is full of the epic quality, the dramatic enthusiasm and tragic inspiration that the greatest artists have disclosed in "King Richard III.," "Macbeth," "Hamlet," and "Lear." But Mansfield's Brutus, if a fatalist and fanatic, is a wholly sympathetic Roman. The tragedy is not depressing but glorifying. It would appear to have given him the greatest acting opportunity of his career.

Riverman Missing for One Month.

Elrich Cochran of this city has been missing for nearly a month. His wife is almost distracted and is employing every means in the hope he may be located. Cochran was employed for years as mate on a towboat plying between this city and New Orleans.
